Baker Case
Likely to Be Issue
GOP Contention:
Full Story Untold

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has closed its Bobby Baker investigation but its political overtones are expected to echo in this fall's election campaign as Republicans have charged "the full story has not been disclosed."

The Senate Rules Committee rang down the curtain on the seven - month probe into the wheelings and dealings of the former Senate aide with a report Wednesday saying he was "guilty of many gross improprieties."

But it left it up to the Justice Department to determine whether Baker should be prosecuted for any violations of criminal law.

The report was submitted to the Senate on behalf of the committee's Democratic majority by Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C.

A separate minority report turned in by the committee's three Republicans members accused the Democratic majority of ignoring their "rights" to have additional witnesses called including White House aide Walter Jenkins, and charged a "cover-up."

Jenkins figured in testimony by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent with whom Baker was associated and who sold two $100,000 life insurance policies to President Johnson before he became president.

The GOP members, however, said they had no major criticism of the analysis of the evidence in the majority report. "It does reveal gross wrongdoing, gross improprieties, and conduct which we believe to be unlawful," they said.

They said their criticism "is centered upon the fact that the majority refused to call all the witnesses and refused to get all the facts."

"The full story has not been disclosed concerning Bobby Baker and those associated with him, including present and former senators and Senate employees," the Republicans charged.

Baker, now 36, was elected majority secretary in 1955, the youngest man ever to hold the post. He became the right-hand man of Lyndon B. Johnson who was elected Senate Democratic majority leader at the same time.

Because of Baker's and Johnson's association, the committee's investigation had undercurrents which Republicans are expected to try to whip up in the campaign.

Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year Senate post, could not be reached for comment on the committee report.

When Baker was called by the committee as a witness, he invoked his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination and refused to answer questions or to surrender subpoenaed records.

Parkers Pay $4,001.20

A June parking meter total of $4,001.20 was reported today by City Treasurer M. G. Richardson. This was $530.46 more than the May total and $271.77 above that in June, 1963.

Western Diplomats Have Deep Interest
In Soviet Call for U.N. Peace Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Authorizing dispatch of a peace force to a world hot spot now is accepted procedure at the United Nations. Even the Soviet Union appears to be agreeable at least in principle.

But putting a force together swiftly and assuring its efficiency are tough problems.

The United Nations has no standby military force for use in times of crisis, such as those in Cyprus and the Congo.

Western diplomats took deep interest this week in a Soviet memorandum calling for establishment of a permanent U.N. peace force under the control of the Security Council.

The U.N. charter says that members shall provide armed

On Thruway, Crash at Paltz May Be Fatal

Nine persons were injured, one critically, as the result of a two-car collision which occurred shortly before 8:30 a. m. today on the State Thruway near Mile Post 91 at the Route 28 overpass, this city.

Thruway troops this afternoon were investigating a second accident which occurred after 11 a. m. two miles south of New Paltz. A trooper said the mishap might result in a fatality. No further details were available.

Child Taken to Albany
The nine injured were all taken to Benedictine Hospital, five of them by Doctor's ambulance and the others by state police or private cars, according to available reports. A 13-year-old child, whose parents also were hurt in the crash, was later rushed to the Albany Medical Center Hospital by Doctor's ambulance.

Shortly after the collision, the sheriff's office received a call that numerous motorists passing along Route 28 stopped their cars while they viewed the scene of the accident on the superhighway, and caused a serious traffic congestion.

Deputy Sheriffs Carl Swenson and Daniel Levy were dispatched to the scene to direct the cars and relieve the traffic jam.

Condition Critical
Susan McQueen, of 7921 Stratman Road, Baltimore, Md., who was a passenger in her parents' car, was most seriously injured. An ambulance service spokesman said she was unconscious when picked up at the scene of the crash, and oxygen was administered. At the hospital she was given emergency treatment and then rushed to the hospital in Albany. Her condition was described as critical.

Alderman Alecca
Says Refuse Area
Was News to Him

Alderman Anthony J. Alecca (R-Fifth Ward) said today that he objects to the construction of a proposed dump in his ward.

He also said that a resolution calling for purchase of 1,300 feet of new chain link fencing, presumably for the proposed dump, and which was passed by an 8-5 vote at Tuesday's meeting of the Common Council was the first he had heard that the dump was to be erected in his ward.

"I didn't know about it until 15 minutes before the meeting," he said.

No Advance Notice
The Common Council resolution calls for a budget note of $1,300 for the purchase of new chainlink fencing at a cost of $1,245 for a new refuse dump to be constructed in the 5th Ward. Alecca said he wanted residents in his ward to know that he had no official advance notice from Mayor John J. Schwenk that plans were being considered for location of the dump in his ward, and that he had "heard" through rumors that it was to be located at a swamp site between a Standard Oil tank and railroad tracks of the old Kingston Point spur.

Has Many Calls
Alecca told The Freeman that he was besieged by telephone calls from people in his ward after publication of the Common Council meeting proceedings in Wednesday's paper.

Alecca, in a letter addressed to ward residents said in part: "I wish to say at this time in reference to Mayor Schwenk's proposal of putting the refuse dump in the Fifth Ward in the swamp area, I am at this time strictly opposed to any dump going into the Fifth Ward, until there is some explanation by the mayor as to what is to be done and how it is to be done. Up to this point, as alderman, I have not been told what is to be done, except that at one time I heard that two areas were being considered."

"Unless some explanation is put in the paper, and as long as I am to represent the residents of the Fifth Ward in the Commission as a request from the estate of Cornelia H. Staples.

Ackert Firing
Nullified by Supreme Court

A Supreme Court order handed down Wednesday by Justice T. Paul Kane at Albany nullified the dismissal of Ernest R. Ackert as Saugerties Village registrar of vital statistics and ruled in favor of the petitioner.

The petition presented by Ackert through his attorneys, Francello and Brinnier of Saugerties alleged that Ackert was removed without official notice nor given an opportunity to make a defense as provided in Section 60 of the Village Law.

Must Be Reinstated
The show cause order directed the Village Board of Trustees to show cause why an order should not be entered nullifying the dismissal of Ackert as registrar and the appointment of Shirley M. Maines as deputy clerk of the village, and why Ackert, a former village clerk and petitioner, should not have the order and further relief as may be just, proper and equitable.

The petition noted that on April 6, this year, Shirley M. Maines was appointed by the Village Board as deputy clerk, and the board authorized the continuance of William McCormack as deputy registrar.

Mrs. Maines has since resigned the position and James Gage was appointed village clerk.

Happened in April
Ackert was not reappointed to the post of village clerk-treasurer at the April organization meeting of the board, and at that time no reason for the board's action was announced. At the April 27 meeting, Ackert was dismissed from his post as registrar.

The registrar's position pays $100 per year. If the order entitles him to back pay, he will be eligible to receive $25 for the three months after his dismissal.

The decision of Justice Kane says, "It is clear from the interpretation of the statute that where the individual's term and tenure are defined by any statute or provisions of law, he may not be summarily removed during that term by the person or board authorized to appoint him."

"It appearing that as a matter of law, the dismissal of Ackert as registrar is null and void."

City Charter Revision Lost
By 988 Votes 29 Years Ago

A city charter, revised during the administration of former mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, was rejected by 988 votes in a special election July 23, 1935.

It offered, among its more drastic changes, a five-man city council, and eliminated city boards, as they now exist, with the exception of the Board of Education. It also proposed a four-year, instead of a two-year term for the mayor.

Mayor John J. Schwenk, then alderman-at-large, was a member of the Charter Commission, and its other members were: aldermen Jacob H. Tremper Jr., Paul Zucca and Joseph Epstein; Jay Terry, president of the Kingston Taxpayers Association; William B. Byrne, Walter E. Joyce, Corporation Counsel Matthew V. Cahill and Mayor Heiselman.

The Common Council voted 10-3 on May 7, 1935 to submit it to the voters.

Goldwater Confident,
Scranton Is Plugging

No. 2 Spot
Still Open,
Barry Says
Reps. Miller, Ford
Speculation High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, flew to San Francisco today, insisting "nothing has been decided" about a vice-presidential running mate should he win the Republican presidential nomination.

But sources high in the Goldwater team said Wednesday night the front-running Arizona senator thinks Rep. William E. Miller of New York "has some real good things going for him" for the No. 2 spot.

And Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan still is a strong possibility, they said. The same sources said the choice boils down to one between Miller and Ford.

Miller, 47, is a Roman Catholic and chairman of the Republican National Committee. Ford, like Goldwater, is an Episcopalian.

Cool to Scranton
The Goldwater sources said that as of now, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, Goldwater's leading opponent for the presidential nomination, won't get the nod for the No. 2 spot "unless the convention forces him down our throat."

The word that "nothing has been decided" was relayed Wednesday night from Goldwater by his press aide, Tony Smith.

Goldwater has spent the last three days here in virtual seclusion.

It ends today with a transcontinental flight for the Republican National Convention, an address to an airport welcoming crowd Goldwater aides hope will be 7,000 to 8,000 strong, and a news conference at his GOP National Convention headquarters.

Goldwater flew out of Washington at 7:30 a.m. (EDT) in a two-engine chartered plane today accompanied by two aides. The small plane is to arrive at San Francisco at about 1:20 p.m., Pacific Coast Time.

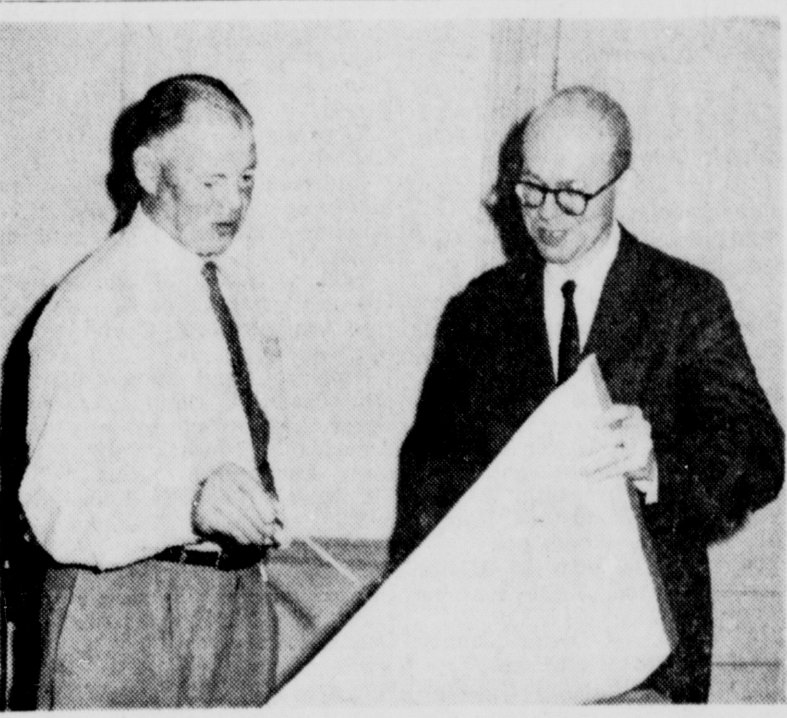

The senator had no statement on his departure beyond saying he would tell convention delegates what "I have been telling everybody for 5 or 10 years."

Before Committee Friday
Goldwater goes before the GOP platform committee Friday.

Denison Kitchel, Goldwater's campaign director, said he would not object to a platform plank criticizing extremism on both the right and the left—but not singling out any organization.

Scranton has called for a specific disavowal of the John Birch Society as an extremist group. The John Birch Society describes itself as an "educational army dedicated to opposing the Communist conspiracy."

Study Is Under Way Now
Library Expansion Is Cited as Important

The Kingston City Library, according to Don Sager, its director, is rapidly running out of space. Plans are being developed which would enable the library to expand.

The library, Sager noted, has managed to remain in the same building without extensive change for 60 years.

The only changes which have occurred since 1904, when the library was built, have been to add a second level of book stacks in 1922 and to convert the downstairs auditorium into a children's room, with the help of the Junior League, in 1958.

According to national statistics, Sager added, public libraries double their book collections every 25 years through normal purchases.

This has not occurred at the Kingston City Library, he explained, because of limited funds and the necessity to eliminate many older books to make space for newer titles.

Historical Items in Storage
The library also has many volumes in storage, including much local historical material.

It has long been hoped that its collection available to the public and strengthen it to a level equal with libraries in cities comparable to Kingston in size. At the present time the Kingston City Library ranks 572nd out of 703 public libraries in New York in terms of per capita financial support.

Plans for enlarging the library being considered include expansion of the building toward Broadway, toward Andrew Street, and studies are now being made by Albert E. Milliken, who has donated his services, toward the feasibility of adding a second floor within the present building.

Funds for expansion are not available to the library at the present. The library is not a department of the City of Kingston or Ulster County, but an independent association which receives a grant from the city.

Camp Man Has
75-Foot Plunge

A 21-year-old Brooklyn camp counselor who was leading a group of boys from Woodliff Camp, Sawkill, on a tour of Ward's Cave in Clarksville, Albany county, escaped possible death when he fell 75 feet.

Melvin Schulman, suffered a deep gash on his leg when he apparently slipped on a steep incline and fell 75 feet in the cave after losing his balance while trying to keep one of the boys from falling.

The accident occurred about a quarter of a mile inside the cave as some 15 boys were on a tour of the cave. Schulman was taken to Albany Medical Center for treatment of a deep gash on his leg. His condition was reported as good.

Newell Cross, a member of the Delmar Rescue Squad who assisted in carrying the injured man over a tortuous route through a quarter-mile of underground passages after his rescue, said a "good-sized" rock fell on Schulman and that this did most of the damage. It took Cross 15 minutes to bandage the laceration which laid the bone open. Seven men worked another 15 minutes to get Schulman on a stretcher and remove him from the cave.

Schulman was finally removed from the cave by men manipulating a stretcher inside the cave, assisted by a system of ropes tied to the stretcher and handled by men at the entrance.

1st Ballot
Is Goal
Penn Governor Is Battling Hard

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton went on thumping the drums hopefully today but Sen. Barry Goldwater's supporters plowed confidently toward their goal of a first ballot presidential nomination for the Arizona senator.

In the face of Scranton's declaration that an "overwhelming number of Republicans seem to think that I ought to be nominated and I think I ought to be, too," the Goldwater forces brought up a vigorous dissent.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, the Arizona senator's convention floor manager, said that "we have got more than enough" delegate votes for the nomination "but we want more."

Aim: Good Showing
"We want to make the most impressive showing possible on the first ballot when Sen. Goldwater will win the nomination," he said.

Although Curtis declined to deal in numbers, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., another Goldwater strategist, said in a separate interview "we've got more than 700 and we're getting more." A total of 655 convention votes is needed for the nomination.

Scranton, the Pennsylvania governor, was a late starter in the contest for the GOP presidential nomination. In his efforts to win away some of Goldwater's supporters by personal campaigning, Scranton flew into San Francisco Wednesday saying he can wrest the nomination from Goldwater and win in November.

At a sweltering, jam-packed gathering in the swank Mark Hopkins Hotel, the Pennsylvania said he is "ready to win the nomination and I am ready to win in November."

Scranton has been emphasizing an interview Goldwater gave a German news weekly in which he said, he doesn't believe, "as of now," that any GOP candidate can defeat President Johnson, but that it might be an entirely different story in November.

The hard truth of Goldwater's statement is acknowledged by almost every Republican willing to comment on it privately. But they add that this is not something a leading candidate for the party nomination should be saying publicly.

But Curtis said he found in a careful check that this incident has caused no precipitous falling off in Goldwater's delegate support. He said the Arizona senator was only making a frank, truthful analysis of the situation as it stands today.

Trot Out Top Figures
The opponents of the Goldwater conservative stance had produced most of their top-rank figures — including Govs. George Romney of Michigan and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and former ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge — without seeming to have made a perceptible dent in the delegate strength gained by the Arizona senator.

The lone personality who is credited with any ability to change the result—former President Dwight D. Eisenhower—is not due until the weekend. But (Continued on Page 29, Col. 4)

Cave-in Kills Four Men;
Rescuers and Two Others

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Two construction men jumped into a 14 - foot - deep sewer trench Wednesday to rescue two other workers trapped by a small earthslide and all four were killed when three tons of earth broke loose and buried them.

The men were part of a crew digging a trench for a new sewer line in the nearby Town of Camillus. The trench is about six feet wide and two city blocks long.

Police said the dead were: John Carr, 35, of nearby Jamesville; Bruce Phillips, 40, of Syracuse; Alexander Sitnik, 57, of Bridgeport; and Harvey Lose, 51, of Syracuse and Lewisburg, Pa.

Martin F. Hillinger Jr., Onondaga County Medical Examiner, said the men had suffocated. It took rescue workers 65 minutes to recover the first body and another two hours to extricate the others.

Camillus Police Chief Donald O'Hara said Phillips, the father of seven, and Sitnik, was father of four, were working in the trench, when a small earthslide buried them up to their waists. Carr and Lose then jumped in and tried to dig them free, but the trench walls collapsed and buried all four.

Four fellow workers rushed to their aid and summoned police and local rescue squad. The rescue effort was hampered by a series of small earthslides.

Baker Case Likely to Be Issue

GOP Contention: Full Story Untold

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has closed its Bobby Baker investigation but its political overtones are expected to echo in this fall's election campaign as Republicans have charged "the full story has not been disclosed."

The Senate Rules Committee rang down the curtain on the seven-month probe into the wheelings and dealings of the former Senate aide with a report Wednesday saying he was "guilty of many gross improprieties."

But it left it up to the Justice Department to determine whether Baker should be prosecuted for any violations of criminal law.

The report was submitted to the Senate on behalf of the committee's Democratic majority by Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C.

A separate minority report turned in by the committee's three Republican members accused the Democratic majority of ignoring their "rights" to have additional witnesses called including White House aide Walter Jenkins, and charged a "cover-up."

Jenkins figured in testimony by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent with whom Baker was associated and who sold two $100,000 life insurance policies to President Johnson before he became president.

The GOP members, however, said they had no major criticism of the analysis of the evidence in the majority report. "It does reveal gross wrongdoing, gross improprieties, and conduct which we believe to be unlawful," they said.

They said their criticism "is centered upon the fact that the majority refused to call all the witnesses and refused to get all the facts."

"The full story has not been disclosed concerning Bobby Baker and those associated with him, including present and former senators and Senate employees," the Republicans charged.

Baker, now 36, was elected majority secretary in 1955, the youngest man ever to hold the post. He became the right-hand man of Lyndon B. Johnson who was elected Senate Democratic majority leader at the same time.

Because of Baker's and Johnson's association, the committee's investigation had undercurrents which Republicans are expected to try to whip up in the campaign.

Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year Senate post, could not be reached for comment on the committee report.

When Baker was called by the committee as a witness, he invoked his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination and refused to answer questions or to surrender subpoenaed records.

the city with more effective administrative demands of modern municipal management.

Full text of the charter is to be published in The Freeman Friday. Article IV presents the following major differences from our mayorality system:

1. The mayor shall be elected for a term of four years instead of two years;

2. There shall be a deputy mayor elected for four years instead of an alderman-at-large elected for two years;

3. Both the mayor and the deputy mayor shall be elected from the same line of the ballot instead of voting separately for mayor and alderman-at-large.

4. The mayor shall devote full time to the fulfillment of the duties of his office.

5. The mayor shall direct and supervise the administration of all departments and agencies of the city, except as otherwise provided by law or the new charter. While Article IV does not so specify, other articles of the charter establish the mayor as an ex-officio member of all city boards with a tie-breaking vote.

Would Prepare Report
6. In addition to presenting the annual budget to the City Council, the mayor shall also prepare a complete report on the finances and administration of the city as of the end of each fiscal year, and shall also present a capital program for the city.

7. The mayor shall also have the right to appoint an administrative assistant who shall act as his principal managerial aide. The deputy mayor shall earn $2,000 per year instead of the $1,800 per year received by the alderman-at-large.

While the deputy mayor will continue to preside over the City Council, and serve as mayor in the temporary absence of the mayor, he may, with the mayor's authorization, represent the mayor at any meeting of a city board or commission with full mayorality powers.

The proposals of Article IV will be printed along with the full text of the new charter so that all citizens will have adequate opportunity to study it prior to the July 14 and 16 public hearings. Funds for the publishing of the charter have been provided to the Charter Revision Commission as a bequest from the estate of Cornelia H. Staples.

Under that authority the assembly set up the U.N. emergency force in the Middle East in 1956 and the Congo force in 1960. But the job of setting up the force in each instance fell to the secretary-general and his staff and not to the military staff committee.

In the case of Cyprus it took Secretary-General U. Thant 10 days after the Security Council authorization to obtain commitments for the seven-nation, 6,200-man force now on that eastern Mediterranean island. It took more than three weeks before the force became operative.

The delay was due in part to demands from contributing nations as to what their troops

Cool to Scranton
The Goldwater sources said that as of now, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, Goldwater's leading opponent for the presidential nomination, won't get the nod for the No. 2 spot "unless the convention forces him down our throat."

The word that "nothing has been decided" was relayed Wednesday night from Goldwater by his press aide, Tony Smith.

Goldwater has spent the last three days here in virtual seclusion.

It ends today with a transcontinental flight for the Republican National Convention, an address to an airport welcoming crowd Goldwater aides hope will be 7,000 to 8,000 strong, and a news conference at his GOP National Convention headquarters.

Goldwater flew out of Washington at 7:30 a.m. (EDT) in a two-engine chartered plane to-day accompanied by two aides. The small plane is to arrive at San Francisco at about 1:20 p.m., Pacific Coast Time.

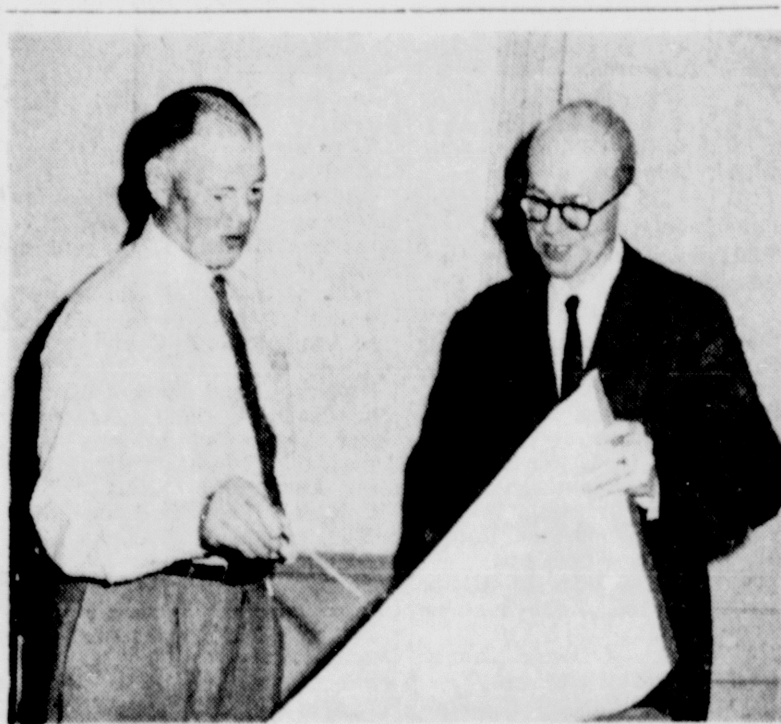

The senator had no statement on his departure beyond saying he would tell convention delegates what "I have been telling everybody for 5 or 10 years."

Before Committee Friday
Goldwater goes before the GOP platform committee Friday.

Denison Kitchell, Goldwater's campaign director, said he would not object to a platform plank criticizing extremism on both the right and the left—but not singling out any organization.

Scranton has called for a specific disavowal of the John Birch Society as an extremist group. The John Birch Society describes itself as an "educational army dedicated to opposing the Communist conspiracy."

Study Is Under Way Now

Library Expansion Is Cited as Important

The Kingston City Library, according to Don Sager, its director, is rapidly running out of space. Plans are being developed which would enable the library to expand.

The library, Sager noted, has managed to remain in the same building without extensive change for 60 years.

The only changes which have occurred since 1904, when the library was built, have been to add a second level of book stacks in 1922 and to convert the downstairs auditorium into a children's room, with the help of the Junior League, in 1938.

According to national statistics, Sager added, public libraries double their book collections every 25 years through normal purchases.

This has not occurred at the Kingston City Library, he explained, because of limited funds and the necessity to eliminate many older books to make space for newer titles.

Historical Items in Storage
The library also has many volumes in storage, including much local historical material.

It has long been hoped that the library could make more of its collection available to the public and strengthen it to a level equal with libraries in cities comparable to Kingston in size. At the present time the Kingston City Library ranks 572nd out of 703 public libraries in New York in terms of per capita financial support.

Plans for enlarging the library being considered include expansion of the building toward Broadway, toward Andrew Street, and studies are now being made by Albert E. Milliken, who has donated his services, toward the feasibility of adding a second floor within the present building.

Funds for expansion are not available to the library at the present. The library is not a department of the City of Kingston or Ulster County, but an independent association which receives a grant from the city.

At the present time this grant

Camp Man Has Close Call in 75-Foot Plunge

A 21-year-old Brooklyn camp counselor who was leading a group of boys from Woodcliff Camp, Sawkill, on a tour of Ward's Cave in Clarksville, Albany county, escaped possible death when he fell 75 feet.

Melvin Schulman, suffered a deep gash on his leg when he apparently slipped on a steep incline and fell 75 feet in the cave after loosing his balance while trying to keep one of the boys from falling.

The accident occurred about a quarter of a mile inside the cave as some 15 boys were on a tour of the cave. Schulman was taken to Albany Medical Center for treatment of a deep gash on his leg. His condition was reported as good.

Newell Cross, a member of the Delmar Rescue Squad who assisted in carrying the injured man over a tortuous route through a quarter-mile of underground passageways after his rescue, said a "good-sized" rock fell on Schulman and that this did most of the damage. It took Cross 15 minutes to bandage the laceration which laid the bone open. Seven men worked another 15 minutes to get Schulman on a stretcher and remove him from the cave.

Schulman was finally removed from the cave by men manipulating a stretcher inside the cave, assisted by a system of ropes tied to the stretcher and handled by men at the entrance.

The lone personality who is credited with any ability to change the result—former President Dwight D. Eisenhower—is not due until the weekend. But

1st Ballot Is Goal Of Barry

Penn Governor Is Battling Hard

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton went on thumping the drums hopefully today but Sen. Barry Goldwater's supporters plowed confidently toward their goal of a first ballot presidential nomination for the Arizona senator.

In the face of Scranton's declaration that an "overwhelming number of Republicans seem to think that I ought to be nominated and I think I ought to be, too," the Goldwater forces brought up a vigorous dissent.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, the Arizona senator's convention floor manager, said that "we have got more than enough" delegate votes for the nomination "but we want more."

Aim: Good Showing

"We want to make the most impressive showing possible on the first ballot when Sen. Goldwater will win the nomination," he said.

Although Curtis declined to deal in numbers, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, another Goldwater strategist, said in a separate interview "we've got more than 700 and we're getting more." A total of 655 convention votes is needed for the nomination.

Scranton, the Pennsylvania governor, was a late starter in the contest for the GOP presidential nomination. In his efforts to win away some of Goldwater's supporters by personal campaigning, Scranton flew into San Francisco Wednesday saying he can wrest the nomination from Goldwater and can win in November.

At a sweltering, jam-packed gathering in the swank Mark Hopkins Hotel, the Pennsylvania said he is "ready to win the nomination and I am ready to win in November."

Scranton has been emphasizing an interview Goldwater gave a German news weekly in which he said he doesn't believe, "as of now," that any GOP candidate can defeat President Johnson, but that it might be an entirely different story in November.

The hard truth of Goldwater's statement is acknowledged by almost every Republican willing to comment on it privately. But they add that it is not something a leading candidate for the party nomination should be saying publicly.

But Curtis said he found in a careful check that this incident has caused no precipitous falling off in Goldwater's delegate support. He said the Arizona senator was only making a frank, truthful analysis of the situation as it stands today.

Trot Out Top Figures

The opponents of the Goldwater conservative stance had produced most of their top-rank figures, including Govs. George Romney of Michigan and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and former ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge — without seeming to have made a perceptible dent in the delegate strength gained by the Arizona senator.

The lone personality who is credited with any ability to change the result—former President Dwight D. Eisenhower—is not due until the weekend. But

City Charter Revision Lost By 988 Votes 29 Years Ago

A city charter, revised during the administration of former mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, was rejected by 988 votes in a special election July 23, 1935.

It offered, among its more drastic changes, a five-man city council, and eliminated city boards, as they now exist, with the exception of the Board of Education. It also proposed a four-year, instead of a two-year term for the mayor.

Mayor John J. Schwenk, then alderman-at-large, was a member of the Charter Commission, and its other members were: aldermen Jacob H. Tremper Jr., Paul Zucca and Joseph Epstein; Jay Terry, president of the Kingston Taxpayers Association; William B. Byrne, Walter E. Joyce, Corporation Counsel Matthew V. Cahill and Mayor Heiselman.

The Common Council voted 10-3 on May 7, 1935 to submit it to the voters.

Since it was put to the voters at a special election instead of going on the ballot at the regular November election, only 6,058 votes were cast and it lost by a count of 3,503 to 2,505, and was approved only in the First, Second and 11th wards. Fifty void ballots were reported.

Epstein had proposed among his amendments, the retaining of city boards, with two members on the police, fire and health boards, and three members on the welfare and water boards.

Volunteer firemen, and organizations representing them, such as the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association, were opposed, and pamphlets were circulated asking the voters to reject it.

Prominent members of both Republican and Democratic parties also opposed the revised charter, but long before it reached the voters, it had gained staunch organization and individual support.

Twenty-one contestants will compete for the title of "Miss New York State" in three categories: talent, swimsuit and gown. Judging will be on a point system.

Culmination of the three-day competition will be the crowning of a new queen Saturday by Barbara Ann Gloede, current Miss New York State.

Cave-in Kills Four Men; Rescuers and Two Others

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Two construction men jumped into a 14-foot-deep sewer trench Wednesday to rescue two other workers trapped by a small earthslide and all four were killed when three tons of earth broke loose and buried them.

The men were part of a crew digging a trench for a new sewer line in the nearby Town of Camillus. The trench is about six feet wide and two city blocks long.

Police said the dead were: John Carr, 35, of nearby Jamesville; Bruce Phillips, 40, of Syracuse; Alexander Stinick, 57, of Bridgeport; and Harvey Lose, 51, of Syracuse and Lewisburg, Pa.

Martin F. Hiltner Jr., Onondaga County Medical Examiner, said the men had suffocated. It took rescue workers 65 minutes to recover the first body and another two hours to extricate the others.

Camillus Police Chief Donald O'Hara said Phillips, the father of seven, and Stinick, was father of four, were working in the trench when a small earthslide buried them up to their waists. Carr and Lose then jumped in and tried to dig them free, but the trench walls collapsed and buried all four.

Four fellow workers rushed to their aid and summoned police and local rescue squad. The rescue effort was hampered by a series of small earthquakes.

Carr was single. Lose left a

Social Security Has Numbers at Offices
District Director Edward J. Fitzgerald Jr. of the Internal Revenue Service in Albany said today that persons needing social security numbers for tax purposes henceforth should apply to any local office of the Social Security Administration or Internal Revenue Service.
Special procedure in effect the last two years for issuing such numbers centrally from Baltimore have been discontinued. Internal Revenue said the volume of new requests has declined to the point where it is believed issuance can be handled at the local level more efficiently.

Fire Company Authorizes Purchase of Siren Blower

Authorization to purchase an automatic siren blower, and preparations for a fund drive in August, highlighted the regular monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 Tuesday at the firehouse in Lake Hill.

The purchase of a machine to set off the firehouse siren each noon hour was promoted by a recent state law which indicates that sirens on firehouses must be blown once every 24 hours. Since the blowing of a siren at the noon hour—"the old fashioned noon whistle"—is customary in many places, the purchase of the necessary machine to accomplish this was authorized at the Tuesday meeting.

The fund drive, scheduled to be held in August under the chairmanship of Lt. Paul Shultis, was given added impetus during the meeting when treasurer of the company reported expenditures for the year of 1963 of $1550. This sum represented payments for maintenance of the firehouse and equipment and also the purchase of additional equipment for the fire company.

Lt. Shultis reported that the printed brochures to acquaint citizens with the services of their fire company were now available and a financial statement was being prepared to further indicate the use to which community funds were placed.

Captain Alfred Ostrander reported four calls to the company for the month of June—none of which were of a serious nature. He also stated that two fire drills had been held with a good turnout of members. The next fire drill is scheduled for Sunday, July 12 at 9:30 a. m. at the firehouse.

The possibility of a four-company picnic on Sept. 13 was brought before the membership, with participation in this event authorized by Company No. 3. Details concerning this event were still to be discussed by the presidents of the four fire companies comprising the Woodstock Fire Department.

Daily station check for the month was assigned to Firemen A. Ostrander, R. Peters, P. Shultis, and A. Smith. Refreshments committee for the August meeting is Paul Shultis and Jack Mergandahl.

A special meeting will be held Monday, July 20, at the firehouse in Lake Hill, beginning 8 p. m. This meeting will be for the purpose of making final plans for the fund drive. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

Maverick Sunday Concert July 12

Violinist Renato Bonacini, presently concert master of the Hartford Symphony Orchestra and the Brooklyn Philharmonic, together with composer-pianist Alexander Semmler will give a concert of Bach, Mozart, Beethoven and Grieg as the second in this summer's Maverick Sunday Concert Series, 3 p. m., Sunday, July 12, at Woodstock's Maverick Hall. The program also will include the first performance anywhere of Semmler's Ode for Violin and Piano.

Bonacini, who was born in Genoa, has been concert master of the Caracas Symphony Orchestra in Venezuela, and in addition to his work with the Hartford and Brooklyn symphony orchestras, he is a member of the New York String Sextet, and has his own quartet in Hartford.

Semmler, who has been director of the Maverick Summer Concert Series for the past eight years, was formerly staff conductor of CBS. In 1951-2, he appeared under the auspices of the State Department on the German radio in the American Sector in Berlin. At present, he does considerable free lance composing and conducting in radio and television in New York.

The two artists will play Bach's Sonata in A, Mozart's Sonata in F major, Beethoven's Sonata in G major, and the seldom-heard nowadays Grieg Sonata in C minor. About his own work, Semmler says: "It was written in May of this year shortly before entering the hospital for my eye operation. It is free and rhapsodic in form and contains many sudden changes of mood."

Next week the Maverick will present two concerts. Christiana Nazzi, flutist, and Salvador Ley, composer and pianist will give a recital Saturday evening, July 18, at 8 p. m. The July 19 Sunday concert at 3 p. m. will feature Music of the Renaissance.

Arias' Condition Worsens, Wife Is Rushing to London

LONDON (AP)—Panamanian politician - diplomat Roberto Arias, husband of ballerina Margot Fonteyn, has taken a serious turn for the worse because of a chest infection.

Arias, 47, was shot by a disgruntled political colleague in Panama June 8. He suffered a lung wound and a spinal injury which caused paralysis and was flown to England last Saturday for treatment at a hospital 30 miles from London.

After seeing her husband safely into the hospital, Dame Margot flew to Italy to appear in the annual Festival of Two Worlds at Spoleto.

The rain began halfway through the first act Wednesday. A tarpaulin was stretched over the orchestra and the show went on.

The dancer canceled her Spoleto appearance and left for London today after being informed of her husband's condition.

Arias, a former ambassador to London and son of a former Panamanian president, was shot four times. A bullet in his neck lodged against his spinal cord, causing the paralysis.

Arias was riding in a car in a suburb of Panama City when Alfredo Jimenez, a member of Arias' Panamanista party, leaped from his auto and fired point-blank at Arias. Jimenez still is at large.

Gladstone Opening Largely Attended

The exhibits of paintings by Lyn Ott and sculpture by Nat Werner, which opened last Saturday afternoon at Gladstone Galleries in Woodstock, attracted a large and enthusiastic audience of art lovers.

Both of these exhibits, which are of special interest to serious collectors of contemporary painting and sculpture, will continue on view at the galleries until July 17.

Lyn Ott's magnificent group of paintings, called Study for the Nude, displays his most recent work. Also outstanding in the exhibit are two of Ott's free-standing paintings: Reflections and Memorial to Thomas Eakins.

Nat Werner's sculpture, in stone, wood and in metal is the center of much attention at the galleries. The exhibit of this well-known and distinguished sculpture, represented in the famous collections of Joseph Hirshorn, Otto Spaeth and Billy Rose is being admired and enjoyed.

In addition to these one-man exhibits, there is also on view a large Group Show of paintings by the artists on the gallery roster. Viewing hours continue to be one to six daily, except Mondays.

COINS—AT A PRICE

An interesting phenomenon known informally as the "money merchant" can be seen in operation these days in many parts of the United States. He acquires large quantities of pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and 50-cent pieces and then sells them—at up to five per cent above face value—to banks and retailers who need a lot of coins to do business with.

This points up the severity of the coin shortage. The shortage has been caused by a combination of population growth, increased use of coins for retail sales tax and vending machines, increased collecting, and congressional lethargy in making funds available for new mint facilities.

Fortunately, the Treasury Department has boosted coin production and plans to make substantial further increases. The output in fiscal 1964, which ended June 30, was 4.3 billion coins. By various means, the Treasury hopes to boost production to about eight billion during the new fiscal year and to lift the annual production rate to more than nine billion by next June.

Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the treasury, predicts that this effort "will alleviate the coin shortage this fall and end it altogether next year." Though minting will cost more than usual, partly because the government will be buying finished metal strip, the extra expense is justified. And once the shortage is ended, let us hope, Congress and the Treasury will take greater pains to see that coinage keeps up with demand so that the "money merchant" will not return to the scene.

ANTI-CASTRO SYMBOL

Had Juanita Castro Ruz been out of sympathy with her brother's revolution from the beginning, her present defection would be of minor significance. But as it happens this militant sister of Prime Minister Fidel Castro worked hard to help him overthrow Batista, and was only disillusioned when Castro betrayed the valid purpose of his revolution and became a tool of world communism.

Miss Castro has thus made of herself a kind of symbol of all those who sought to oust a dictator and now find themselves under the heel of another. Her flight from Cuba, and her denunciation of Fidel and Raul Castro for crucifying their native land on a communistic cross, should serve well as a warning to those tempted to complacency. Her reassertion of what has been said many times previously by other defectors gives those charges particular weight.

This does not suggest any change in our official attitude toward Cuba. But it does underscore the wisdom, and essential need, of closing ranks with other members of the Organization of American States to keep Castroism from spreading.

'FEDERAL FUNDS'

The Senate recently approved a proposal to write into all spending measures the pointed reminder that the money appropriated comes out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Let us hope that the House follows suit and makes this an established policy from now on. For the term "federal funds"—which we have seen applied to all manner of activities, from highways to welfare programs—obviously has misled many people. They seem to believe that this money comes from some mysterious source which has no relation to themselves.

Well, the federal government can get money only in two ways. One is by taxes which hits us all hard. The other is by increasing the national debt which will have to be paid, plus interest and administrative costs, by the taxpayers of tomorrow.

The only money the government has, or ever has had, is that which it gets from the taxpayers. It's time much more notice was given to this simple and inescapable fact.

'These Days'

A "TRIVIAL ISSUE" COULD DECIDE IT

As this column is being written, the Scranton push for delegates has not started a prairie fire. Indeed, as the old Taft "horse's mouth" who was quoted recently in this space predicted, the result of the last-minute Scranton scramble has been to polarize the delegates prematurely, pushing hitherto uncommitted people into the Goldwater column and merely distributing Rockefeller men (who would have gone that way anyway) into the Scranton column.

But this, so another old Taft man tells me, is not the end of the anti-Goldwater push. "There is every indication that there will be a duplication of the '52 convention in '64," this man says. "Before convention time, Taft looked like a sure winner. He was extremely confident. His opponent, Eisenhower, was a reluctant pawn in the hands of the Dewey Easterners; his TV appearances were almost ruinous and he gave the impression he didn't much care.

"However, the real politician doesn't go to bed before all the votes are counted. Truman taught this lesson to Dewey and Dewey was going to teach it to Taft. In a state of affairs where it appeared that Ike had no chance, Dewey felt that if respective delegate strength could be tested by going before the convention on some trivial question, Ike's position could not be possibly worsened if he lost, but on the other hand a victory—or even a good showing—would win over unknown numbers of unpledged or genuinely undecided delegates.

"Dewey had not plucked this 'trivial question' plan out of thin air. It began to formulate in his mind after a fight broke out over the legality of the convention credentials of two rival delegations from Texas. Ike people knew that Taft would win on this question when brought before the Credentials Committee, but they also knew that they would have the right to appeal the committee's decision to the full convention and secure a roll-call vote.

"After the committee decided for the Taft delegation, and the Ike people gave notice of appeal, Taft instinctively sought to avoid a convention fight on this question. However, during these crucial hours he held no skull sessions and being 'possessed' by no one, made every move on his own. It was he alone who decided to compromise by offering the Ike people half of the Texas delegation, which was happily refused. They had planned this 'trivial question' fight and now they were going to get it. Taft, confident as ever, asking no advice, decided to fight out the Texas question before the full convention the next day.

"That evening I met a man who was considered to be one of the country's leading professional political strategists. He told me he had been paid a fee to quarterback the Taft team but that he had been invited to no strategy meeting—if any were held. As we sat over a drink in the Blackstone he said glumly that Taft had not needed one single Texas delegate to get the nomination, and that he had tried unsuccessfully so to advise the Taft camp, and that he had recommended, to deaf ears, that the entire Texas delegation be given to Ike. Such action, he told me, would simply amount to surrendering delegates that were not needed but would automatically force a dropping of the appeal Ike's people so badly wanted.

"The rest is history. Greater harm resulted from the Taft campaign than his own loss of the nomination. From that day forward the Republican Party rent itself in two: Ike Republicans and Taft Republicans. Discounting Ike's election to two terms, like General Grant's these were not partisan victories but non-partisan tribute to a war hero. The partisan test came when Nixon ran. Lacking the Taft-Republican vote, he lost.

"If Goldwater is nominated he will not have the support of the Rocky-Scranton groups. This is a precise situation in which the principle of ruin or rule will be invoked. I feel that if Barry gets over the hurdle of the nomination he knows that his only chance for election will be on grounds that appeal to individuals rather than political parties."

If this man is right, the "trivial issue" will appear at San Francisco. The Goldwater test will be how to avoid a collision course on something not worth fighting about.

Form of Food Poisoning Stages Strong Comeback

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Give a disease a new name and it is made to sound more ominous. Salmonellosis, for example, is a new name for paratyphoid. Before its cause was known it was lumped together with other forms of food poisoning and called ptomaine poisoning.

In recent years staphylococcal food poisoning has eclipsed salmonellosis in public interest and importance; but the latter is making a strong comeback. In some parts of the country twice as many cases were reported in 1963 as in 1962.

The causative germ is related to the germ that causes typhoid, but it is much less of a threat to life. Like the typhoid germ it may be spread by drinking water that is contaminated by sewage. But, thanks to modern sanitation, this is now rare in the United States and Canada.

Although human immune carriers of these germs are a source of infection, the germs are spread chiefly through the use of cracked or unclean eggs. Although the germs are killed if the eggs are hard boiled, soft boiling, frying and poaching do not insure safety. For that reason the United States Public Health Service warns against the use of eggs that are cracked when purchased.

Since cracked eggs may sometimes be used in the manufacture of egg powder, some outbreaks of salmonellosis have been traced to undercooked dishes made with powdered eggs.

After eating contaminated eggs it may be from 12 hours to four days before the disease hits. Then comes severe abdominal cramps, vomiting, diarrhea and fever. Recovery in a few days is the rule but death may occur from this disease in infants or elderly persons who are in a weakened condition from other causes.

The antibiotic, chloramphenicol, is the drug most widely used to treat salmonellosis but, if after recovery the victim remains a carrier of the germs, a new antibiotic, alpha aminobenzyl penicillin, is most effective in getting rid of the carrier state.

Q—What is the meaning of pulmonary fibrosis?

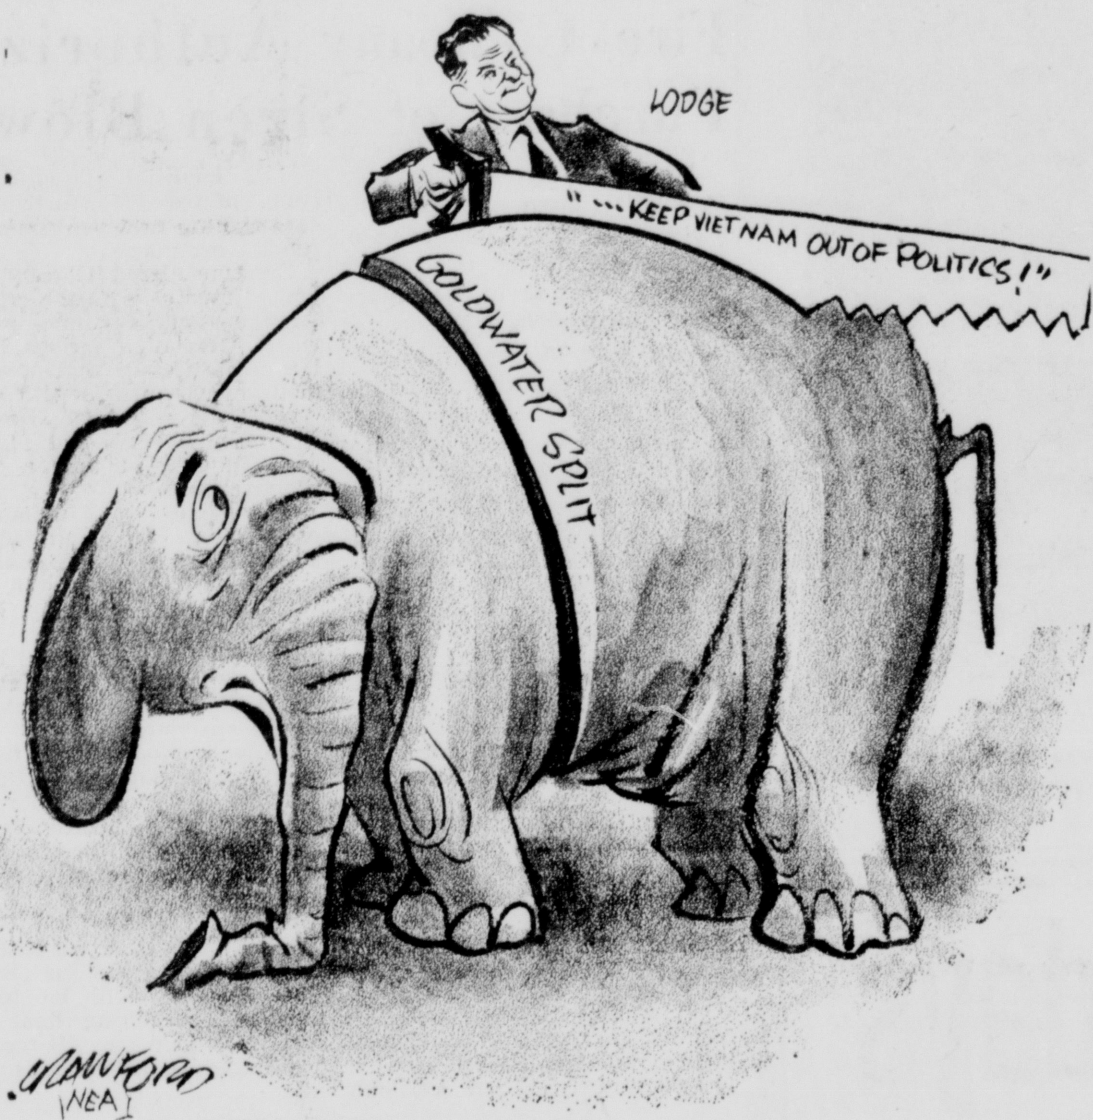

A—Fibrosis is the formation of excessive tough fibrous tissue. When this occurs in the lungs in persons with chronic emphysema or asthma, it not only cuts down on the amount of air space available but also decreases the elasticity of the lungs. Thus it makes breathing more difficult.

Washington has been called our richest president. Probably so. Look how careless he was with that dollar he threw across the Potomac.

That Gold water bandwagon must have a remarkable engine. Every time more delegates jump aboard, it goes faster.

What's Another Slice Among Friends?

Washington News

BY RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

The Communists, too, are having their troubles in Laos.

They've made considerable strides in setting up a government organization. But even in the areas they "control" they're finding the peoples of Laos lackadaisical and difficult to organize.

The Reds have organized their own Lao National Liberation government with headquarters in Phongsaly.

They have set up "liberation governors" in nine of the 16 Lao provinces, even including Luang Prabang Province, site of the royal capital of Laos and home of King Savang Vatthana.

THEY HAVE A WIDE NETWORK of village and hamlet headmen. But behind this facade they do not have control. In some of these Red areas there are more people and territory in the pockets of opposition than in the territory under actual Communist rule.

The Red Pathet Lao have made determined efforts to win the minorities and to exploit the distrust of the tribesmen for the dominant race in Laos. But the Communist rulers and their North Vietnamese allies are of the same hated ruling races.

In theory, the Communists aim at fitting the tribesmen in as equals but in practice the tribesmen and their ways do not fit into the Red system. They're finding themselves worse off under Communist rule.

So most tribesmen continue to sabotage the Red government.

DESPITE THEIR VICTORIES over the conservative and neutral Lao troops, the Red Pathet

Lao still find it difficult to get their Lao troops to fight without a liberal dose of North Viet Nam cadres.

The Reds have had considerable success in infiltrating the Buddhist priesthood in Laos. But they are finding the Buddhist leadership they've won over in Laos doesn't have the expected power to influence the people of Laos toward the Red way of life. The priests are too passive.

This is not to gainsay the considerable military and political gains the Reds have made in Laos. They are strengthening their offensive-defensive and political position through the Red areas by using the lulls between fighting for organizational work.

ON BALANCE THUS FAR, they've gained considerable strength in the past year. But it has not been all roses, and a determined long-time effort on our part could eventually succeed in keeping Laos from going Red.

In the face of these opportunities, U. S. officials are having their troubles. They're finding the conservative neutralist Lao administration lackadaisical, too. And the loyalist troops are philosophically uninterested in fighting.

Though they have shown themselves equal, and sometimes superior, to the Red Pathet Lao when no Vietnamese are present or rumored, the loyalist fighters retreat readily when they hear North Vietnamese are attached to the Red Pathet Lao troops attacking them.

What all this means is that someone has got to come up with some new solutions.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Robert S. Evory, secretary of the Binnewater Lake Ice Co. at 25 South Pine Street showed me some interesting pictures. Mr. Evory had been police commissioner, and one of the pictures he had was of the Kingston Police Department and the commissioners of 1928-29, although Mr. Evory was a commissioner around the late 1950's. I think. In the 1928 picture, I recognized, Ed Leonard, Pete Keresman, former Mayor Dempsey, his brother, a policeman. For many years, Mr. Keresman was executive secretary of the PBA of New York State. I recognized William J. Beardon, policeman. Those were the days of walking cops. They knew our streets like their own back yard, and knew everyone on the street.

Edgar Shultis, president-treasurer of the Binnewater Lake Ice Co. saw the postal card I had of the Central Fire Station, and the horse drawn vehicles. He said, some 30 years ago, he sold the Kingston Fire Department a grey horse, by the name of Tony, for Fire Chief Murphy's use. At that time, Mr. Shultis lived in Woodstock. During the summer months, the Binnewater Lake Ice Co. have on display, the original, colorful, horsedrawn ice-wagon at their 25 South Pine Street plant. They tell me that many folks come there to take pictures of it. It is of the original wood, and it is painted bright red, with yellow wheels. The manufacture of ice has changed a great deal, since it used to be cut right from the Hudson River in the winter and kept for summer use. Today it is not only manufactured artificially, but there are automatic self-service machines to dispense various sizes of ice for customer use.

According to Our Catskill Mountains by H. A. Haring (page 77) "Of hemlock, were built the enormous ice-houses which once flanked the Hudson from the upper limits of salt water at Poughkeepsie all the way to Albany; of the same material were the barns and large structures, of thirty years ago and more." The above book was published in 1931. This hemlock lumber, like all other Catskill Mountain products, was hauled over the rough wagon roads to the Hudson River, mostly for the New York City market. They were used for joists and rough heavy construction, for warehouse sills and wharf floors.

Hemlock is a strange wood for it splinters when worked, and is porous and fit only for rough lumber, such as barns and dockings, roadways. But when it came to ice houses, hemlock was perfect, for its superior qualities of insulation. The wood is of low specific gravity and highly porous, and moreover, is excellent for outdoor exposure with out paint, which maybe even of interest to today's builders. The knots are small and tight; and even the "common-grade" board remarkably free from defects. Years ago, the book relates, that there were two lumber yards in Kingston who made a specialty of hemlock, but the names are not given. He also writes, that "Not one percent of the hemlock timber was ever moved a foot from the spot where the tree fell."

At this time he also writes about the "plank toll road" from Kingston to Pine Hill which was repaired each year during the tannery days, and sections had to be replanked now and then. A three inch hemlock was used, and the current price was $5 per 1,000 B. F., delivered alongside the road, if delivered to Kingston was about $12 per 1,000 B. F.

Department of Justice And Politics of Parties

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Integrity in the executive branch of the government—or, indeed, the lack of it—is really one of the most important issues before the American people today. But it will probably not even be mentioned in either party platform or during the Presidential campaign.

The tragic truth is that the buying of votes with public funds is tolerated on a large scale and that government departments make decisions not on the basis of what is right for the country as a whole, but of what is advantageous for a particular political party. Ninety per cent of the appointees to Federal judgeships in recent years have come from the incumbent party, and this is the case also with practically all of the U. S. District Attorneys, most of whom are trained to look at things from a political angle.

These malpractices are not confined to Democratic administrations. They have happened under Republican administrations, too. There seems to be a feeling inside the government that the people don't really care and that official authority as well as public funds can be used for political purposes.

Perhaps the most serious situation that requires nationwide attention relates to the enforcement of Federal law. The Department of Justice is not by any stretch of the imagination a department that always seeks to administer justice. It is a department that is to no small extent concerned with what might be called "political justice"—advantages to a political party. Even in the prosecution of many civil cases, the Department of Justice makes political decisions. The Federal Corrupt Practices Act, for example, is being repeatedly violated as both labor organizations and companies help to finance political campaigns, though the statute forbids such contributions.

It might be thought that Congress would long ago have thoroughly investigated the operations of the Department of Justice, but it hasn't done so. The custom of dealing on a political basis with important issues before the department has, therefore, grown and grown. There is only one remedy for this situation—to remove the Department of Justice from the Cabinet and to make it an independent agency responsible to the people through Congress. This is the arrangement under which the General Accounting Office now is being operated. The head of the agency is appointed by the President with the consent of the Senate and holds office for 15 years. The employees are in Civil Service and in no way related to the political apparatus. Congress holds a constant check over this agency.

Many of the cases involving civil actions by the Department of Justice are highly important to the nation's economy. The anti-trust laws, for example, are vaguely written and should depend for their enforcement on impartial and dedicated public servants. There are many such men inside the Department of Justice, but they often are frustrated by what a Republican or a Democratic Attorney General tells them they can or cannot do.

It is important for the nation that no monopolies shall be established, but a business, because it is big, should not be treated any differently than a small business if either transgresses the law. In the economic development of the United States, many industries are being dominated by a few companies, while marginal businesses are gradually being forced to the wall. If this is a natural economic evolution, very little can be done about it. But if conspiracies to restrain trade are going on, it is a function of the Department of Justice to prosecute, irrespective of the influence that may be exerted on the department to keep its hands off.

The problem of enforcing civil rights legislation now is before the country. But in the last few years there have been instances where the Department of Justice has played politics or has been responsive to political pressure. Thus, there was really no Constitutional justification for sending Federal troops into the state of Arkansas or Mississippi. Yet pressure groups are today exerting their influence to try to get the Department of Justice again to militarize its operations in the South, though no such suggestions are heard with reference to the growing disturbances in Northern states where similar demonstrations are being conducted by some of these same organizations.

The whole system of justice in America needs revision so that politics will be removed from it. This cause could be advanced by taking the Department of Justice out of the Cabinet and making it an independent agency. The power to do so rests with Congress, but it will never act unless public opinion is informed on the issue, makes up its mind what ought to be done, and then insists on action.

An interesting phenomenon known informally as the "money merchant" can be seen in operation these days in many parts of the United States. He acquires large quantities of pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and 50-cent pieces and then sells them—at up to five per cent above face value—to banks and retailers who need a lot of coins to do business with.

This points up the severity of the coin shortage. The shortage has been caused by a combination of population growth, increased use of coins for retail sales tax and vending machines, increased collecting, and congressional lethargy in making funds available for new mint facilities.

Fortunately, the Treasury Department has boosted coin production and plans to make substantial further increases. The output in fiscal 1964, which ended June 30, was 4.3 billion coins. By various means, the Treasury hopes to boost production to about eight billion during the new fiscal year and to lift the annual production rate to more than nine billion by next June.

Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the treasury, predicts that this effort "will alleviate the coin shortage this fall and end it altogether next year." Though minting will cost more than usual, partly because the government will be buying finished metal strip, the extra expense is justified. And once the shortage is ended, let us hope, Congress and the Treasury will take greater pains to see that coinage keeps up with demand so that the "money merchant" will not return to the scene.

ANTI-CASTRO SYMBOL

Had Juanita Castro Ruz been out of sympathy with her brother's revolution from the beginning, her present defection would be of minor significance. But as it happens this militant sister of Prime Minister Fidel Castro worked hard to help him overthrow Batista, and was only disillusioned when Castro betrayed the valid purpose of his revolution and became a tool of world communism.

Miss Castro has thus made of herself a kind of symbol of all those who sought to oust a dictator and now find themselves under the heel of another. Her flight from Cuba, and her denunciation of Fidel and Raul Castro for crucifying their native land on a communistic cross, should serve well as a warning to those tempted to complacency. Her reassertion of what has been said many times previously by other defectors gives those charges particular weight.

This does not suggest any change in our official attitude toward Cuba. But it does underscore the wisdom, and essential need, of closing ranks with other members of the Organization of American States to keep Castroism from spreading.

'FEDERAL FUNDS'

The Senate recently approved a proposal to write into all spending measures the pointed reminder that the money appropriated comes out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Let us hope that the House follows suit and makes this an established policy from now on. For the term "federal funds"—which we have seen applied to all manner of activities, from highways to welfare programs—obviously has misled many people. They seem to believe that this money comes from some mysterious source which has no relation to themselves.

Well, the federal government can get money only in two ways. One is by taxes which hits us all hard. The other is by increasing the national debt which will have to be paid, plus interest and administrative costs, by the taxpayers of tomorrow.

The only money the government has, or ever has had, is that which it gets from the taxpayers. It's time much more notice was given to this simple and inescapable fact.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

A "TRIVIAL ISSUE" COULD DECIDE IT

As this column is being written, the Scranton push for delegates has not started a prairie fire. Indeed, as the old Taft "horse's mouth" who was quoted recently in this space predicted, the result of the last-minute Scranton scramble has been to polarize the delegates prematurely, pushing hitherto uncommitted people into the Goldwater column and merely distributing Rockefeller men (who would have gone that way anyway) into the Scranton column.

But this, so another old Taft man tells me, is not the end of the anti-Goldwater push. "There is every indication that there will be a duplication of the '52 convention in '64," this man says. "Before convention time, Taft looked like a sure winner. He was extremely confident. His opponent, Eisenhower, was a reluctant pawn in the hands of the Dewey Easterners; his TV appearances were almost ruinous and he gave the impression he didn't much care.

"However, the real politician doesn't go to bed before all the votes are counted. Truman taught this lesson to Dewey and Dewey was going to teach it to Taft. In a state of affairs where it appeared that Ike had no chance, Dewey felt that if respective delegate strength could be tested by going before the convention on some trivial question, Ike's position could not be possibly worsened if he lost, but on the other hand a victory—or even a good showing—would win over unknown numbers of unpledged or genuinely undecided delegates.

"Dewey had not plucked this 'trivial question' plan out of thin air. It began to formulate in his mind after a fight broke out over the legality of the convention credentials of two rival delegations from Texas. Ike people knew that Taft would win on this question when brought before the Credentials Committee, but they also knew that they would have the right to appeal the committee's decision to the full convention and secure a roll-call vote.

"After the committee decided for the Taft delegation, and the Ike people gave notice of appeal, Taft instinctively sought to avoid a convention fight on this question. However, during these crucial hours he held no skull sessions and being 'possessed' by no one, made every move on his own. It was he alone who decided to compromise by offering the Ike people half of the Texas delegation, which was happily refused. They had planned this 'trivial question' fight and now they were going to get it. Taft, confident as ever, asking no advice, decided to fight out the Texas question before the full convention the next day.

"That evening I met a man who was considered to be one of the country's leading professional political strategists. He told me he had been paid a fee to quarterback the Taft team but that he had been invited to no strategy meeting—if any were held. As we sat over a drink in the Blackstone he said glumly that Taft had not needed one single Texas delegate to get the nomination, and that he had tried unsuccessfully so to advise the Taft camp, and that he had recommended, to deaf ears, that the entire Texas delegation be given to Ike. Such action, he told me, would simply amount to surrendering delegates that were not needed but would automatically force a dropping of the appeal Ike's people so badly wanted.

"The rest is history. Greater harm resulted from the Taft campaign than his own loss of the nomination. From that day forward the Republican Party rent itself in two: Ike Republicans and Taft Republicans. Discounting Ike's election to two terms, like General Grant's these were not partisan victories but non-partisan tribute to a war hero. The partisan test came when Nixon ran. Lacking the Taft-Republican vote, he lost.

"If Goldwater is nominated he will not have the support of the Rocky-Seranton groups. This is a precise situation in which the principle of ruin or rule will be invoked. I feel that if Barry gets over the hurdle of the nomination he knows that his only chance for election will be on grounds that appeal to individuals rather than political parties."

If this man is right, the "trivial issue" will appear at San Francisco. The Goldwater test will be how to avoid a collision course on something not worth fighting about.

Form of Food Poisoning Stages Strong Comeback

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Give a disease a new name and it is made to sound more ominous. Salmonellosis, for example, is a new name for paratyphoid. Before its cause was known it was lumped together with other forms of food poisoning and called ptomaine poisoning.

In recent years staphylococcal food poisoning has eclipsed salmonellosis in public interest and importance; but the latter is making a strong comeback. In some parts of the country twice as many cases were reported in 1963 as in 1962.

The causative germ is related to the germ that causes typhoid, but it is much less of a threat to life. Like the typhoid germ it may be spread by drinking water that is contaminated by sewage. But thanks to modern sanitation this is now rare in the United States and Canada.

Although human immune carriers of these germs are a source of infection, the germs are spread chiefly through the use of cracked or unclean eggs. Although the germs are killed if the eggs are hard boiled, soft boiling, frying and poaching do not insure safety. For that reason the United States Public Health Service warns against the use of eggs that are cracked when purchased.

Since cracked eggs may sometimes be used in the manufacture of egg powder, some outbreaks of salmonellosis have been traced to undercooked dishes made with powdered eggs.

After eating contaminated eggs it may be from 12 hours to four days before the disease hits. Then comes severe abdominal cramps, vomiting, diarrhea and fever. Recovery in a few days is the rule but death may occur from this disease in infants or elderly persons who are in a weakened condition from other causes.

The antibiotic, chloramphenicol, is the drug most widely used to treat salmonellosis but, if after recovery the victim remains a carrier of the germs, a new antibiotic, alpha aminobenzylic penicillin, is most effective in getting rid of the carrier state.

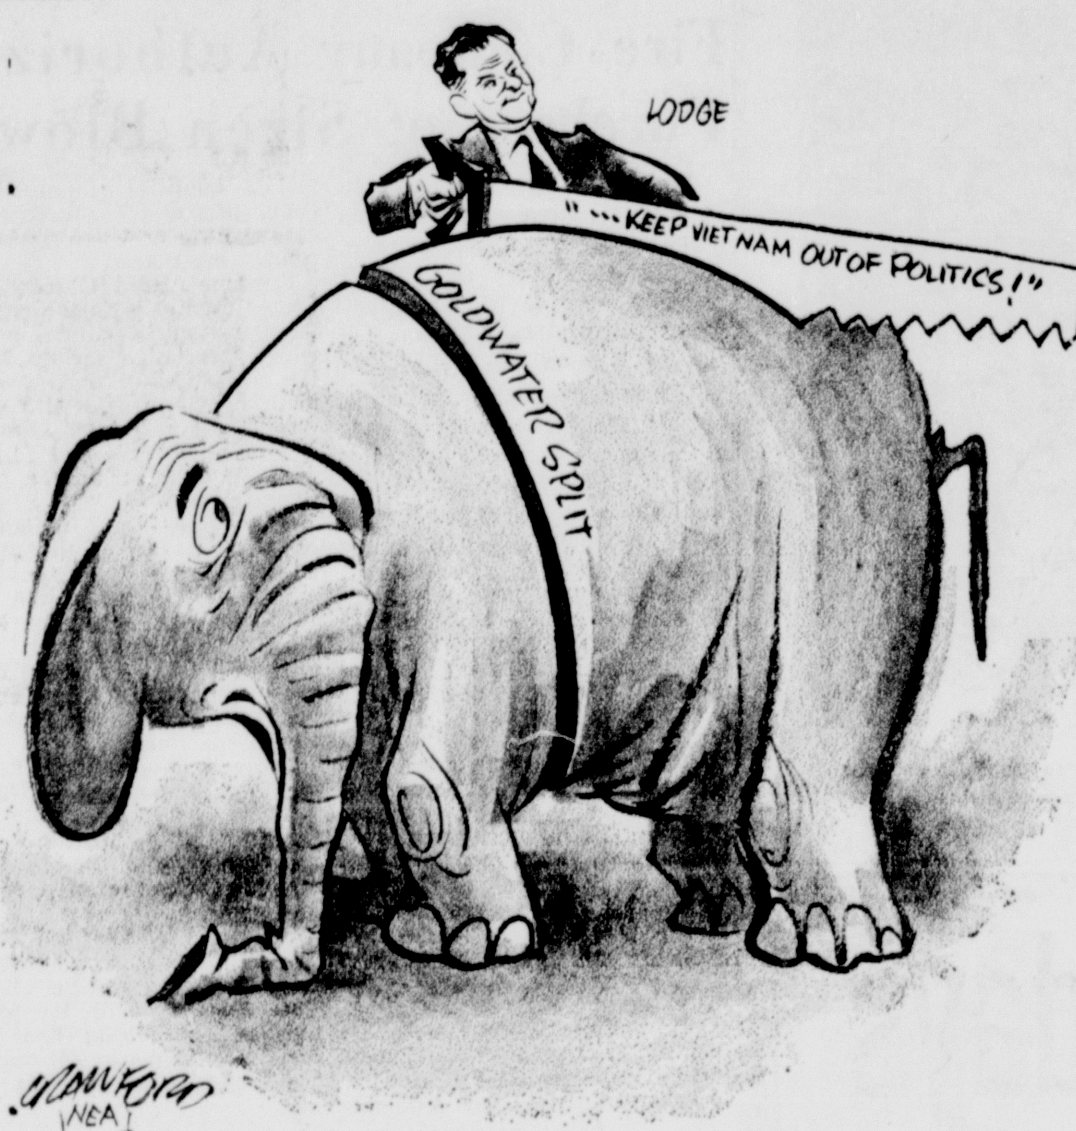

Q—What is the meaning of pulmonary fibrosis? Is it related to asthma and emphysema?
A—Fibrosis is the formation of excessive tough fibrous tissue. When this occurs in the lungs in persons with chronic emphysema or asthma, it not only cuts down on the amount of air space available but also decreases the elasticity of the lungs. Thus it makes breathing more difficult.

Washington has been called our richest president. Probably so. Look how careless he was with that dollar he threw across the Potomac.

That Gold water bandwagon must have a remarkable engine. Every time more delegates jump aboard, it goes faster.

The minute the U.N. forces pull out the Congo, trouble starts. They shouldn't have kept the peace; they should have left it there.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

The Communists, too, are having their troubles in Laos.

They've made considerable strides in setting up a government organization. But even in the areas they "control" they're finding the peoples of Laos lackadaisical and difficult to organize.

The Reds have organized their own Lao National Liberation government with headquarters in Phong Saly. They have set up "liberation governments" in nine of the 16 Lao provinces, even including Luang Prabang Province, site of the royal capital of Laos and home of King Savang Vatthana.

THEY HAVE A WIDE NETWORK of village and hamlet headmen. But behind this facade they do not have control. In some of these Red areas there are more people and territory in the pockets of opposition than in the territory under actual Communist rule.

The Red Pathet Lao have made determined efforts to win the minorities and to exploit the distrust of the tribesmen for the dominant race in Laos. But the Communist rulers and their North Vietnamese allies are of the same hated ruling races.

In theory, the Communists aim at fitting the tribesmen in as equals but in practice the tribesmen and their ways do not fit into the Red system. They're finding themselves worse off under Communist rule.

So most tribesmen continue to sabotage the Red government.

DESPITE THEIR VICTORIES over the conservative and neutral Lao troops, the Red Pathet

Lao still find it difficult to get their Lao troops to fight without a liberal dose of North Viet Nam cadres.

The Reds have had considerable success in infiltrating the Buddhist priesthood in Laos. But they are finding the Buddhist leadership they've won over in Laos doesn't have the expected power to influence the people of Laos toward the Red way of life. The priests are too passive.

This is not to gainsay the considerable military and political gains the Reds have made in Laos. They are strengthening their offensive-defensive and political position through the Red areas by using the lulls between fighting for organizational work.

ON BALANCE THUS FAR, they've gained considerable strength in the past year. But it has not been all roses, and a determined long-time effort on our part could eventually succeed in keeping Laos from going Red.

In the face of these opportunities, U. S. officials are having their troubles. They're finding the conservative neutralist Lao administration lackadaisical, too. And the loyalist troops are philosophically uninterested in fighting.

Though they have shown themselves equal, and sometimes superior, to the Red Pathet Lao when no Vietnamese are present or rumored, the loyalist fighters retreat readily when they hear North Vietnamese cadres are attached to the Red Pathet Lao troops attacking them.

What all this means is that someone has got to come up with some new solutions.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Robert S. Evory, secretary of the Binnewater Lake Ice Co. at 25 South Pine Street showed me some interesting pictures. Mr. Evory had been police commissioner, and one of the pictures he had was of the Kingston Police Department and the commissioners of 1928-29, although Mr. Evory was a commissioner around the late 1950's. I think. In the 1928 picture, I recognized, Ed Leonard, Pete Keresman, former Mayor Dempsey, his brother, a policeman. For many years, Mr. Keresman was executive secretary of the PBA of New York State. I recognized William J. Reardon, policeman. Those were the days of walking cops. They knew our streets like their own back yard, and knew everyone on the street.

Edgar Shultis, president-treasurer of the Binnewater Lake Ice Co. saw the postal card I had of the Central Fire Station, and the horse drawn vehicles. He said, some 30 years ago, he sold the Kingston Fire Department a grey horse by the name of Tony, for Fire Chief Murphy's use. At that time, Mr. Shultis lived in Woodstock. During the summer months, the Binnewater Lake Ice Co. have on display, the original, colorful, horsedrawn ice-wagon at their 25 South Pine Street plant. They tell me that many folks come there to take pictures of it. It is of the original wood, and it is painted bright red, with yellow wheels. The manufacture of ice has changed a great deal, since it used to be cut right from the Hudson River in the winter and kept for summer use. Today it is not only manufactured artificially, but there are automatic self-service machines to dispense various sizes of ice for customer use.

According to Our Catskill Mountains by H. A. Haring (page 77) "Of hemlock, were built the enormous ice-houses which once flanked the Hudson from the upper limits of salt water at Poughkeepsie all the way to Albany; of the same material were the barns and large structures of thirty years ago and more." The above book was published in 1931. This hemlock lumber, like all other Catskill Mountain products, was hauled over the rough wagon roads to the Hudson River, mostly for the New York City market. They were used for joists and rough heavy construction, for warehouse, silos and wharf floors. Hemlock is a strange wood for splinters when worked, and is porous and fit only for rough lumber, such as barns and docks, roadways. But when it came to ice houses, hemlock was perfect, for its superior qualities of insulation. The wood is of low specific gravity and highly porous, and moreover, is excellent for outdoor exposure with out paint, which maybe even of interest to today's builders. The knots are small and tight; and even the "common-grade" board remarkably free from defects. Years ago, the book relates, that there were two lumber yards in Kingston who made a specialty of hemlock, but the names are not given. He also writes, that "Not one percent of the hemlock timber was ever moved a foot from the spot where the tree fell."

At this time he also writes about the "plank toll road" from Kingston to Pine Hill which was repaired each year during the tannery days, and sections had to be replanked now and then. A three inch hemlock was used, and the current price was $3 per 1,000 B. F., delivered alongside the road, it delivered to Kingston was about $12 per 1,000 B. F."

Department of Justice And Politics of Parties

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Integrity in the executive branch of the government—or, indeed, the lack of it—is really one of the most important issues before the American people today. But it will probably not even be mentioned in either party platform or during the Presidential campaign.

The tragic truth is that the buying of votes with public funds is tolerated on a large scale and that government departments make decisions not on the basis of what is right for the country as a whole, but of what is advantageous for a particular political party. Ninety per cent of the appointees to Federal judgeships in recent years have come from the incumbent party, and this is the case also with practically all of the U. S. District Attorneys, most of whom are trained to look at things from a political angle.

These malpractices are not confined to Democratic administrations. They have happened under Republican administrations, too. There seems to be a feeling inside 'the government' that the people don't really care and that official authority as well as public funds can be used for political purposes.

Perhaps the most serious situation that requires nationwide attention relates to the enforcement of Federal law. The Department of Justice is not by any stretch of the imagination a department that always seeks to administer justice. It is a department that is to no small extent concerned with what might be called "political justice"—advantages to a political party. Even in the prosecution of many civil cases, the Department of Justice makes political decisions. The Federal Corrupt Practices Act, for example, is being repeatedly violated as both labor organizations and companies help to finance political campaigns, though the statute forbids such contributions.

It might be thought that Congress would long ago have thoroughly investigated the operations of the Department of Justice, but it hasn't done so. The custom of dealing on a political basis with important issues before the department has, therefore, grown and grown. There is only one remedy for this situation—to remove the Department of Justice from the Cabinet and to make it an independent agency responsible to the people through Congress. This is the arrangement under which the General Accounting Office now is being operated. The head of the agency is appointed by the President with the consent of the Senate and holds office for 15 years. The employees are in Civil Service and in no way related to the political apparatus. Congress holds a constant check over this agency.

Many of the cases involving civil actions by the Department of Justice are highly important to the nation's economy. The anti-trust laws, for example, are vaguely written and should depend for their enforcement on impartial and dedicated public servants. There are many such men inside the Department of Justice, but they often are frustrated by what a Republican or a Democratic Attorney General tells them they can or cannot do.

It is important for the nation that no monopolies shall be established, but a business, because it is big, should not be treated any differently than a small business, if either transgresses the law. In the economic development of the United States, many industries are being dominated by a few companies, while marginal businesses are gradually being forced to the wall. If this is a natural economic evolution, very little can be done about it. But if conspiracies to restrain trade are going on, it is a function of the Department of Justice to prosecute, irrespective of the influence that may be exerted on the department to keep its hands off.

The problem of enforcing civil rights legislation now is before the country. But in the last few years there have been instances where the Department of Justice has played politics or has been responsive to political pressure. Thus, there was really no Constitutional justification for sending Federal troops into the state of Arkansas or Mississippi. Yet pressure groups are today exerting their influence to try to get the Department of Justice again to militarize its operations in the South, though no such suggestions are heard with reference to the growing disturbances in Northern states where similar demonstrations are being conducted by some of these same organizations.

The whole system of justice in America needs revision so that politics will be removed from it. This cause could be advanced by taking the Department of Justice out of the Cabinet and making it an independent agency. The power to do so rests with Congress, but it will never act unless public opinion is informed on the issue, makes up its mind what ought to be done, and then insists on action.

The oldest organized sport in America is lacrosse. It is the name given by the French settlers of Canada to the old Indian game of "bag-gaway," because the implement used, the curved netted stick, resembled a bishop's crozier. It was played by the six nations of the Iroquois throughout the territory of upper New York state and lower Ontario before Columbus landed in the new world in 1492. The Indians adopted the sport as a training measure for war.

WALT DISNEY'S True Life Adventures

Rocky May Have Difficulty Switching Votes to Scranton

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller faces problems in transferring New York State convention delegates from himself to Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

The governor has hoped to turn over to Scranton at least 85 of the 92 votes in the New York delegation, which will be the biggest at the convention. Rockefeller will be able to deliver a sizable bloc to Scranton, waging an uphill fight to keep the presidential nomination from Sen. Barry Goldwater. But signs of restlessness have been reported among some delegates and it is uncertain that the governor will realize the figure of 85. The chief reason for this uncertainty lies in the fact that Rockefeller's fellow New York delegates do not fully share his frequently expressed concern that a Goldwater nomination could wreck the GOP. While only five have announced support for Goldwater, several others would not consider it a catastrophe if the Arizona conservative were nominated. The hope of Rockefeller forces for a solid, anti-Goldwater front vanished in the June 2 primary, when three delegates pledged to the Arizonian were elected.

After Rockefeller withdrew as a candidate, in favor of Scranton, two more delegates announced for Goldwater—Reps. Frank Becker and Steven DeRouman, both of Nassau County.

Goldwater Sympathy
Three other representatives in the House — Katherine St. George of Tuxedo, Carlton J. King of Saratoga Springs and John R. Pillion of Lackawanna — since have endorsed Goldwater. While they are not delegates, their stand is evidence of at least some Goldwater sympathy among Upstate Republicans.

The first test in the New York delegation is scheduled for Sunday night at a convention caucus in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, the New York State headquarters in San Francisco. Rockefeller, chairman of the delegation, will preside. Any wholesale defections from Rockefeller would be unlikely, however. The majority of the delegates are closely tied to the Republican state organization which the governor heads. They are office-holders, officials of GOP county committees, dependent in varying degrees on support from the state organization.

One of the tiny band of announced Goldwater delegates in the New York contingent has predicted that a dozen or more votes will be cast by New Yorkers for the Arizona senator when the roll is called.

Brunette Denies Blondes Sexier

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Do blondes have more fun, more sex appeal, more boy friends, more oomph?

"No! No! No!" says actress Sandra Warner, a ravishing brunette who recently had to turn blonde for a role.

"My experience as a blonde was a complete disaster. It even ruined my health. I wouldn't go through the experience again for a million dollars. Well, maybe for a million."

Sandra was cast as a movie queen.

"The studio insisted that I turn blonde. I argued: 'Would Liz Taylor qualify as a movie queen?' But it was no use. I had to turn blonde. Producers think all movie queens are blonde."

"It took three days to make me a blonde. Right there, I figured, blondes don't have time enough to have fun. And how many men can you find in a beauty shop? Blondes spend half their lives in beauty shops."

"As a blonde, my whole personality changed. I may have looked flashier but I sure didn't feel it."

"Maybe it's different for natural blondes — if any exist — but the whole bleaching process is turning against nature."

"As a brunette, I consider myself a warmer woman. As a blonde, I was cold, reserved — entirely different from my real personality."

"Brunettes are sexier—even though blondes may look it."

Sandra admits bitterness. "The bleaching process put me in the hospital with toxic hepatitis—and I lost the role besides. They couldn't wait until I got well. I also lost 15 pounds."

Tina Louise took the part instead.

"She's a red head. What's Hollywood got against brunettes?"

Poultry Competes With Red Meats At Many Markets

Poultry is competing strongly with red meats in many markets this weekend.

While beef prices show signs of rising as supplies diminish, turkey is becoming more easily available and prices are down.

Turkey shipments are up 10 per cent from a year ago and this amply translated itself into lower market prices and more frequent "specials" at 37 cents a pound or so. Beef prices, meanwhile, have moved up at wholesale at the big packing centers and this is beginning to show up at the nation's retail counters.

One national chain is featuring ribs of beef this weekend at 63 cents a pound, with sirloin at 99 and boneless chuck roasts at 59 cents.

The rise in pork prices has been more apparent and, with production easing, is likely to last longer.

Fresh vegetable attractions, meanwhile, include cabbage, snap beans, beets, carrots, corn, okra, green and dry onion, radishes, summer squash, watercress, peppers, eggplant, tomatoes, cucumbers and lettuce.

Fresh fruit counters are copiously supplied, although peaches are in short supply and higher-priced because of freezes late in the growing season. Plums are beginning to arrive in near-record volume. Cherry production is up sharply.

Comedy Foil Has His Say About Status Symbols

EDITOR'S NOTE — Richard Deacon, the sharp-tongued comedy foil Mel Cooley on CBS' "Dick Van Dyke Show," writes today for Cynthia Lowry, who is on vacation.

By RICHARD DEACON
Written for Associated Press
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—I have the uneasy feeling that people think of me as the world's worst sourpuss.

It's no wonder. I used to be a pretty cheerful fellow. That was before I ran into the status symbol game.

It's the modern version of keeping up with the Joneses. It's guaranteed to make a nervous wreck out of anyone.

If you have the right status symbols, you worry for fear they'll go out of date before you can pay for them. If you have the wrong ones—well, look at me. I'm a nervous wreck.

I got the clue early on what to expect when I went out to buy a house.

"How old is it?" I asked the real estate salesman. "This was built by Shepperd Strudwick," he answered, as though that made the house a cut above a Frank Lloyd Wright.

"Oh," I said, "is he a well-known local architect? Turned out Strudwick is a fine actor, who I'm sure would rather be known for his work than for a house. But that's how it goes in Hollywood.

When I finally did buy a house I got quite a bit of status because it used to belong to Cara Williams. And Natalie Wood lived on the corner.

Animals are very important for status in Hollywood. French poodles used to be the thing. Then the Group went to Schnauzers. I got in on the wave with a wonderful miniature Schnauzer named Fred.

But now it's chic to have a mongrel or a beagle—anything, really, with long ears.

It's most important to collect art and I do. But all the artists I collect are living, so I'm not quite in. I do have a little etching by Rembrandt and I carefully point it out to people.

They told me I'd have to have a pool in Hollywood, so I hurried to put one in. After hauling all the rock and arranging all the piping and getting it landscaped, I found out they meant a swimming pool—not a fish pool.

I don't know how much longer I can stay in the race. I have an old convertible, but for status, you need a new convertible. I've ordered a new one but I'm afraid by the time I get it the mode will be back to old convertibles.

Keating Charges Defense Saving Figures False

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., has challenged Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's claim that his department saved $2.5 billion during the fiscal year ended June 30.

Keating said Wednesday a recent General Accounting Office (GAO) report on an Air Force decision to close the Rome, N.Y., Air Material Area deflates this claim "to a considerable extent."

The report said the Air Force had overestimated some of the savings it claimed in its closing decision, had withheld documents requested by GAO and had destroyed other documents underlying its decision.

In a related development, Keating Wednesday called on the Republican Platform Committee, meeting in San Francisco, to include in the platform a pledge of federal aid to areas disrupted when government installations are closed.

Keating also called for a plank upholding the constitutionality of the new civil rights law in his 12-page statement to the committee.

Comedy Foil Has His Say About
Status Symbols

EDITOR'S NOTE — Richard Deacon, the sharp-tongued comedy foil Mel Cooley on CBS' "Dick Van Dyke Show," writes today for Cynthia Lowry, who is on vacation.

By RICHARD DEACON

Written for Associated Press HOLLYWOOD (AP)—I have the uneasy feeling that people think of me as the world's worst sourpuss.

It's no wonder. I used to be a pretty cheerful fellow. That was before I ran into the status symbol game.

It's the modern version of keeping up with the Joneses. It's guaranteed to make a nervous wreck out of anyone.

If you have the right status symbols, you worry for fear they'll go out of date before you can pay for them. If you have the wrong ones—well, look at me. I'm a nervous wreck.

I got the clue early on what to expect when I went out to buy a house.

"How old is it?" I asked the real estate salesman. "This was built by Shepperd Strudwick," he answered, as though that made the house a cut above a Frank Lloyd Wright.

"Oh," I said, "is he a well-known local architect?" Turned out Strudwick is a fine actor, who I'm sure would rather be known for his work than for a house. But that's how it goes in Hollywood.

When I finally did buy a house I got quite a bit of status because it used to belong to Cara Williams. And Natalie Wood lived on the corner.

Animals are very important for status in Hollywood. French poodles used to be the thing. Then the Group went to Schnauzers. I got in on the wave with a wonderful miniature Schnauzer named Fred.

But now it's chic to have a mongrel or a beagle—anything, really, with long ears.

It's most important to collect art and I do. But all the artists I collect are living, so I'm not quite in. I do have a little etching by Rembrandt and I carefully point it out to people.

They told me I'd have to have a pool in Hollywood, so I hurried to put one in. After hauling all the rock and arranging all the piping and getting it landscaped, I found out they meant a swimming pool—not a fish pool.

I don't know how much longer I can stay in the race. I have an old convertible, but for status, you need a new convertible. I've ordered a new one but I'm afraid by the time I get it the mode will be back to old convertibles.

TV Model Makes Record Jump to Cinema Stardom

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Dumb blondes are out of date in Hollywood. Smart blondes are in style.

Among the smartest at the moment is Tippi Hedren, who looks like a younger sister of Grace Kelly and who just got a free $50,000 wardrobe from her mentor, Alfred Hitchcock.

That plump Englishman is as good a judge of feminine acting talent as he is of plot. Among the ladies whose careers he has helped are Ingrid Bergman, Grace Kelly, Eva Marie Saint, Shirley MacLaine, and Vera Miles.

Hired on Spot

Not too long ago he saw Tippi in a television commercial, liked her, gave her a $25,000 screen test and hired her on the spot to star in his last picture, "The Birds."

"She looks ladylike," said Hitchcock, "a quality now quite rare."

Hollywood exists on the Cinderella theme, but for a television model to step into immediate stardom was more than some West Coast old-timers could take.

Hitchcock was satisfied. He has starred Tippi again in "Marnie," a film based on an English novel about a girl who is a compulsive thief.

Taking no chances on Miss Hedren's Minnesota accent, the old master moved the story into an American setting, and concentrated his camera as much on her loveliness as on the plot.

Got Complete Wardrobe

"Hitch gave me the complete wardrobe in the picture as a reward for my performance," said Tippi. "It was designed by Edith Head and must have cost $50,000 originally."

Her nickname is a variation of "Tupsa," a Swedish term for little girl. Hitchcock preferred it to her real name, which is Nathalie.

True to the traditions of her Swedish ancestry, Miss Hedren is enamored with two virtues—the enjoyment of hard work and the pursuit of hard cash. She is an easy-going, friendly girl who at 29 isn't swept off her feet by success because she has worked as a model since she was 13.

Hitchcock is so confident of her ability that he has signed her for two more films, a rare step for him.

Pretty as she is, Tippi has no pretty illusions. "This is very much a business with me. The idea of being an actress didn't appeal to me. I knew how rough a road it was, and I was doing very well as a model."

"But I find it exciting. Stardom has made a big difference in my life."

"I've gone into real estate. I'm buying and renting houses, and hope to buy a property to subdivide soon."

Early American architectural hardware displayed at exhibit in Bevier House, Ulster County Historical Society headquarters in the Town of Marletown. (Freeman photo)

Historical Group Has Exhibit of Antique Hardware

Ulster County Historical Society is currently conducting an exhibition of early American architectural hardware dating from the colonial period and still further back into Europe at its headquarters, the Bevier House, Town of Marletown.

Lewis C. Rubenstein, curator of the John Jay House in Katonah, has researched many public and private collections to assemble the representative pieces from New York houses. The exhibition is circulated by the American Federation of Arts under the sponsorship of the N. Y. State Council on the Arts. This is its first showing.

In the early American settlement metal goods were scarce and expensive so that many houses were constructed without any of the standard items of hardware and builders were forced to use materials at hand. Cooking implements, pegs and even hinges of his double doors were made of wood. Although there were blacksmiths in the colony they were usually too busy in repairing vehicles or in the shoeing of horses to give much time to the making of small hardware.

Five foundries existed in N. Y. State in colonial days, the earliest being the American Furnace in Columbia County which existed from 1750-1837. It was found cheaper to import these items from European craftsmen. Nails were in great demand, firebacks, hinges, locks, knockers were among the imports.

The current exhibition is beautifully mounted and clearly labeled making it easy for viewers to see and understand. Displayed are knockers, one from the Van Bergen home at Leeds, latches, some Dutch 17th Century hinges, gutter and shutter hardware. There is a gutter leader box from the Van Rensselaer House at Morris.

All these come from well known collectors including items from the collection of John P. Remensnyder, president of Ulster County Historical Society. His collection also includes an iron fireback, circa 17 mid-century from Holland.

Open daily except Mondays and Tuesdays the museum is attracting a growing number of visitors. People from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Texas, Canada and Hawaii having registered there this past month.

The next meeting of the society for members and guests will be Saturday, July 11 at 2:30 when St. Julian Fishburn noted restorer of antique paintings will be the guest speaker.

Best Play Is Not Finesse

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Bridge teacher and writer Fred Karpin of Washington has a new book on play that involves strategy at trick one. He starts with a discussion of the finesse. Fred takes a stand squarely in favor of the finesse, but points out that there are many occasions when a finesse should be refused.

Three no-trump would have been a far better contract than five clubs and even an optimistic contract of six clubs would not have been unreasonable, but we are concerned with the contract at five clubs and particularly the play at trick one.

West opens the deuce of spades and many Souths would promptly finesse the queen. East would take his king and return a heart, whereupon South would have to try that finesse. That would also lose and he would be down one because there is no way to shut out the ace of trumps.

A thoughtful South would see that he did not need the spade finesse. He would win the first trick with dummy's ace of

"But I find it exciting. Stardom has made a big difference in my life."

"I've gone into real estate. I'm buying and renting houses, and hope to buy a property to subdivide soon."

Early American architectural hardware displayed at exhibit in Bevier House, Ulster County Historical Society headquarters in the Town of Marbletown. (Freeman photo)

Historical Group Has Exhibit of Antique Hardware

Ulster County Historical Society is currently conducting an exhibition of early American architectural hardware dating from the colonial period and still further back into Europe at its headquarters, the Bevier House, Town of Marbletown.

Lewis C. Rubenstein, curator of the John Jay House in Katonah, has researched many public and private collections to assemble the representative pieces from New York houses. The exhibition is circulated by the American Federation of Arts under the sponsorship of the N. Y. State Council on the Arts. This is its first showing.

In the early American settlement metal goods were scarce and expensive so that many houses were constructed without any of the standard items of hardware and builders were forced to use materials at hand. Cooking implements, pegs and even hinges of his double doors were made of wood. Although there were blacksmiths in the colony they were usually too busy in repairing vehicles or in the shoeing of horses to give much time to the making of small hardware.

Five foundries existed in N. Y. State in colonial days, the earliest being the Ancram Furnace in Columbia County which existed from 1750-1837. It was found cheaper to import these items from European craftsmen. Nails were in great demand, firebacks, hinges, locks, knockers were among the imports.

The current exhibition is beautifully mounted and clearly labeled making it easy for viewers to see and understand. Displayed are knockers, one from the Van Bergen home at Leeds, latches, some Dutch 17th Century hinges, gutter and shutter hardware. There is a gutter leader box from the Van Rensselaer House at Morris.

All these come from well known collectors including items from the collection of John P. Remensnyder, president of Ulster County Historical Society. His collection also includes an iron fireback, circa 17 mid-century from Holland.

Open daily except Mondays and Tuesdays the museum is attracting a growing number of visitors. People from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Texas, Canada and Hawaii having registered there this past month.

The next meeting of the society for members and guests will be Saturday, July 11 at 2:30 when St. Julian Fishburn noted restorer of antique paintings will be the guest speaker.

Best Play Is Not Finesse

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Bridge teacher and writer Fred Karpin of Washington has a new book on play that involves strategy at trick one. He starts with a discussion of the finesse. Fred takes a stand squarely in favor of the finesse, but points out that there are many occasions when a finesse should be refused.

Three no-trump would have been a far better contract than five clubs and even an optimistic contract of six clubs would not have been unreasonable, but we are concerned with the contract at five clubs and particularly the play at trick one.

West opens the deuce of spades and many Souths would promptly finesse the queen. East would take his king and return a heart, whereupon South would have to try that finesse. That would also lose and he would be down one because there is no way to shut out the ace of trumps.

A thoughtful South would see that he did not need the spade finesse. He would win the first trick with dummy's ace of spades and lead trumps until East played his ace. East would return a heart and South should refuse that finesse also. Then he would pull whatever trumps were still out, discard dummy's last two hearts on long diamonds and finally ruff out the jack of hearts.

Kaltenborn Has 86th Birthday—Offers No Advice

Learn From Mistakes

"I've never believed much in giving advice," he said in a birthday eve interview at his Long Island estate. "We all have to make our own mistakes and learn from those mistakes."

But in the assured tones known to millions of Americans since the pioneer days of radio, Kaltenborn reminisced about his life and the career that took him all over the world.

"Practically every country," he said, "except those favored by Lowell Thomas—such as Tibet."

Nothing elaborate was planned for the day. He and his wife, the former German Baroness Olga von Nordenflicht, expected their son and daughter and seven grandchildren to visit. "Point of View," the roomy Kaltenborn summer home.

Kaltenborn spends much of his time reading. He describes his health as excellent, but he is troubled by a muscle pressing a nerve in his back. His mind is quick and active.

First Heard In 1922

The voice of radio's original news analyst first was heard on the air in April 1922, discussing a coal strike.

He was born in Milwaukee, son of Baron Rudolph Van Kaltenborn, a Hessian guards officer who came to America, and was raised in Merrill, Wis.

He was a clerk in his father's building supplies store at the age of 16, a sergeant in the 4th Wisconsin Volunteers of the Spanish-American War at 20, a newspaper reporter at 21, a traveling salesman in France at 22, a reporter again at 24, a Harvard University special student at 27, a secretary for a Harvard exchange professor at 29, a traveling tutor for John Jacob Astor's son, Vincent, at 30, and then, once again, a newspaperman.

Kaltenborn ranked his coverage of the Munich crisis in 1938—102 broadcasts in 21 days—as his greatest professional accomplishment.

At the peak of his career, a time he refers to as "in the chips," Kaltenborn earned $8,000-$9,000 a week.

Delegations Next Scranton Object

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, after crisis-crossing the nation in an effort to spark popular support for his presidential nomination campaign, arrived here Wednesday to try his luck with the delegates.

Scranton, seeking to overtake Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater in the race for the nomination, was invited to appear before the convention platform committee today. He indicated to a newsman he would appeal for planks opposed to "extremism" of any type, particularly in the civil rights area.

The governor arrived with a statement saying he does not want the GOP to become "another name for some ultrarightist society."

He said Republicans must show "that we are responsible, rational Americans, not radical extremists."

At a public reception Scranton personally shook hands with supporters. Following the public reception, he met at a private party some convention delegates and a score of Scranton backers working to line up delegate support for the governor.

Scranton told a newsman "we're going to the delegations starting Friday."

Scranton was greeted by a noisy crowd, many of them young persons, at the airport Wednesday.

Scranton told them he wants the GOP to have "a chance in November, as well as a choice in July."

Scranton contended the Republican party must show:

"That we do believe in equal rights for all Americans."

"That we do believe in Social Security; that we are not in favor of scuttling the United Nations; that we do not advocate an irresponsible use of nuclear weapons."

"That we are the conservative party in the tradition of Lincoln and (Sen. Robert A.) Taft."

October Hearing Set On End of Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board hearing is set tentatively for Oct. 12 on an application by United Air Lines to eliminate service at Elmira-Corning, N.Y., and Harrisburg and Williamsport, Pa.

The date was fixed Wednesday by hearing examiner Milton Shapiro, after a meeting with attorneys in the case.

Mohawk and Allegheny Airlines seek to replace the service United proposes to eliminate. United would end service to these four cities on flights linking Buffalo and Rochester, N.Y., Philadelphia, Baltimore or Washington.

Newburgh Man Killed

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Henry J. Tole, 70, of Newburgh, was injured fatally when struck by a car as he crossed Liberty Street Wednesday night. The driver was not held.

OVERNIGHT BOOMTOWN—A normally empty field near Princeton serves as the locale for a temporary town of 3,000 house trailers and 10,000 occupants. The 300-acre area was rented from the state of New Jersey as the site for an annual convention.

Never Wanted to Fly, Captain Is Given Says Powder Puff Champ

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Mary Ann Noah, Mission, Kan., winner of the 18th annual Powder Puff Derby, never wanted to fly, even though her husband has flown since 1938.

"I guess I was chicken," she said after the announcement of her victory Wednesday night. "My husband had a plane in business and he wanted me to learn. But I didn't think I was capable of mastering the art."

"He dragged me down to take a lesson and after the first hour I was hooked. I just fell in love with it."

Mrs. Noah's first lesson was late in 1959. She has competed in every Powder Puff Derby—a 2,573-mile cross-country air-plane race for women—since 1960.

Winning the derby is a matter of getting the most out of a plane. Official standings are computed on the basis of total air time and a handicap based on the plane's capabilities.

"It was wonderful," said Mrs. Noah, a pretty blonde mother of four. "We were fortunate to get good winds on the second day out," she said. "We just whizzed from Winslow, Ariz., to Fayetteville, Ark."

Mrs. Noah, and her copilot, Mary Atkins, Wichita, Kan., a mother of three, were in the air some 17 hours.

Judy G. Wagner, Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., flying solo, finished second in the official derby standings and Frances S. Bera, Long Beach, Calif., a seven-time winner of the derby, came in third.

Only 48 planes finished out of the 61 that were to start the race last Saturday in Fresno, Calif.

Three planes were scratched before the start, four quit en route, and six failed to complete the race by noon on Wednesday.

River Basin Meeting Set for Oct. 13-15

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—The Elmira-Corning area of New York State has been chosen as the tentative site for the Oct. 13-15 meeting of a study committee on long-range development of the Susquehanna River Basin.

About 130 persons attended the two-day meeting here of the Susquehanna River Basin Coordinating Committee. The sessions, which ended Wednesday, covered such subjects as flood control, water quality, pollution, recreation and related items.

This was the third meeting of the committee, composed of representatives of seven federal agencies and the Susquehanna basin states of Maryland, New York and Pennsylvania. The study will continue to 1969 when the committee is to report its findings to Congress.

Tobacco Official Dies

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Zach Toms, 63, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., died today.

Toms was named chairman of the firm earlier this year. He had been president since 1961. He joined Liggett & Myers in 1922 at Richmond. His father, Clinton W. Toms, was president of the company from 1928 to 1936.

Toms, born in Durham, N.C., was a graduate of the University of Virginia.

Captain Is Given Seven Years for Army Desertion

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Capt. Alfred E. Svenson was sentenced today to seven years at hard labor for desertion and theft of a jeep in which he drove to Communist East Germany 14 months ago.

Svenson, 31, of Scranton, Pa., also was dismissed from the U.S. Army. He spent a year in the Communist country before being expelled as "unfit to be granted asylum."

The captain was convicted by a general court-martial Wednesday. Both the conviction and the sentence are subject to automatic review by higher military authorities.

The only U.S. officer ever tried for desertion to the Communists, Svenson got one year less than the maximum eight years possible under the charges on which he was found guilty.

The Lithuanian-born officer drove the jeep across the Iron Curtain on May 4, 1963, while participating in maneuvers near the border between East and West Germany.

Communist authorities returned Svenson and the jeep last May 7.

Shark Danger

Kaltenborn Has 86th Birthday—Offers No Advice

STONY BROOK, N.Y. (AP)—H. V. Kaltenborn, the dean of news commentators, reached his 86th birthday today without a single word of advice for the younger generation.

Learn From Mistakes

"I've never believed much in giving advice," he said in a birthday eve interview at his Long Island estate. "We all have to make our own mistakes and learn from those mistakes."

But in the assured tones known to millions of Americans since the pioneer days of radio, Kaltenborn reminisced about his life and the career that took him all over the world. "Practically every country," he said, "except those favored by Lowell Thomas—such as Tibet."

Nothing elaborate was planned for the day. He and his wife, the former German Baroness Olga von Nordenflicht, expected their son and daughter and seven grandchildren to visit. "Point of View," the roomy Kaltenborn summer home.

Kaltenborn spends much of his time reading. He describes his health as excellent, but he is troubled by a muscle pressing in his back. His mind is quick and active.

First Heard In 1922

Accused Farmer Freed From Jail On Murder Count

BATH, N.Y. (AP)—A charge of first-degree murder against a 53-year-old farmer accused of killing his neighbor has been dismissed on the ground of insufficient information on the warrant issued for his arrest.

Justice Dominick Gabrielli, conducting a special term of Supreme Court here Wednesday, granted a writ of habeas corpus which freed Fred Rial Jr. from Steuben County Jail.

Rial was arrested June 26 and accused of the murder of Wendell Chapelle, 59, whose frozen body was found last Feb. 26 under a pile of hay in a barn on his farm near Addison.

The body of his wife, Marcia, 60, was found next to Chapelle's. Rial was not charged with Mrs. Chapelle's death.

Gabrielli freed Rial at the request of defense attorney Joseph Nasser of Corning, who claimed the information against Rial was based on insufficient and faulty evidence.

Dist. Atty. Lurton Whiteman said the June grand jury would reconvene July 16 to investigate the slayings.

Rial operated a farm about a mile from the Chapelle farm.

Pedestrian Killed, Driver Walks Away

NEW YORK (AP)—A motorist struck and killed a pedestrian Wednesday night, got out of his car, unscrewed the license plate, tucked it under his arm and walked off, police reported.

The victim was Irving Silverfarb, 63, of Manhattan, who was returning home from a grocery store with his wife, Celia.

Peggy Goldwater Is 55

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's wife, Peggy, observed her 55th birthday Wednesday.

The wife of the man favored to win the Republican presidential nomination spent the day quietly at the Goldwaters' hilltop home overlooking Phoenix.

Former State Official Gains in Stock Suit

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Former Assemblyman Harry A. Reoux has gained some ground in a stock - ownership struggle that began between his mother and himself 10 years ago and continued past her death.

An appeals court held Wednesday that the mother, Mrs. Adelia Reoux, had given the stock to her son as a gift voluntarily.

This overturned previous decisions that he had exercised undue influence when she endorsed $40,000 in stocks over to him in 1953, when she was 80.

Reoux represented Warren County in the Assembly from 1931 through 1950.

New information that appeared when the mother's will was probated after her death in 1958 led the State Supreme Court's Appellate Division, Third Department, to overrule unanimously an earlier decision against Reoux.

Further court action is considered likely as a result of Wednesday's decision, however.

The First National Bank of Glens Falls, as executor of Mrs. Reoux' estate, has been fighting the son's claim.

Ellenville Woman Is Hurt in Rt. 52 Crash

An Ellenville woman was injured at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday, when the car she was operating was involved in a collision on Route 52 about a mile west of Pine Bush.

State Police Sergeant William Cameron of Ellenville, said Mario Centorilli Jr., 18, of Corona, L. I., was driving east on the highway and Viola Goldsmith, 50, of Ellenville, was traveling westerly when she lost control of her car on a curve and the vehicles collided.

The injured woman was taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, by the Pine Bush Rescue Squad. Her injuries were not immediately determined, troopers said.

42 Cuban Refugees Arrive in 5 Boats

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Forty-two refugees have arrived from Cuba this week in five small boats despite increased fortification of Cuban coasts.

Fishermen arriving from Havana Province Wednesday said a stretch of about 100 miles of the north coast is "solid with fortifications of concrete, wire, trenches, cannon, machineguns and tanks."

The Cuban Refugee Center said this week's arrivals brought to 7,000 the number of small boat escapes it has recorded since June 1961.

Weather Affects Sonic Booms: FAA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tests over Oklahoma City show that over Oklahoma City show that cloud layers, winds, turbulence, varying air temperatures or densities occasionally can greatly magnify sonic booms or deaden them to whispers, the Federal Aviation Agency reports.

This means that it is more difficult than sound engineers formerly believed to forecast accurately the volume of the sonic boom produced by a given airplane flying at a specified speed and altitude.

FAA engineers say they can still make such predictions accurately for ground areas directly below the sky track of a supersonic airplane.

The sonic boom distortions show up for the most part off to either side of the plane's course. For "off-course" communities a sonic boom can be greater than expected or so slight as almost to escape detection.

In case you haven't heard one, a sonic boom is a sound resembling an explosion. It's produced when a shock wave formed at the nose of an aircraft traveling at supersonic speed reaches the ground.

In conducting the Oklahoma City tests, the FAA was looking ahead to future overland flights of supersonic transport planes.

At a news conference Wednesday, FAA Administrator N. E. Halaby said again that the sonic boom "is a more serious problem than we thought a year ago, in that we are getting what I call overbooming."

Halaby said there was no plan to continue the Oklahoma City boom flights beyond their planned expiration date next month.

Scholars presume that Julius Caesar gave the name of Hibernia to Ireland.

Plattekill Woman Hurt

Struck by a dump truck as she walked along Route 32 near Plattekill at 3 p. m. Wednesday, Catherine Orlovski, 72, of Mill Road, that community, suffered injuries of the right foot and leg. Trooper J. F. Czaplicki of Highland said the woman was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Mahan.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—American business is riding a profit wave as spectacular as any challenged by the surfboard set. A flood of earnings reports for the second quarter is starting. Early tallies and estimates reveal only a small minority of companies that aren't doing better than a year ago. Many are reporting new highs for the quarter. Some are setting records for any three-month period in their history.

Encourages Bulls
The good news is encouraging the bulls in the stock market.

Also gladdened are the hearts of shareholders who hope for further increases in dividends. The U.S. Treasury will be a big winner, too. Even at the lowered tax rates on corporate incomes, the record gross earnings will mean a flow of tax receipts. The bigger-than-expected jump in profits in the being extended through the latest period. Earliest reports are from corporations with fiscal years ending ahead of the calendar year, so that their second quarter books were closed before June 30. But the nation's banks are reporting for the April - May-June quarter and most of them show gains over last year. Officials of many of the large corporations yet to report formally also are on record as estimating that the gain over last year will be substantial.

Steel in Later
Among the big companies already reporting increased earnings are American Telephone & Telegraph, Firestone Tire & Rubber and Douglas Aircraft. Preliminary estimates also put Du Pont and Parke, Davis & Co. in this group. Most steel companies are expected to join the list by the end of the month. The big motor companies are considered sure members of the club. Retail chains reporting so far are almost all in the plus column. Included are J. C. Penney, R. H. Macy, Federated Department Stores, Bullock's, Marshall Field, May Department Stores, Associated Dry Goods, Allied Stores, Russeks, and Lane Bryant.

Executives of a number of the nation's largest corporations are on record as predicting that the rate of the profit increases may slow a bit in coming months but that the figures will stay well above those of a year ago. They, like many stock traders already have put 1964 down in the books as the most profitable, in terms of dollar totals, in American business history.

Music Center
Nashville, Tenn., ranks second only to New York City as the largest center of the music industry in the United States because of the increasing popularity of country-flavored music.

Crushed by Tractor
TROY, N.Y. (AP) — A Troy laundry executive was found dead Wednesday under an overturned tractor in Stephentown, where he had been clearing a lot he owned, police reported. The body of Alwyn E. Strait, 74, president of Snow White Laundry, was discovered by a nephew after Strait filed to return home from the nearby hamlet. Coroner Thomas A. Styles said the tractor apparently struck a stump and tipped over Tuesday.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—American business is riding a profit wave as spectacular as any challenged by the surfboard set. A flood of earnings reports for the second quarter is starting. Early tallies and estimates reveal only a small minority of companies that aren't doing better than a year ago. Many are reporting new highs for the quarter. Some are setting records for any three-month period in their history.

Encourages Bulls

The good news is encouraging the bulls in the stock market.

Also gladdened are the hearts of shareholders who hope for further increases in dividends. The U.S. Treasury will be a big winner, too. Even at the lowered tax rates on corporate incomes, the record gross earnings will mean a flow of tax receipts. The bigger-than-expected jump in profits in the being extended through the latest period. Earliest reports are from corporations with fiscal years ending ahead of the calendar year, so that their second quarter books were closed before June 30. But the nation's banks are reporting for the April - May-June quarter and most of them show gains over last year. Officials of many of the large corporations yet to report formally also are on record as estimating that the gain over last year will be substantial.

Steel in Later

Among the big companies already reporting increased earnings are American Telephone & Telegraph, Firestone Tire & Rubber and Douglas Aircraft. Preliminary estimates also put Du Pont and Parke, Davis & Co. in this group. Most steel companies are expected to join the list by the end of the month. The big motor companies are considered sure members of the club.

Retail chains reporting so far are almost all in the plus column. Included are J. C. Penney, R. H. Macy, Federated Department Stores, Bullock's, Marshall Field, May Department Stores, Associated Dry Goods, Allied Stores, Russeks, and Lane Bryant.

Executives of a number of the nation's largest corporations are on record as predicting that the rate of the profit increases may slow a bit in coming months but that the figures will stay well above those of a year ago.

They, like many stock traders already have put 1964 down in the books as the most profitable, in terms of dollar totals, in American business history.

Music Center

Nashville, Tenn., ranks second only to New York City as the largest center of the music industry in the United States because of the increasing popularity of country-flavored music.

Crushed by Tractor

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — A Troy laundry executive was found dead Wednesday under an overturned tractor in Stephentown, where he had been clearing a lot he owned, police reported. The body of Alwyn E. Strait, 74, president of Snow White Laundry, was discovered by a nephew after Strait filed to return home from the nearby hamlet.

Coroner Thomas A. Styles said the tractor apparently struck a stump and tipped over Tuesday.

JFK Death, GOP Split Made Difference*Top Presidential Candidates Confident Today; Not So in '63

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater act like men who have it made. Yet, a year ago, Johnson couldn't have dreamed of it. And Goldwater probably wouldn't have bet on it.

Johnson, with the Democratic presidential nomination locked up, is playing mum in this month of July while the Republicans are making up their minds on someone to match him.

Goldwater, looking surer of nomination than anyone in sight has been letting the anti-Goldwater forces do the talking as they barge around looking for support that seems slow in coming.

It wasn't like this for Johnson or Goldwater a year ago.

Relied on JFK

Then President Kennedy, in health and with no opposition in sight, had no problem about being renominated this year. The best Johnson could have hoped for was getting re-elected vice president for another four years.

Maybe then, at the end of two terms for Kennedy, he might put in his bid for the presidency.

This time a year ago, Goldwater fans were working around the country for him. And lot of Republican support with he himself had drummed up a his fund-raising speeches for the party. But he was still saying he wasn't a candidate.

It wasn't clear who might be. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon had damaged himself by losing his race for the governorship of California in 1962.

And New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, while suspected of presidential ambitions, had no inside track. Yet, Goldwater and Rockefeller were the only real prospects in sight.

Goldwater in the spring of 1963 had commented on talk that he and Rockefeller were the two main Republican hopes: "If we're so hard up that we have only Rockefeller and Goldwater, we're in a hell of a shape."

This was while he was still saying all he wanted was re-election to the Senate. His chances must have begun to look better to him as the summer wore on.

Reserved Convention Rooms

In September 1963, it was learned he had reserved the entire 15th floor in a hotel in San Francisco for this July when the Republican convention was being held there.

Yet, a little more than a week later, he was telling newsmen who asked if he was going to try for the presidency: "I've said a thousand times I'm going to run for the Senate, nothing more."

On Jan. 3, 1964, he announced

his candidacy. And meanwhile, the assassination of Kennedy last November thrust Johnson into the presidency with no one to challenge his nomination at the Democratic convention next month.

The president is far and away the more experienced politician. He came to Congress in 1937.

Goldwater served several years on the city council in Phoenix, Ariz., but he didn't hit big-time politics until he came to the Senate in 1953.

and Rockefeller were the only real prospects in sight.
Goldwater in the spring of 1963 had commented on talk that he and Rockefeller were the two main Republican hopes: "If we're so hard up that we have only Rockefeller and Goldwater, we're in a hell of a shape."
This was while he was still saying all he wanted was re-election to the Senate. His chances must have begun to look better to him as the summer wore on.

Reserved Convention Rooms
In September 1963, it was learned he had reserved the entire 15th floor in a hotel in San Francisco for this July when the Republican convention was being held there.
Yet, a little more than a week later, he was telling newsmen who asked if he was going to try for the presidency: "I've said a thousand times I'm going to run for the Senate, nothing more."
On Jan. 3, 1964, he announced

his candidacy. And meanwhile, the assassination of Kennedy last November thrust Johnson into the presidency with no one to challenge his nomination at the Democratic convention next month.
The president is far and away the more experienced politician. He came to Congress in 1937.
Goldwater served several years on the city council in Phoenix, Ariz., but he didn't hit big-time politics until he came to the Senate in 1953.

Former Principal of KHS Is Director

'Automated Kindergarten' Helps Youngsters to Teach Themselves

A former principal of Kingston High School is director of a unique "automated kindergarten" project in the Freeport, L. I. public schools where 20 youngsters have taught themselves to read at second grade level in a five-month period — without benefit of teachers.

In Kingston Three Years

He is John Henry Martin, superintendent of the Freeport public schools, who served as KHS principal from June 1949 to January 1952.

Dr. Martin headed a state-sanctioned research on the project in which 20 five-year-olds used the $30,000 Edison Responsive Environment device — a machine that not only can teach children to read, but reputedly does a better job than a human teacher.

Results of the research project during the period between January and June, were submitted in a report widely circulated by the Metropolitan New York area newspapers and the Associated Press.

Dr. Martin's report showed that at the end of the research period, the 20 youngsters who participated in the project were more than a month and a half ahead of a matched group of 20 children taught by traditional reading methods. Under normal conditions, it was noted, none of the children would have received formal reading instruction until they were six.

The Edison machine permits the child to type letters, words and sentences that are then reproduced on a screen and spoken by the machine. Some of the results are more than evident of the machine's value.

Rapid Advancement

pating in the project, according to school officials. Five months ago she couldn't read anything.

Dr. Martin also cited the case of an 18-year-old Freeport High School junior, who didn't participate in the experiment but who later used the machine. The youth, who in January had a vocabulary of less than 30 words, was pictured by Dr. Martin as the "walking example of the American (school) dropout" before he started using the machine. He said that the youth had disguised his inability to read until he lost a job which he obtained through the school, because he couldn't properly label equipment in the warehouse where he worked.

According to the Thomas Alva Edison Research Laboratory of the McGraw-Edison Company, developers of the ERE, here is how the machine works:

A child working the "talking typewriter" alone in the booth with the machine, hits any key on the multi-colored keyboard, causing the ERE to respond by pronouncing the letter as well as typing it. He then presumably "discovers" how letters, symbols and numerals look and sound. Eventually, this progresses into words, sentences and finally stories.

Machine 'Informs' Child

The machine thus "informs" the child what he has typed and also directs him to type according to pre-planned programs, in which case all incorrect keys are automatically blocked so that he finds the correct one.

Researchers also found that children with lower intelligence showed as much relative gain as brighter children, and that there was no apparent influence on scores according to race or sex.

James E. Allen, state education commissioner, had high praise for the ex-Kingstonian and his project.

Allen Praises Project

"Freeport, under Superintendent Martin's leadership, has made a highly important contribution to research and innovation in education through their experiment with the ERE instrument. The results are exciting and I hope will stimulate other communities to explore the potentialities of this instrument as a teacher of reading."

Dr. Martin, who has been a school teacher, principal, college professor and public school superintendent for almost a quarter of a century, is well-known in the Mid-Hudson Valley area, and has appeared as speaker before many groups in the area since he left Kingston.

Dr. Martin served as a lieutenant commander in the Navy in World War II and held a post on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He also served a year as civilian consultant to the JCS. He has authored numerous articles, mostly on educational subjects, many of which appeared in Look and Readers Digest.

Tucker Upheld By Appellate on Inheritance View

A decision of Ulster County Surrogate Francis X. Tucker, which held that residents of Russia and Iron Curtain countries may receive an inheritance left them by deceased friends or relatives in New York, has been unanimously upheld by the Appellate Division, New York State Supreme Court, Third Department.

Was Shawangunk Resident

Under the decision affirmed Tuesday by the Appellate Division, the State is directed to turn over to five beneficiaries in Poland nearly $2,000 which was left them by Maciej Saniuk, who died in the town of Shawangunk 24 years ago. The money had been held under law by the Ulster County Treasurer for several years and on April 5, 1961, was transmitted to the Comptroller of New York State where it had remained on deposit.

Under the estate of Maciej Saniuk, which was settled on June 24, 1940, several shares of his estate were left to distributees who resided in Poland. Under a Treasury Department regulation when there is no "reasonable assurance" that the payee of checks and warrants in the Soviet Union will be able to receive them and be able to negotiate them at full value, the regulation states that the monies are to be taken over and held by the state comptroller.

Surrogate Tucker in his decision held that while the Treasury Department regulation states that a surrogate has the authority to withhold payment of an estate funds payable to beneficiaries who would not have the benefit or use or control of the money, that the burden of establishing whether the beneficiary would receive the benefit rests with that person.

Surrogate Tucker held that the surrogate must consider all relevant factors in reaching a decision.

Could Open Door

In many cases other surrogates have relied on the United States Treasury regulations and there is undoubtedly a very large amount of money being withheld.

The Tucker decision will undoubtedly open the door for actions in numerous other cases.

In his decision that in the Saniuk case the beneficiaries were entitled to receive the money, Surrogate Tucker based his opinion on letters from the U. S. consul in Moscow, the American Express Company and other information supplied by the beneficiaries to the effect that they would receive it and outlining what use they would put the money to if received. The consul gave assurance that the beneficiaries would receive the money and the Express company gave assurance that it could transmit the money personally to the beneficiaries.

Surrogate Tucker held that the court could take into consideration the appropriate Treasury regulation "but not as the exclusive consideration." If it was so intended to be, Tucker held, "the Legislature could so state."

In upholding the decision of Surrogate Tucker, the Appellate Division said the Treasury regulation was not "mandatory but merely gives a surrogate board discretion in situation such as the present one to effectuate the decedent's intention."

The Appellate Division in upholding Surrogate Tucker directs the release of the money and its transmittal by American Express to the petitioners for distribution as directed in the decision of Surrogate Tucker by his decision of September 18, 1963.

Coast Guard Is Alerted to Aid Troubled Vessel

The 60-foot motorized brigantine sailing vessel with 27 Canadian sea cadets headed down river to the World's Fair, continues to be plagued by trouble.

As The Freeman went to press it was reported the St. Lawrence II was still stalled at a point near Athens, but help was on the way.

The brigantine was scheduled to dock at Kingston yesterday to permit the skipper to present the greetings from Kingston, Ontario to Mayor John J. Schwenk, but became stuck in a mud bank.

Following a 10-hour wait, the vessel was freed by the incoming tide, but now has starter trouble.

The Coast Guard station at Turkey Point, Saugerties had been alerted and was sending a crew by truck to Athens in charge of Chester B. Clunt to help them solve the engine trouble.

Mayor Schwenk was also on his way to Athens in hopes of getting aboard the vessel to exchange greetings there. This will permit the brigantine to continue, when repairs are made, without stopping at Kingston.

This was the third incident causing delay in the vessel's voyage from Kingston, Ontario, where it left on July 1.

The ship developed trouble at Brewerton on Oneida Lake where the propeller shaft was replaced.

Skipper of the vessel is Capt. Francis MacLachlan and the crew consists of 27 cadets in the 14 to 16 age bracket.

The vessel is part of a flotilla of sailing ships in Operation Sail Past in which 11 nations are participating.

Says Money Sent To Help Him for Chasing Negroes

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A restaurateur who pulled a pistol to chase away three Negroes, says he has since been receiving financial support from over the country to aid his legal fight.

"Only today, a businessman walked in with $100," Lester Maddox said. "It's not primarily merchants who're sending in money, but they're the ones who've got the most to lose by integrating."

Maddox, 48, refused to say how much he has received since last Friday, when three Negroes tried to eat at his restaurant.

"We don't have much money yet but it's increasing daily," he added, "and it shows a wonderful expansion of support."

When the Negro theological students attempted to integrate the restaurant, Maddox drew a pistol and provided ax handles for his customers and employees.

The Negroes left, but one of the students swore out a warrant against Maddox on a pistol-pointing charge.

"I'll go to jail before I integrate," Maddox said. "And I'll take any suit all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court to see if Lester Maddox is right or the Constitution is dead."

After hearing conflicting testimony as to whether Maddox pointed a pistol at the three students, a Fulton Civil Court judge said Wednesday there was "a justifiable issue" for a jury to decide.

Maddox was ordered held for trial in criminal court under $1,000 bond.

The restaurant owner said his business has increased 25 to 40 per cent in volume since Friday.

Scranton Has Floor Today Before Platform Committee

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton brings his underdog campaign for the presidential nomination to Republican delegates gathered here today.

Scranton has the floor of the Republican platform committee, where his outnumbered followers have been trying to build a launching pad for the kind of superthrust takeoff Scranton would have to achieve to catch up with Sen. Barry Goldwater by the time the convention votes next week.

Not Much Impression

The Pennsylvania's supporters have tried various gambits, all designed to hobble the front-running Arizona senator, but there was no sign they had made much impression on the platform committee. Most of its 105 members favor Goldwater.

The Scrantonites kept thrusting, however, and some talked of a fight over the platform on the convention floor if they lose in the committee.

One ripple stirred the platform committee Wednesday when a pro-Scranton member accused it of railroaded procedures and demanded changes. But the matter was quickly settled.

Rep. Silvio O. Conte of Massachusetts made the move and got the support of some committee members, mostly from the East. He especially demanded guarantees that the finished draft of the platform, being written under the direction of a 13-member executive committee, would be delivered to members in time for them to prepare amendments if they wished.

'Automated Kindergarten' Helps Youngsters to Teach Themselves

A former principal of Kingston High School is director of a unique "automated kindergarten" project in the Freeport, L. I. public schools where 20 youngsters have taught themselves to read at second grade level in a five-month period — without benefit of teachers.

In Kingston Three Years

He is John Henry Martin, superintendent of the Freeport public schools, who served as KHS principal from June 1949 to January 1952.

Dr. Martin headed a state-sanctioned research on the project in which 20 five-year-olds used the $30,000 Edison Responsive Environment device — a machine that not only can teach children to read, but reputedly does a better job than a human teacher.

Results of the research project during the period between January and June, were submitted in a report Wednesday by Dr. Martin, which was widely circulated by the Metropolitan New York area newspapers and the Associated Press.

Dr. Martin's report showed that at the end of the research period, the 20 youngsters who participated in the project were more than a month and a half ahead of a matched group of 20 children taught by traditional reading methods. Under normal conditions, it was noted, none of the children would have received formal reading instruction until they were six.

The Edison machine permits the child to type letters, words and sentences that are then reproduced on a screen and spoken by the machine. Some of the results are more than evident of the machine's value.

Rapid Advancement

pating in the project, according to school officials. Five months ago she couldn't read anything.

Dr. Martin also cited the case of an 18-year-old Freeport High School junior, who didn't participate in the experiment but who later used the machine. The youth, who in January had a vocabulary of less than 30 words, was pictured by Dr. Martin as the "walking example of the American (school) dropout" before he started using the machine. He said that the youth had disguised his inability to read until he lost a job which he obtained through the school, because he couldn't properly label equipment in the warehouse where he worked.

According to the Thomas Alva Edison Research Laboratory of the McGraw-Edison Company, developers of the ERE, here is how the machine works:

A child working the "talking typewriter" alone in the booth with the machine, hits any key on the multi-colored keyboard, causing the ERE to respond by pronouncing the letter as well as typing it. He then presumably "discovers" how letters, symbols and numerals look and sound. Eventually, this progresses into words, sentences and finally stories.

Machine 'Informs' Child

The machine thus "informs" the child what he has typed and also directs him to type according to pre-planned programs, in which case all incorrect keys are automatically blocked so that he finds the correct one.

Researchers also found that children with lower intelligence showed as much relative gain as brighter children, and that there was no apparent influence on scores according to race or sex.

James E. Allen, state education commissioner, had high praise for the ex-Kingstonian and his project.

Allen Praises Project

"Freeport, under Superintendent Martin's leadership, has made a highly important contribution to research and innovation in education through their experiment with the ERE instituent. The results are exciting and I hope will stimulate other communities to explore the potentialities of this instrument as a teacher of reading."

Dr. Martin, who has been a school teacher, principal, college professor and public school superintendent for almost a quarter of a century, is well-known in the Mid-Hudson Valley area, and has appeared as speaker before many groups in the area since he left Kingston.

Dr. Martin served as a lieutenant commander in the Navy in World War II and held a post on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He also served a year as civilian consultant to the JCS. He has authored numerous articles, mostly on educational subjects, many of which appeared in Look and Readers Digest.

Tucker Upheld By Appellate on Inheritance View

A decision of Ulster County Surrogate Francis X. Tucker, which held that residents of Russia and Iron Curtain countries may receive an inheritance left them by deceased friends or relatives in New York, has been unanimously upheld by the Appellate Division, New York State Supreme Court, Third Department.

Was Shawangunk Resident

Under the decision affirmed Tuesday by the Appellate Division the State is directed to turn over to five beneficiaries in Poland nearly $2,000 which was left them by Maciej Saniuk, who died in the town of Shawangunk 24 years ago. The money had been held under law by the Ulster County Treasurer for several years and on April 5, 1961, was transmitted to the Comptroller of New York State where it had remained on deposit.

Under the estate of Maciej Saniuk, which was settled on June 24, 1940, several shares of his estate were left to distributees who resided in Poland. Under a Treasury Department regulation when there is no "reasonable assurance" that the payee of checks and warrants in the Soviet Union will be able to receive them and be able to negotiate them at full value, the regulation states that the monies are to be taken over and held by the state comptroller.

Surrogate Tucker in his decision held that while the Treasury Department regulation states that a surrogate has the authority to withhold payment of an estate funds payable to beneficiaries who would not have the benefit of use or control of the money, the burden of establishing whether the beneficiary would receive the benefit rests with that person.

Surrogate Tucker held that the surrogate must consider all relevant factors in reaching a decision.

Could Open Door

In many cases other surrogates have relied on the United States Treasury regulations and there is undoubtedly a very large amount of money being withheld. The Tucker decision will undoubtedly open the door for actions in numerous other cases.

In his decision that in the Saniuk case the beneficiaries were entitled to receive the money, Surrogate Tucker based his opinion on letters from the U. The consul gave assurance that the beneficiaries would receive the money and the Express company gave assurance that it could transmit the money personally to the beneficiaries.

Surrogate Tucker held that the court could take into consideration the appropriate Treasury regulation "but not as the exclusive consideration." If it was intended to be, Tucker held, "the Legislature could so state."

In upholding the decision of Surrogate Tucker, the Appellate Division said the Treasury regulation was not "mandatory but merely gives a surrogate board discretion in situation such as the present one to effectuate the decedent's intention."

The Appellate Division in upholding Surrogate Tucker directs the release of the money and its transmittal by American Express to the petitioners for distribution as directed in the decision of Surrogate Tucker by his decision of September 18, 1963.

Scranton Has Floor Today Before Platform Committee

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton brings his underdog campaign for the presidential nomination to Republican delegates gathered here today.

Scranton has the floor of the Republican platform committee, where his outnumbered followers have been trying to build a launching pad for the kind of superthrust takeoff Scranton would have to achieve to catch up with Sen. Barry Goldwater by the time the convention votes next week.

Not Much Impression

The Pennsylvania's supporters have tried various gambits, all designed to hobble the front-running Arizona senator, but there was no sign they had made much impression on the platform committee. Most of its 105 members favor Goldwater. The Scrantonites kept thrusting, however, and some talked of a fight over the platform on the convention floor if they lose in the committee.

One ripple stirred the platform committee Wednesday when a pro-Scranton member accused it of railroaded procedures and demanded changes. But the matter was quickly settled.

Rep. Silvio O. Conte of Massachusetts made the move and got the support of some committee members, mostly from the East. He especially demanded guarantees that the finished draft of the platform, being written under the direction of a 13-member executive committee, would be delivered to members in time for them to prepare amendments if they wished.

Misunderstanding

Later Rep. Melvin R. Laird of

Wisconsin, platform committee chairman, conferred privately with Conte and afterward said there had been a misunderstanding and very little real disagreement. He said the procedures already agreed to give members more than the three hours suggested by Conte for drafting proposed changes before voting on the items in the platform being.

Conte promised he and like-minded members of the platform committee will offer a series of proposed planks and will never compromise on the content of major proposals. For example, he said, they will insist on a plank on extremist movements that denounces by name The John Birch Society.

Other proposed planks, he said, will deal with federal aid to education, retaining in presidential hands control over the use of nuclear weapons, opposition to a federal "right to work" law, and civil rights.

Opportunities There

All these topics offer opportunities to challenge Goldwater on positions he has taken — or at least which his opponents say he has taken.

Laird said he hopes to have ready Friday night for committee consideration and possible approval the two first sections of the platform; a statement of principles and what the Republicans call an "indictment" of President Johnson's administration.

Then, Laird said, the committee would go back into closed session Saturday to consider the sections on domestic and on foreign policy and security matters. Laird was optimistic that the committee might have a document ready by Saturday night for submission to the convention.

Kingston Going To Convention of School Boards

Donald E. Gray of Elmira Heights, president of the New York State School Boards Association, said today that the association's 45th annual convention will be Oct. 25-27 in Syracuse. Theme of the convention, he said, will be "The American Dream Begins in the Classroom."

David Kline, president of the Kingston Consolidated Schools Board of Education, said that it was expected that the local school board would be represented at the state convention, as in the past. He said it was not known as yet who would attend from Kingston.

Some 4,000 school officials attend the annual convention which features outstanding speakers. Consultants from a variety of state agencies will be on hand at the fall convention to assist school board members and administrators with local problems, a state association spokesman said. He said representatives of more than 150 companies also will be available to display their equipment and supplies, and to explain their services.

Northwestern Utah's Great Salt Lake averages only 15 feet in depth, although it has an area of more than 15,000 square miles. Few living things can survive the lake's salt content of almost 25 per cent.

Electronic phones will permit two persons talking to punch a special number, then the number of a third person, and bring the third person, into the conversation.

Nine Hurt

52, who suffered head injuries, and Gertrude McQueen, 41, who sustained chest and other injuries, were treated at Benedictine Hospital and later they accompanied their daughter in the ambulance to Albany, it was reported.

List of Injured

Others injured in the accident were listed in hospital records as:

Carl Congin, 37, of 334 Arbor Drive, South San Francisco, Calif., who suffered leg injuries. Katherine Congin, 36, same address, wife of Carl, sustained chest injuries. She was admitted at the hospital for further treatment and observation.

Frank Congin, 46, same address, treated and released.

Frank Congin, 14, treated and released.

Teresa Congin, 7, treated and released.

Skids on Wet Road

According to available information early this afternoon, Mrs. Gertrude McQueen reportedly was driving a car south on the Thruway when the vehicle skidded sideways on wet pavement into the north bound lane where it was in collision with the other car reportedly operated by Carl Congin.

Official reports of the collision could not be learned. The investigating troopers were not available. It was reported they were dispatched to the New Paltz area shortly after 11 a. m. to investigate an accident, unofficially reported as serious. No details of that mishap were available.

A late report from the Kingston Thruway troopers said the second accident, which might have resulted in a fatality, occurred about two miles south of New Paltz. A car, reportedly occupied by two women and a man went out of control and over-

Suspect Fire Set That Damaged Auto

A fire of suspected incendiary origin damaged an abandoned 1961 Studebaker sedan on a lot near the Clark lumber yard, Taylor Street Wednesday afternoon and the blaze threatened damage to a lumber shed.

A telephone call at 4:03 p. m., was followed by an alarm from Box 1621, Taylor Street and Hurley Avenue. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Excelsior and Wicks Company responded with Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge.

Firemen found the car fully involved in flame when they arrived. A hose line was used. The blaze was dangerously close to the shed but it was not damaged. William VanCleave, of 61 Hurley Avenue, was listed as owner of the car, and the lot on which it was parked is owned by Clifford Jackson, of 60 Wilkie Avenue.

'Peddler's Fair'

Henry II chartered Caledonian Market as a peddler's fair about 1242. One of three open air selling enclosures in London, this market is much older than the famed Flea Market.

Tweed's Fate

William Tweed, the New York City political boss was jailed, but escaped to Spain. The Spanish government later returned him to the United States, where he died in prison.

Coast Guard Is Alerted to Aid Troubled Vessel

The 60-foot motorized brigantine sailing vessel with 27 Canadian sea cadets headed down river to the World's Fair, continues to be plagued by trouble.

As The Freeman went to press it was reported the St. Lawrence II was still stalled at a point near Athens, but help was on the way.

The brigantine was scheduled to dock at Kingston yesterday to permit the skipper to present the greetings from Kingston, Ontario to Mayor John J. Schwenk, but became stuck in a mud bank.

Following a 10-hour wait, the vessel was freed by the incoming tide, but now has starter trouble.

The Coast Guard station at Turkey Point, Saugerties had been alerted and was sending a crew by truck to Athens in charge of Chester B. Clunt to help them solve the engine trouble.

Mayor Schwenk was also on his way to Athens in hopes of getting aboard the vessel to exchange greetings there. This will permit the brigantine to continue, when repairs are made, without stopping at Kingston.

This was the third incident causing delay in the vessel's voyage from Kingston, Ontario, where it left on July 1.

The ship developed trouble at Brewerton on Oneida Lake where the propeller shaft was replaced.

Skipper of the vessel is Capt. Francis MacLellan and the crew consists of 27 cadets in the 14 to 16 age bracket.

The vessel is part of a flotilla of sailing ships in Operation Sail Past in which 11 nations are participating.

Prince Siddhartha was the original name of Gautama Buddha, founder of Buddhism.

Mediation Is Dropped by GE, Union Till 10th

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — The General Electric Co. and the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) have recessed mediation talks in the wake of the union's bid to win a court injunction to block GE's plan to cancel piecework rates.

Company and union representatives conferred for more than three hours with federal mediators Wednesday, then decided to postpone further sessions until Friday.

It was the second day of talks on the issue.

Meanwhile, the IUE filed for a temporary injunction against GE in the U.S. District Court in New York City. The injunction would bar GE from changing any part of a three-year contract dealing with piecework rates.

The company had said it would switch from piecework to day-wage rates for 3,000 employees, beginning next Monday.

It was reported here that Judge Sylvester J. Ryan had declined to act on the union's application while mediation sessions were under way. Both sides were to return for a hearing today.

Boy Killed on Highway

Gary Ranier, 8, of Far Rockaway, Queens, was killed Wednesday at Fallsburgh when he was struck by a car on Route 104 in that Sullivan County village. The driver was not held.

Ask For Help!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 15. She ran off with her boy friend, who is 18. They called us the next day from another state and said they were married. They stayed away ten days and then wired me for money to get their car fixed so they could come home. I sent them the money and they came home. When I questioned them about their marriage their answers were very vague, so I became suspicious and asked to see their marriage certificate. They said they lost it. I told them they were not going to share a bedroom in my home unless they could prove they were man and wife. The boy's mother let them stay at her house, and said she trusted them. The boy quit school, can't hold a job and he talked my daughter into quitting school to run off with him. I don't think they ever got married, and it wouldn't surprise me if my daughter were in a family way. We are good Christian people, and this is a disgrace. What should I do?

SORROWING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Ask your clergyman to talk to the young people. And the boy's mother, too. If they are not married, perhaps it would be better if they stayed that way until the boy grew up.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine sold her car last year, and now when she needs transportation, she never calls a cab, she calls me. I know for a fact that I have saved her over $100 in cab fares. She has never once offered to pay for gasoline or parking. She just hops out of the car and says, "Thanks a lot."

Last week I got news that some house guests were coming. I was pressed for time so I asked this friend of mine if she would bake me a cake. (She is a very good baker.) She said, "Why don't you order one from Mrs. X? She's in the business." I felt as if I had been slapped in the face! What would you have done?

SPEECHLESS

DEAR SPEECHLESS: I would have called Mrs. X and given her the order. And the next time your "friend" calls for a free ride, refer her to a cab company, which is "in the business."

DEAR ABBY: Will you please explain the difference between FORMAL, INFORMAL and SEMI-FORMAL attire for men who want to be properly dressed? Everyone I ask has a different opinion. Thank you.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: According to Mr. B. Wien, President of the National Association of Retail Clothing Manufacturers, FORMAL is the ultimate in formal attire. It calls for white tie and tails, and is strictly for after 6 P. M. INFORMAL calls for a suit. Preferably dark. (No tuxedo or sports coat.) SEMI-FORMAL requires a tuxedo — sometimes called "black tie." Dark tuxedos are proper for all-year-round wear, but from Decoration Day until Labor Day, white or pastel tuxedo jackets are also proper.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. S. J.: Accept the fact that gratitude sometimes has a short memory. It's the same old story, "the dentist gets paid last because the tooth has stopped aching."

GOP Will Win If United, Is Goldwater View

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, front-running candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said today the party faces "a tough job" in the race against President Johnson—but added, "This is going to be a Republican year."

"United we will win," Goldwater said in an address prepared for an airport rally on his arrival in San Francisco for the Republican National Convention.

The Arizona senator made the transcontinental trip in a two-engine chartered plane, switching from a commercial airliner at the last minute.

"I expect that all Republicans will leave San Francisco to beat Lyndon B. Johnson and win the presidency of the United States," he said.

Goldwater was quoted Tuesday as saying "as of now" no Republican could beat Johnson. He added in a June 29 interview with the German magazine Der Spiegel, "On Election Day there is going to be another horse race."

"I know that we have a tough job ahead," he said today. "I also know that this is going to be a Republican year all across the country, from statehouse to courthouse and from Congress to the White House."

"I know that you are going to come out of this convention united and fighting — not with each other but with the Johnson administration and its failing foreign policy, its phony fiscal policy and its attempt to spend its way to political power," Goldwater said.

He added that "so-called popularity polls" will not win re-election for Johnson.

"I am here today because of only one thing," Goldwater said, "the support of the people in the Republican party, right at the grass roots, who have honored me with their millions of votes, their millions of man hours, of selfless volunteer work and their personal, abiding dedication to this grand young party of ours."

Goldwater left Washington insisting that "nothing has been decided" about a vice-presidential running mate if he wins the presidential nomination.

I told them they were not going to share a bedroom in my home unless they could prove they were man and wife. The boy's mother let them stay at her house, and said she trusted them. The boy quit school, can't hold a job and he talked my daughter into quitting school to run off with him. I don't think they ever got married, and it wouldn't surprise me if my daughter were in a family way. We are good Christian people, and this is a disgrace. What should I do?

SORROWING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Ask your clergyman to talk to the young people. And the boy's mother, too. If they are not married, perhaps it would be better if they stayed that way until the boy grew up.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine sold her car last year, and now when she needs transportation, she never calls a cab, she calls me. I know for a fact that I have saved her over $100 in cab fares. She has never once offered to pay for gasoline or parking. She just hops out of the car and says, "Thanks a lot."

Last week I got news that some house guests were coming. I was pressed for time so I asked this friend of mine if she would bake me a cake. (She is a very good baker.) She said, "Why don't you order one from Mrs. X? She's in the business." I felt as if I had been slapped in the face! What would you have done?

SPEECHLESS

DEAR SPEECHLESS: I would have called Mrs. X and given her the order. And the next time your "friend" calls for a free ride, refer her to a cab company, which is "in the business."

DEAR ABBY: Will you please explain the difference between FORMAL, INFORMAL and SEMI-FORMAL attire for men who want to be properly dressed? Everyone I ask has a different opinion. Thank you.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: According to Mr. B. Wien, President of the National Association of Retail Clothing Manufacturers, FORMAL is the ultimate in formal attire. It calls for white tie and tails, and is strictly for after 6 P. M. INFORMAL calls for a suit. Preferably dark. (No tuxedo or sports coat.) SEMI-FORMAL requires a tuxedo — sometimes called "black tie." Dark tuxedos are proper for all-year-round wear, but from Decoration Day until Labor Day, white or pastel tuxedo jackets are also proper.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. S. J.: Accept the fact that gratitude sometimes has a short memory. It's the same old story, "the dentist gets paid last because the tooth has stopped aching."

GOP Will Win If United, Is Goldwater View

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, front-running candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said today the party faces "a tough job" in the race against President Johnson — but added, "This is going to be a Republican year."

"United we will win," Goldwater said in an address prepared for an airport rally on his arrival in San Francisco for the Republican National Convention.

The Arizona senator made the transcontinental trip in a two-engine chartered plane, switching from a commercial airliner at the last minute.

"I expect that all Republicans will leave San Francisco to beat Lyndon B. Johnson and win the presidency of the United States," he said.

Goldwater was quoted Tuesday as saying "as of now" no Republican could beat Johnson. He added in a June 29 interview with the German magazine Der Spiegel, "On Election Day there is going to be another horse race."

"I know that we have a tough job ahead," he said today. "I also know that this is going to be a Republican year all across the country, from statehouse to courthouse, and from Congress to the White House."

"I know that you are going to come out of this convention united and fighting — not with each other but with the Johnson administration and its failing foreign policy, its phony fiscal policy and its attempt to spend its way to political power," Goldwater said.

He added that "so-called popularity polls" will not win re-election for Johnson.

"I am here today because of only one thing," Goldwater said, "the support of the people in the Republican party, right at the grass roots, who have honored me with their millions of votes, their millions of man hours, of selfless volunteer work and their personal, abiding dedication to this grand young party of ours."

Goldwater left Washington insisting that "nothing has been decided" about a vice-presidential running mate if he wins the presidential nomination.

BERRY'S WORLD

"It was horrible, Mary . . . I dreamt I had 654 delegate votes and the 655th was shaking hands with Goldwater!"

Launch Drive To Free Africa From White Rule

By LOUIS M. NEVIN
LONDON (AP) — Rulers of Britain's former African colonies moved into a concerted drive today to free all Africans from white rule and unite their continent.

The drive was sparked by Kenya Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta at the opening business session Wednesday of the week-long conference of Commonwealth leaders.

In calm, measured tones, Kenyatta appealed to the other

Commonwealth premiers to form a united front on the question of African liberation and unity.

He called the roll of countries still ruled by whites but his aides said he would specifically attack the white minority governments in Southern Rhodesia and South Africa when the conference takes up the issue of "the progress of British territories towards independence." This will probably come up Friday.

Newer Generation Less Fanatic

Old Revolutionary Spark Seems To Be Disappearing in Russia

EDITOR'S NOTE — The old revolutionary spark seems to be disappearing in Russia; the newer generation is less fanatic. Preston Grover, Associated Press chief of bureau in Moscow for five years, tells why in the following third of four articles.

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet revolution gives much evidence of running down.

That is a development perhaps as pleasing to some Soviet people as to the people in the West.

This doesn't mean that the Soviet Union has stopped growing. It is growing quite fast. But it does mean that especially among the young, the zeal of the Founding Fathers for the pure faith is no longer what it was.

Premier Khrushchev himself gave dramatic evidence of that when he told a group of Hungarian factory workers that people expected, and should get, more than just enthusiastic party talk. They also wanted more goulash. "Goulash communism" as a catch phrase now is heard here, very privately.

Many Never Saw Lenin

Americans should not be astonished that much of the fanatic zeal is gone. They have seen the same thing in pioneer settlements in the West where religion was the dominant factor.

The circumstances and the motives are different, but the experiences have a certain parallel.

A few of the people who had struggled through the hard years before and after the revolution of 1917 still are in government, but many of those now in authority never saw Lenin. He died in 1924.

When Khrushchev set out to destroy the image of Stalin, it was a "purge" to clean up the party history. But it shook the faith of many.

The days of the old "barri-cades fighters" have given way to another generation is waiting to take over.

The glow has gone even from some of the heroes of those days when Communist doctrine called for weakening family ties so the influence of the party and government would be felt more. That, too, has changed. The family no longer is a thing to be despised, but to be encouraged and respected.

Moans From People

The state and party still make themselves felt as the basis of life in the Soviet Union. In children's pioneer organizations, in the Young Communist League, the young of the land still are indoctrinated with Communist precepts.

But there is increasing cynicism about the constant new drives of communism. In 1961, Khrushchev outlined at the party congress the project for bringing full-fledged communism to the country in 20 years.

The party editorialists, pulsed with enthusiasm, but the project brought audible moans from many Russians.

"I'll be an old man then, still poor, like my father," said a Russian salaried man, with a wife and one child.

With two generations already sacrificed to the building of communism, the present population is not delighted at the prospect of seeing a third generation go through the poverty mill. Increasingly they are able to make their voices heard, in a way never to have been thought of under Stalin.

But, Communism Lives

The sons and grandsons of the same farmers are simply not producing, and the government and party now are offering more and more inducement for individuals to work harder. Farmers are still the downtrodden part of the population.

All this doesn't justify any conclusion that communism itself is dead. Any Communist leader can point to great accomplishments in the country since 1917.

It is a safe bet that if the Russian people were asked to vote for or against communism, they would vote overwhelmingly for it. It wouldn't be 99.45 per cent, the way it is in the elections, but would be a monster vote. It is now their way of life. Next: After Khrushchev, what?

PASTOR PRESENTED WITH CAR—Grateful parishioners of the recently organized New Paltz Church of the Nazarene presented the Rev. Oliver Wirth, pastor and Mrs. Wirth with a new car at the recent Sunday school picnic at Forsyth Park. The church was organized March 17, 1963 with 27 members. The present membership is 69. Sunday school rooms in the basement of the church have just been completed and new pews completing the furnishings in the main building were dedicated in June. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wirth reside in Hurley. They have two children Marilyn Wirth and the Rev. Ronald Wirth who is pastor of the Nazarene Church in Hyannisport, Mass.

New Paltz Firemen List Route of Parade

The New Paltz Fire Department made available this week the parade route of the Centennial Celebration to be held on Saturday. All units will assemble by 3:30 p. m. on North Mannheim Boulevard and adjacent village streets. The parade will begin promptly at 4 p. m.

The line of march will move out of North Mannheim Boulevard and proceed down Main Street to North Front Street, to North Church Street, to Broadhead Avenue and North Chestnut Street. The participants will then move along North Chestnut Street to Main Street, up Main to Plattekill Avenue, terminating in the area east of the firehouse and village garages.

Refreshments for parade participants will be served on the campus school ballfield.

The parade will be headed by a Color Guard followed by a musical unit and the host company, the New Paltz Fire Department. Next in line will be the float entries from Explorer Post 77, the New Paltz Garden Club and the VFW Post. A musical unit will precede the Scorsby Hose Company of Ellenville which is to be followed by the float entry of the New Paltz Rod and Gun Club and the Clintonville Fire Department.

Appearing next in line will be the floats of the New Paltz JCs and Jaycees, the Cub Scouts and the Modena Fire Department. Following Modena will be a musical organization, then Ulster Hose Fire Department, the floats of the New Paltz Lions Club, the League of Women Voters and the American Legion.

Another musical organization will be next in line, followed by the Gardiner Fire Department, the float entry of the Ski Club, then the Tilton Fire Department. The 4-H Club float entry will conclude the parade.

Throughout the current week, the Reithoffer Shows have been playing to capacity crowds on the Campus School Athletic Field.

Awards will be presented Saturday. Carnival chairman is Peter Savago, fire chief.

Air Force Is Firm on ROAMA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force refused today to halt the closing of the Rome, N.Y., Air Materiel Area (ROAMA), despite a finding by the General Accounting Office that some of the claimed savings were overestimated.

"We are convinced the General Accounting Office (GAO) report does not raise questions which would merit any change in the decision to close ROAMA," Air Force Secretary Eugene Zuckert said in a letter to three New York Republican members of Congress.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, and Kenneth B. Keating and Rep. Alexander Pirnie had asked the Air Force to hold up its decision to close the base until the move could be justified to their satisfaction.

New Obstacle Erupts In Hydro Power Plan

QUEBEC (AP) — A new obstacle has developed to a vast plan to bring hydroelectric power from Labrador's Hamilton Falls to New York State.

Quebec's Provincial Premier Jean Lesage announced Wednesday that talks have been broken off with the British Newfoundland Corp. (Brinco) on the proposed $1.2 billion project to harness the falls.

Lesage indicated to the Quebec Legislature that he thought Brinco's price for electricity from the falls was too high.

Under the plan, Quebec would have sold surplus electricity to the Consolidated Edison Co. of New York. Quebec was to build a 735,000-volt power line at a cost of $350 million to carry power from the falls through Quebec Province to New York.

Keating Would Campaign on Own

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., may campaign for re-election "almost completely on his own" if Republicans nominate a presidential candidate with whom he cannot agree, an aide says.

This had been the Rochester Republican's feeling "long before" Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona became the front-runner for the GOP nomination, the aide said yesterday.

The aide said that Keating disagrees with the conservative Goldwater "in so many areas" that, should the party leadership urge him to soften his attitude, "he (Keating) will take an even more independent stand."

The New York Times quoted Keating as saying that GOP leaders in New York State could look for another candidate if they objected to his stand.

Cuban Farm Specialist Working on Program

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban exile farm specialists are working on a program of agrarian reform to be put into effect if Fidel Castro is overthrown.

The purpose is to give Cuban peasants hope for a better future and thus a reason to join the move to oust Castro, according to Dr. Armando Fleites, secretary-general of the Second Front of Escambray.

Main features of the program are redistribution of the land and the use of modern methods for getting maximum production, Fleites said Wednesday.

Hoover to Miss Parley

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Hoover, oldest living ex-president, will miss the Republican National Convention for the first time since he left office three decades ago.

Hoover, who will be 90 next month, said through a spokesman that he will send a 600-word statement to the convention that opens in San Francisco Monday.

He has been confined to his suite in the Waldorf Towers where he is recovering from a grave illness.

WITHDRAWALS ONLY—Police horse Skippy is the most eager bank customer in Cleveland, Ohio. Skippy, ridden by Ptl. Jack Walsh, discovered that the teller in a drive-in window gives out suckers to youngsters who accompany an adult to the window. Skippy sees to it that Walsh checks the window daily so he can get his handout. Skippy has no trouble with the sucker stick. He just spits it out while chomping on the sweet.

Pickets on Hand For Wallace Talk To Lions Meeting

TORONTO (AP) — A thousand anti-segregation pickets were expected to greet Alabama's segregationist Gov. George Wallace today when he addresses the Lions International Convention in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

More than 800 pickets ringed the gardens Wednesday night with signs condemning Wallace's racial stand as some 15,000 Lions gathered for the opening of the four-day convention.

The convention opening ran smoothly, with a session of community singing and an impressive presentation of flags of the 125 nations where Lions clubs exist. There was a momentary interruption when scattered cheers greeted the Cuban flag.

In Wednesday's opening parade, the St. Joseph Corps from Batavia, N.Y., won $200 for second place in the drum and bugle corps competition limited to non-professional youths.

The Sanborn Fire Company Band of Sanborn, N.Y., placed first in the adult band contest and won $250.

The parade included 67 bands and 35 floats.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed a bill to establish Campobello Island, once the summer home of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, as an international park.

The legislation provides for the creation of a U.S.-Canadian commission to accept the home and 10.5-acre tract on the island lying just north of the border.

The two countries will share costs of the project.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Library of Congress has received a gift of 700 rare books from Lessing J. Rosenwald, American bibliophile and art collector.

L. Quincy Mumford, Librarian of Congress who announced the gift Wednesday, said the books include the first Bible in German printed in Augsburg about 1475 and a Latin Bible printed in Venice in 1476.

Saugerties Town Man Held for Indecency

Accused of indecency in the Town of Marlboro, John William Leimberger, 43, Town of Saugerties, was taken into custody Wednesday.

Leimberger was arraigned before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus. He was ordered held in the county jail in lieu of $100 bail pending a hearing.

The defendant was arrested after an investigation by State Police BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia, Trooper Wallace Mahan and Police Chief George Kniffin, Town of Marlboro, according to Trooper Charles Bundschuh.

Pitching Paragon

Walter Johnson, the famous baseball pitcher, won more games, struck out more batters, pitched more innings and compiled more shutouts than any other baseball hurler of the 20th century, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Library of Congress has received a gift of 700 rare books from Lessing J. Rosenwald, American bibliophile and art collector.

L. Quincy Mumford, Librarian of Congress who announced the gift Wednesday, said the books include the first Bible in German printed in Augsburg about 1475 and a Latin Bible printed in Venice in 1476.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury announced Wednesday a sharp cutback in the amount of money it plans to borrow in the next three months. An improvement of more than $2 billion in the government's cash position is the reason.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Robert V. Roosa said the improvement was due mainly to a reduction in expenditures.

Israel Notes Threat

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Israel has warned that the "deteriorating situation" along the Israeli-Syrian frontier is a serious threat to international peace and security.

In a note to U.N. Security Council President Ahmed Tibi Benhima of Morocco Wednesday, Israeli Ambassador Michael S. Comay accused Syrian forces of 29 "utterly unprovoked and obviously premeditated" attacks on Israeli positions between June 9 and July 6. He said his country had suffered six casualties and extensive property damage.

40 Good Shots Out of 46

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Polaris A2 missile closed out its test firings at Cape Kennedy Wednesday with three straight successes.

The nuclear submarine John Adams launched the missiles on 1,500-mile flights down range from a submerged position about 30 miles offshore.

The successes gave the A2 a scorecard of 40 good shots in 46 firings.

Mrs. Finkbine Is Expecting Fifth Child in January

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Sherri Finkbine, center of international controversy two years ago when she had an abortion after taking the drug thalidomide, says she's expecting her fifth child.

Mrs. Finkbine, 31, known as Sherri Chesson on her Phoenix television show, confirmed Wednesday night the report of her pregnancy. She is expecting in January.

She said she doesn't care whether it's a boy or a girl. "I want a healthy, normal baby," she said. She was reluctant to comment further.

"Two years ago I had a valid reason for telling my story," she declared. To expose the dangers of a drug. Anything I would say now would be only to satisfy curiosity.

Two years ago, on July 22, Mrs. Finkbine revealed her plight when she gave a Phoenix newspaper, the Arizona Republic, her story. She had taken the tranquilizer early in her pregnancy and was 2½ months along when she learned the drug was causing the birth of severely deformed babies in Europe.

Her husband, Robert, a Scottsdale high school teacher, had obtained the drug in England while escorting a group of students on a tour.

The Finkbines attempted to get a court order declaring an abortion necessary, but Arizona courts turned down their pleas. They then went to Sweden where the abortion was performed and doctors reported the baby would have been deformed.

Speaking of the drug Wednesday night, Mrs. Finkbine said she originally told her story because, "it happened to me, it could have happened to others."

"We're very happy," she said of the impending birth. But that is about all she wanted to say. Her husband, 33, had a few fatherly words to add.

"We're out to break the tie," he said happily, "we have two boys and two girls. It's kind of exciting, we like kids."

Air Force Is Firm on ROAMA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force refused today to halt the closing of the Rome, N.Y., Air Materiel Area (ROAMA), despite a finding by the General Accounting Office that some of the claimed savings were overestimated.

"We are convinced the General Accounting Office (GAO) report does not raise questions which would merit any change in the decision to close ROAMA," Air Force Secretary Eugene Zuckert said in a letter to three New York Republican members of Congress.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, and Kenneth B. Keating and Rep. Alexander Pirnie had asked the Air Force to hold up its decision to close the base until the move could be justified to their satisfaction.

New Obstacle Erupts In Hydro Power Plan

QUEBEC (AP) — A new obstacle has developed to a vast plan to bring hydroelectric power from Labrador's Hamilton Falls to New York State.

Quebec's Provincial Premier Jean Lesage announced Wednesday that talks have been broken off with the British Newfoundland Corp. (Brinco) on the proposed $12 billion project to harness the falls.

Lesage indicated to the Quebec Legislature that he thought BRINCO's price for electricity from the falls was too high.

Under the plan, Quebec would have sold surplus electricity to the Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Quebec was to build a 735,000-volt power line at a cost of $350 million to carry power from the falls through Quebec Province to New York.

Keating Would Campaign on Own

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., may campaign for re-election "almost completely on his own" if Republicans nominate a presidential candidate with whom he cannot agree, an aide says.

This had been the Rochester Republican's feeling "long before" Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona became the front-runner for the GOP nomination, the source said yesterday.

The aide said that Keating disagrees with the conservative Goldwater "in so many areas" that he should the party leadership urge him to soften his attitude, "he (Keating) will take an even more independent stand."

The New York Times quoted Keating as saying that GOP leaders in New York State could look for another candidate if they objected to his stand.

Cuban Farm Specialist Working on Program

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban exile farm specialists are working on a program of agrarian reform to be put into effect if Fidel Castro is overthrown.

The purpose is to give Cuban peasants hope for a better future and thus a reason to join the move to oust Castro, according to Dr. Armando Fleites, secretary-general of the Second Front of Escambray.

Main features of the program are redistribution of the land and the use of modern methods for getting maximum production, Fleites said Wednesday.

Hoover to Miss Parley

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Hoover, oldest living ex-president, will miss the Republican National Convention for the first time since he left office three decades ago.

Hoover, who will be 90 next month, said through a spokesman that he will send a 600-word statement to the convention that opens in San Francisco Monday.

He has been confined to his suite in the Waldorf Towers where he is recovering from a grave illness.

Pickets on Hand For Wallace Talk To Lions Meeting

TORONTO (AP) — A thousand anti-segregation pickets were expected to greet Alabama's segregationist Gov. George Wallace today when he addresses the Lions International Convention in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

More than 800 pickets ringed the gardens Wednesday night with signs condemning Wallace's racial stand as some 15,000 Lions gathered for the opening of the four-day convention.

The convention opening ran smoothly, with a session of community singing and an impressive presentation of flags of the 125 nations where Lions clubs exist. There was a momentary interruption when scattered cheers greeted the Cuban flag.

In Wednesday's opening parade, the St. Joseph Corps from Batavia, N.Y., won $200 for second place in the drum and bugle corps competition limited to non-professional youths.

The Sanborn Fire Company Band of Sanborn, N.Y., placed first in the adult band contest and won $250.

Teachers, Students From Iran Arriving At New Paltz College

Eleven teachers and students from Iran will arrive at the State University College, New Paltz, July 14 for a two-week seminar under the Experiment in International Living Program, according to plans announced this week by Dr. William J. Haggerty, President of the College.

Raymond Jefferies, Associate Dean of Students of the College is directing the program for the group, and some of their activities will be held jointly with an Irish Seminar which will begin July 17 under the direction of Dr. George Bond, principal of the Campus School.

This group from Iran will be one of nearly a hundred foreign groups that will visit the United States this summer under the International Living Program, and many of the groups will spend two weeks at various colleges and universities throughout the country. They will share in the academic and extra-curricular life of American students and contribute an image of their own culture and values.

The Experiment in International Living was started in 1932 in Putney, Vermont, to enable students from various foreign countries to visit other countries and to participate in numerous activities. Nearly as many American students and teachers go to other countries as those who visit the United States. The College at New Paltz has participated in numerous programs of this type for a number of years.

Upon their arrival in New Paltz, the group will be assigned to dormitories and will receive a brief orientation to the Campus. There are eight women in the group who will be assigned to Gage Hall, a women's dormitory, and three men who will be housed in Capen Hall, a campus residence for men. Some of the visitors will have American students as their roommates.

They will be welcomed Wednesday morning, July 15, by Richard F. Klix, Director of the College Summer Sessions and will then meet to decide what College classes they would like to attend during their stay.

Among the other activities planned during the two-weeks is a dinner at the home of President and Mrs. Haggerty, July 16; a tour of the old Huguenot House in New Paltz, and surrounding farms and orchards which will be conducted by Mr. Kenneth Hasbrouck, Town Historian, on July 17; a visit of the Newburgh Public Schools, July 22; and a trip to the College Camp located near Ashokan Reservoir near Kingston.

Opportunities will be given members of the group for some free time to pursue their individual interests, to attend class sessions on the campus, and to hear several special lectures. They will be addressed by Dr. Allan P. Bradley, New York State Associate Commissioner of Education, on the subject "Public Education on State and Local Levels," and will hear lectures on "Elementary Education in the United States," by Dr. Ernest Machnitz, Principal of the Heathcote Elementary School in Scarsdale, and "The Role of the Specialist in American Schools," by Dr. Wendell Hoover, Superintendent of the Kingston Public Schools.

One of the highlights of their experiences at New Paltz will be an informal discussion with the Honorable S. K. Roy, Consul General of India, who will be on the campus July 23 for an address to the entire student body on the topic "New Horizons in India."

Following their two-week stay on the campus, the group will travel to Hillsdale, Michigan, for several weeks of individual visits to typical homes of that area. They will then spend several weeks visiting New York City, Washington, D. C., and other parts of the country before returning to Iran on September 6.

DOESN'T WANT HER THINGS COPIED

Q: I like things that are a little different and spend a good deal of time shopping around to find furnishings for my house that are not run of the mill. A great many of my friends on seeing these things will exclaim, "How beautiful!" and then ask me where I bought them. After taking great pains to find things that are different, I certainly don't want my friends going around copying them. Would it be rude to refuse to tell them where I bought them?

A: I agree that the last thing people who have great originality can bear is to have their things copied by others. When asked where you bought your things, answer aversely by saying, "Oh, I bought that at a small shop out of the city," or "I can't remember just where I bought that," or "I bought it at an auction," or some such answer.

A Remarried Widow's Initials

Q: I am a widow and expect to be married soon for the second time. I am buying some new linens but am puzzled as to how to have them marked. I know the first initial should be that of my given name and the last that of my future husband's last name, but am in doubt as to what middle initial to use. Do I use my maiden initial or that of my late husband?

A: You use your maiden initial.

B of E Has Organizational Meeting; Reelects President

Saugerties Central School Board of Education unanimously reelected Robert Herb president for the 1964-1965 school year at its annual organizational meeting this week.

Herb, a prominent member of the community, has served as a member of the board for nine years, and as president for three years.

Welcome New Member
Mrs. Ann Karashay, who was elected to the board at the recent election was welcomed as a new member.

A resolution was passed recognizing the services of Steve Stycos, retiring board member, who did not seek reelection. He served for five years.

The following appointments were made for the ensuing school year: Gerald Snyder, treasurer; Margaret Marburger, clerk; the firm of Rosenbium and Lamb, school attorneys; William Woestendiek, tax collector (Towns of Ulster and Woodstock). Meetings were changed from the second Wednesday in the month to the second Monday in the month, and the time was changed from 8 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. The next meeting will be August 10.

A balance of $101,866.37 was reported for the end of the 1963-64 school year by Treasurer Snyder. The balance represents a substantial saving for taxpayers which will be reflected in the taxes for the 1964-65 school year and is the result of efficient management of school funds, good purchasing, and careful consideration of all expenditures. The large balance results in another additional saving for it will probably eliminate any need for borrowing funds to operate the school district in anticipation of taxes collected later in the year.

Architect Albert E. Milliken reported that all construction work is progressing on schedule. At the Mt. Marion School roofing has been completed and it is expected that terrazzo flooring will be laid next week. Piles are being driven at the high school and in many cases it has been unnecessary to drive them to the depths originally anticipated. At the Grant D. Morse Elementary School at Blue Mountain foundation walls are being built and drainage work completed.

Upon the recommendation of Building Committee Chairman, Henry Breitenbach, a change order amounting to $1,825 was approved which will provide individual room zoning for heating and ventilation at the Mt. Marion School. Experience has proved that this is far more satisfactory than area zoning.

Making Changes
Milliken stated that he was making changes required by the State Education Department for final approval of the plans and that some further change orders would be required.

Upon recommendation of Stuart Buchanan, chairman of the Policies Committee, the old system of standing committee organization for the Board was discarded in favor of the more efficient and modern system of appointing committees as needed. The former plan of organization was the outgrowth of the period in public school history where Board of Education members were responsible for many of the duties now delegated to the superintendent.

President Herb appointed the following chairmen of committees currently needed: Breitenbach, Building Committee; Buchanan, Policies Committee; Jack Pakanen, Site Committee; LeRoy Snyder, Non-School Use of Buildings Committee. Members of these committees will be appointed at the next meeting as will a chairman and members of a Finance Committee.

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, nominated, and the Board elected, the following teachers for the 1964-65 school year:

Mrs. Marion Piastro, fourth grade at the Glasco School. Mrs. Piastro is a graduate of the University of Vermont, a resident of Saugerties, and has had previous experience in Colchester Point, Vt., and as a substitute in the Saugerties schools; Robert Diamond, graduate of Trinity College, with graduate work at New Paltz, will teach the elementary grades. Diamond is a resident of Stone Ridge.

Straub to Return

William Straub will return to the Saugerties Central Schools system after a year's leave of absence for doctorate study at the University of Wisconsin. The Board accepted the resignation of Miss Nancy Gillette who had previously accepted a position for 1964-65 but had since requested that her resignation be accepted.

Dr. Arnold reported all but two teacher vacancies have been filled. Candidates are currently being considered for a grade one position and an English position at the high school.

The superintendent announced that supplemental State Aid amounting to $14,464.52 will be received during the 1964-65 school year. This unanticipated receipt is the result of revised current building quotas from 1956-57 through 1961-62 on the previous bond issue of $3,475,000.

Dr. Arnold also reported that Saugerties schools would accept an invitation from the State Education Department to participate with certain other districts in the state on the tryout of a new English syllabus. New materials have been developed on a kindergarten through twelfth grade basis, focusing on a sequential development of the working skills necessary for reading competence and provide suggested learning activities to implement teaching of these skills.

Mrs. Lynette Flewelling, coordinator of the English Department and Miss May Evans, Director of Elementary Education, will work with the superintendent during the summer, planning the introduction of these new materials to the current program.

Blast Touches Off Moves to Protect Young CR Workers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Explosions which injured two civil rights workers in McComb, Miss., have touched off demands for protection of youths involved in civil rights work in Mississippi. About 500 youths from other states are involved.

Forty-one parents of youths from northern California decided to ask President Johnson, Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California and their congressmen to assure protection for the young civil rights workers in Mississippi.

FBI Sends Expert

The Federal Bureau of Investigation sent an explosives expert to McComb to help with the investigation. There have been two other similar explosions but no arrests.

An avowed foe of the newly passed civil rights act was shot in the arm in Columbia, Tenn., Wednesday night.

Flo F. Fleming, a candidate for Congress from Tennessee's 6th District, reported two Negroes in a passing car fired two shots at him as he drove home from a speaking engagement. He was not believed seriously injured.

In Chattanooga, Tenn., a Negro educator, Claude C. Bond, was named coordinator of general education for the Chattanooga school system. It is believed to be the first time a Negro has attained such a position in a Southern school system.

In Danville, Va., directors of the city's Memorial Hospital ordered the facility integrated. The first step taken was approval of two Negro doctors for staff privileges.

In San Francisco, Negro leaders said that more than 50,000 are expected to parade Sunday in opposition to the possible nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater for president.

The search continued in the Philadelphia, Miss., area for three civil rights workers who disappeared June 21.

In St. Augustine, Fla., Negroes were refused service at two of 29 restaurants they visited.

Twenty state troopers moved into Selma, Ala., to relieve local law enforcement officers who have had little rest in recent days. About 70 have been arrested in Selma, where Negroes are conducting an intense voter registration campaign.

Explosions which injured two civil rights workers in McComb, Miss., have touched off demands for protection of youths involved in civil rights work in Mississippi. About 500 youths from other states are involved.

Forty-one parents of youths from northern California decided to ask President Johnson, Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California and their congressmen to assure protection for the young civil rights workers in Mississippi.

FBI Sends Expert

The Federal Bureau of Investigation sent an explosives expert to McComb to help with the investigation. There have been two other similar explosions but no arrests.

An avowed foe of the newly passed civil rights act was shot in the arm in Columbia, Tenn., Wednesday night.

Flo F. Fleming, a candidate for Congress from Tennessee's 6th District, reported two Negroes in a passing car fired two shots at him as he drove home from a speaking engagement. He was not believed seriously injured.

In Chattanooga, Tenn., a Negro educator, Claude C. Bond, was named coordinator of general education for the Chattanooga school system. It is believed to be the first time a Negro has attained such a position in a Southern school system.

In Danville, Va., directors of the city's Memorial Hospital ordered the facility integrated. The first step taken was approval of two Negro doctors for staff privileges.

In San Francisco, Negro leaders said that more than 50,000 are expected to parade Sunday in opposition to the possible nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater for president.

The search continued in the Philadelphia, Miss., area for three civil rights workers who disappeared June 21.

In St. Augustine, Fla., Negroes were refused service at two of 29 restaurants they visited.

Twenty state troopers moved into Selma, Ala., to relieve local law enforcement officers who have had little rest in recent days. About 70 have been arrested in Selma, where Negroes are conducting an intense voter registration campaign.

Giants Split With Cubs; Bunker Is Orioles' Ace

Buhl Is Third Cub to Reach Ten Victories

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

At their current pace, the Chicago Cubs will win only 74 games but may wind up with three 20-game winners.

Bob Buhl became the third member of the Cubs' staff to reach the 10-victory plateau at the halfway mark of the season when he shut out San Francisco 2-0 on four hits Wednesday before the Giants took the second game of the doubleheader 7-2.

Bringing his record to 10-4 with his third shutout, Buhl joined teammates Larry Jackson, 11-5, and Dick Ellsworth, 10-8, as possible 20-game winners and gave the Cubs a shot at duplicating a feat that hasn't been accomplished in the National League in 41 years.

Not since the 1923 Cincinnati Reds has a NL team had a trio of 20-game winners. Adolfo Luque won 27, Pete Donohue 21 and Eppa Rixey 20 on that club. The last American League club to do it was Cleveland with Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Herb Score, each winning 20 in 1956.

Significantly, neither the Reds nor the Indians won pennants. Both finished second.

The Cubs, however, currently are tied for seventh place with good reason. While Buhl, Jackson and Ellsworth have accounted for 31 victories, the remainder of the staff has put together only six.

Ernie Broglio, the heralded trade acquisition from the St. Louis Cardinals who was supposed to step in as the No. 4 man, hasn't won as a Cub. He lost his fourth straight as Willie Mays powered his 24th homer for the Giants in the nightcap, called after seven innings because of darkness at the lightless Wrigley Field.

The triumph ending the Giants longest losing streak of the season at four games—kept second-place San Francisco 1½ games back of the front-running Philadelphia Phillies, who were rained out of a scheduled game with St. Louis.

In the only other game scheduled in either league, home runs by Manny Mota and Willie Stargell triggered Pittsburgh to a 9-1 victory over Cincinnati.

Buhl, 10-4, got the only run he needed in the opener when Joe Amalfitano doubled in the first off Bob Hendley, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Ron Santo. Billy Williams, who previously had stroked a single and double, wrapped up the scoring in the seventh with his 20th homer.

The Giants stormed back in the nightcap, tagging Broglio, 3-9, for five runs and six hits in the first two innings. Mays' homer, with two on in the second, gave him a league-leading 58 runs batted in and proved more than enough support for Ron Herbel, 7-4.

Mota started the scoring for the Pirates with a two-run homer off Jim Maloney in the first and Stargell put it out of reach with a three-run shot in the sixth. Bob Veale, 8-6, and Al McBean held the Reds to four hits.

American Race Settles Down to 3-Way Battle

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

When Hank Bauer played in his first of nine world Series, Wally Bunker was 4 years old.

Bunker is 19 now and is the surprising ace of Manager Bauer's pitching staff in the Baltimore Orioles' drive for their first American League pennant.

The Orioles, three games in front of second-place Chicago and third-place New York, battled Cleveland tonight in a doubleheader. Bunker, 8-2, is slated to pitch the second game with Milt Pappas going in the opener.

A $70,000 bonus baby, Bunker got his chance to start earlier this season when injuries riddled Bauer's staff. Neither Bunker nor Bauer ever could have received a better break.

For Bauer, the break could lead to his first Series since 1958 and his first as a manager. The season, of course, is not even half over for the AL contenders. A three-game lead today could be a three-game deficit next week. But the Orioles must be considered a threat to dethroning the perennial champions, the Yankees.

With Bunker leading the pitching staff and Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell pacing the hitters, the Orioles have been in first place except for five days since June 14. They haven't been lower than second since May 19.

The race seems to have settled down to a three-way battle — Baltimore, Chicago and New York.

The White Sox, though, may be frustrated by the Yankee complex. That's the feeling that says Chicago just can't beat New York. The White Sox may not really feel it, but it is fact.

The Yankees, on the other hand, indicated in the last series with the Orioles that it's no time for their pennant drive. After blowing a 8-2 lead in the eighth one night, they came back the next night and lost 7-4 when two errors gave the Orioles three runs in the eighth.

Put that kind of play together with such positive performances as a pair of one-hitters by a 19-year-old like Bunker, and you have a solid reason why Baltimore is in front.

No games were scheduled in the AL Wednesday night, but in the National League, San Francisco dropped a 2-0 decision to Chicago before winning 7-2 and Pittsburgh trounced Cincinnati 9-1.

Buhl Could Be Headed for Best Pitching Year

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Buhl, the Chicago Cubs' 35-year-old right-hander, could be headed towards his best pitching year since his hey-day with the Milwaukee Braves.

Buhl recorded his 10th victory of the season and his third shutout with a slick four-hitter and a 2-0 decision over the San Francisco Giants in the opener of a doubleheader Wednesday.

Buhl scoffs the suggestion he might become a 20-game winner, topping his best seasons with the Braves — 18-8 in 1956 and 18-7 in 1957.

"The goal I have is to have just a winning season and help this club go further than anybody expected," said Buhl, now in his 12th major league season and his third with the Cubs, who acquired him from the Braves in a 1962 swap for pitcher Jack Curtis.

Buhl, whose 16 starts this season have been marred by only four defeats, has not had a winning season since a 16-9 effort for the Braves in 1960.

Buhl naturally doesn't suggest he is doing anything differently after all these years of big league pitching.

Kennedy, however, thinks he has changed "a little bit."

"Buhl has changed his pitching pattern somewhat—not his style or delivery. I guess you would call it a thinking process. He now is keeping a guess ahead of the batter. There is no question, though, that he is a little sharper than the past few years."

Venturi One Of Favorites In PGA Event

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — The inevitable letdown that comes with winning the National Open golf championship almost has run its course for Ken Venturi, who says, "I feel I'm getting in the pitch again."

"The Round Robin here should be just what I need to get back on the beam," the articulate ironmaster from San Francisco added today. "It's a good tournament and there won't be too much pressure."

"I should be ready for the PGA next week."

The PGA championship opens next Thursday at the Columbus (Ohio) Country Club and Venturi will enter the event as one of the favorites along with defending champion Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

This is a mathematical nightmare in which 16 leading pros play each other in a 90-hole, four-day marathon in which the winner is decided on the basis of holes won and lost. Every man plays every other in the field. The winner is the one who winds up with the biggest plus score—most holes won.

Venturi, as Open champion, is the favorite but he will have stern competition from such players as Bill Casper, Gene Littler, Tommy Bolt, Bob Rosburg and Dave Marr.

After winning the Open with two brilliant closing rounds, Venturi got caught on the merrily-go-round that awaits all major champions.

There were appearances, business deals, commitments and exhibitions. He failed to make the cut in the Cleveland Open, the tournament that followed the Open, and he won only $900 in the $125,000 Whitmarsh Open last week in Philadelphia.

Peaks Happy He Is Going With Steelers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Clarence Peaks, the sometimes fullback of the Philadelphia Eagles since 1957, says he is happy to be leaving for the Pittsburgh Steelers after Wednesday's four-player National Football League trade.

"It would be a pleasure to play with 11 guys who are not afraid to hit," Peaks said. "Out there they got 11 guys on the field who want to do a job, not two or three prima donnas trying to get a bigger piece of the pie," he added.

Peaks and linebacker Bob Harrison were sent to the Steelers for flanker back Red Mack and defensive back Glenn Glass in the sixth deal under the free-wheeling regime of Joe Kuharich, the new Eagles' coach.

The Eagles' first draft choice in 1957, Peaks was the leading ground gainer for the NFL championship team in 1960. But since then he has repeatedly sidelined with a series of injuries.

Ted Dean, another part-time fullback for the Eagles was traded to the Minnesota Vikings for four players earlier this year.

Mack, a 5-foot-10, 185 pounder who played one season under Kuharich at Notre Dame, has been an effective deep receiver for the Steelers since 1960 despite surgery on both knees.

Glass, former Tennessee star, played the corner back position on defense and returned punts and kickoffs in his two NFL seasons with the Steelers.

Harrison saw limited action last season because of a neck injury.

Wiltwyck Invitational Attracts Record Field

The weekend of July 17-19 will see the playing of the seventh annual Wiltwyck Invitational Tournament of the Lucas Avenue Country Club. All indications are that the event will surpass all previous tournaments insofar as the calibre of the top flights are concerned.

Reporting for the Invitational Committee, Chairman John Provenzano indicated today that as of Wednesday evening, a total of 109 entries had already been filed. Since the field is limited to 128, it is apparent that late entries will in all probability have to be rejected. Provenzano urged that local members who planned to enter the event should file their entries before the weekend. "We would hate to turn down our own members for the tournament," he stated, "but we just can't handle more than 128 in the tournament, and it's strictly on a first-come, first-served basis."

Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., president of the Wiltwyck Club this year, reviewed the entry list and had these comments to make: "Our tournament is set up to attract players of all handicap levels, and we plan to continue it this way. However, we have never had an entry list so loaded with top-flight players. The competition in the championship flight and the first flight, both of which are played from scratch, is going to be tremendous."

Mr. Provenzano and Dr. Holcomb surveyed the entry list, and came up with the following rather startling facts:

At present, 25 entries have a handicap of 5 or under, and another 25 are playing to handicaps from 6 to 9. In other words, the field includes 50 players with club handicaps under 10. There are players entered thus far representing 30 different golf clubs.

The field includes the winners of all previous six Invitational Tournaments. This group numbers Harvey Bostic, Leon Randall, Bill Kaufman and Ronnie Marks, all of the host Wiltwyck Club. Obvious contenders must include George Hughes and Ricky Barthel of Twaalfskill, the latter recent Herdegen Champion; Ricky and Bobby Bates of Stamford; Wiltwyck's "Buzzy" Costello, recently crowned champion of the Hudson River Golf Association; Bob Botsford of Dutchess C.C.; Art Allen, a one-handicap golfer from Grandview C.C.; and John "Rick" Mulqueen, a two-handicapper from Orange County C.C.

Chairman Provenzano stated that there was no doubt that this would be the fastest field the Invitational has seen thus far. "We're looking forward to the finest tournament we have had thus far," he said, "and we hope the local golfers will come out to see the final matches which should be just tremendous."

Melges Retains Lead in Olympic Yacht Trials

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N.J. (AP) — Harry (Bud) Melges of Zenda, Wis., finished third and fourth in two races Wednesday to retain his lead in the U. S. Flying Dutchman Olympic yacht trials.

Harry Sindle of Ware Neck, Va., the United States Flying Dutchman representative in the 1960 Olympics, took a first place and a second to trail Melges in the Olympic scoring, 3,090, to 3,856.

Sindle fouled out in the first race of the seven-race series Tuesday while Melges finished first.

Wednesday's races were sailed in westerly breezes of 12 to 15 knots and intermittent rain on Sandy Hook Bay. Sindle led all the way in winning the first race and most of the way in the second. In the last mile he was overtaken by Mrs. John Haber of Sarasota, Fla., who won by 200 yards.

Thirty-five boats are competing in the trials. The point leader after the races' end this weekend will represent the United States in the Flying Dutchman competition at the Tokyo Olympics.

Others in the top ten after three races, with their point totals, were:

Atlantic Coast Grid Players Start Practice

NEW YORK (AP) — The 14 members of the Atlantic Coast Football League all are expected to be in training by the weekend for the opening of the season, just a month away.

Most of the teams already are practicing, with Boston and Springfield expected to start within the next few days.

The exhibition campaign opens July 26 with Providence at Portland. The same two clubs kick off the regular season Aug. 9 at Providence. The rest of the league follows suit the following week.

Most regular season games are scheduled for Saturday nights. The league expanded from 12 to 14 teams this season, adding Atlanta, Ga., and Richmond, Va. In addition, the Baltimore club was moved to Hazleton, Pa., and the Ansonia, Conn., franchise was shifted to Hartford, Conn.

Free Basketball Clinics
BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell, star of the world championship Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association, will conduct free basketball clinics this weekend in four Mississippi communities.

Russell plans to give basketball pointers to as many interested youths, both Negro and white, as his schedule will permit in Jackson, Canton, Meridian and Clarksdale.

American Race Settles Down to 3-Way Battle

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Hank Bauer played in his first of nine world Series, Wally Bunker was 4 years old.

Bunker is 19 now and is the surprising ace of Manager Bauer's pitching staff in the Baltimore Orioles' drive for their first American League pennant.

The Orioles, three games in front of second-place Chicago and third-place New York, battled Cleveland tonight in a doubleheader. Bunker, 8-2, is slated to pitch the second game with Milt Pappas going in the opener.

A $70,000 bonus baby, Bunker got his chance to start earlier this season when injuries riddled Bauer's staff. Neither Bunker nor Bauer ever could have received a better break.

For Bauer, the break could lead to his first Series since 1958 and his first as a manager.

The season, of course, is not even half over for the AL contenders. A three-game lead today could be a three-game deficit next week. But the Orioles must be considered a threat to dethroning the perennial champions, the Yankees.

With Bunker leading the pitching staff and Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell pacing the hitters, the Orioles have been in first place except for five days since June 14. They haven't been lower than second since May 19.

The race seems to have settled down to a three-way battle — Baltimore, Chicago and New York.

The White Sox, though, may be frustrated by the Yankee complex. That's the feeling that says Chicago just can't beat New York. The White Sox may not really feel it, but it is fact.

The Yankees, on the other hand, indicated in the last series with the Orioles that it's no time for their pennant drive. After blowing a 8-2 lead in the eighth one night, they came back the next night and lost 7-4 when two errors gave the Orioles three runs in the eighth.

Put that kind of play together with such positive performances as a pair of one-hitters by a 19-year-old like Bunker, and you have a solid reason why Baltimore is in front.

No games were scheduled in the AL Wednesday night, but in the National League, San Francisco dropped a 2-0 decision to Chicago before winning 7-2 and Pittsburgh trounced Cincinnati 9-1.

Buhl Could Be Headed for Best Pitching Year

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Buhl, the Chicago Cubs' 35-year-old right-hander, could be headed towards his best pitching year since his hey-day with the Milwaukee Braves.

Buhl recorded his 10th victory of the season and his third shutout with a slick four-hitter and a 2-0 decision over the San Francisco Giants in the opener of a doubleheader Wednesday.

Buhl scoffs the suggestion he might become a 20-game winner, topping his best seasons with the Braves — 18-8 in 1956 and 18-7 in 1957.

"The goal I have is to have just a winning season and help this club go further than anybody expected," said Buhl, now in his 12th major league season and his third with the Cubs, who acquired him from the Braves in a 1962 swap for pitcher Jack Curtis.

Buhl, whose 16 starts this season have been marred by only four defeats, has not had a winning season since a 16-9 effort for the Braves in 1960.

Buhl naturally doesn't suggest he is doing anything differently after all these years of big league pitching.

Kennedy, however, thinks he has changed "a little bit."

"Buhl has changed his pitching pattern somewhat—not his style or delivery. I guess you would call it a thinking process. He now is keeping a guess ahead of the batter. There is a little sharper than the past few years."

Venturi One Of Favorites In PGA Event

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — The inevitable letdown that comes with winning the National Open golf championship almost has run its course for Ken Venturi, who says, "I feel I'm getting in the pitch again."

"The Round Robin here should be just what I need to get back on the beam," the articulate ironmaster from San Francisco added today. "It's a good tournament and there won't be too much pressure."

"I should be ready for the PGA next week."

The PGA championship opens next Thursday at the Columbus (Ohio) Country Club and Venturi will enter the event as one of the favorites along with defending champion Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

This is a mathematical nightmare in which 16 leading pros play each other in a 90-hole, four-day marathon in which the winner is decided on the basis of holes won and lost. Every man plays every other in the field. The winner is the one who winds up with the biggest plus score—most holes won.

Venturi, as Open champion, is the favorite but he will have stern competition from such players as Bill Casper, Gene Littler, Tommy Bolt, Bob Rosburg and Dave Marr.

After winning the Open with two brilliant closing rounds, Venturi got caught on the mercury-go-round that awaits all major champions.

There were appearances, business deals, commitments and exhibitions. He failed to make the cut in the Cleveland Open, the tournament that followed the Open, and he won only $900 in the $125,000 Whitmarsh Open last week in Philadelphia.

Peaks Happy He Is Going With Steelers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Clarence Peaks, the sometimes fullback of the Philadelphia Eagles since 1957, says he is happy to be leaving for the Pittsburgh Steelers after Wednesday's four-player National Football League trade.

"It would be a pleasure to play with 11 guys who are not afraid to hit," Peaks said. "Out there they got 11 guys on the field who want to do a job, not two or three prima donnas trying to get a bigger piece of the pie," he added.

Peaks and linebacker Bob Harrison were sent to the Steelers for flanker back Red Mack and defensive back Glenn Glass in the sixth deal under the free-wheeling regime of Joe Kuharich, the new Eagles' coach.

The Eagles' first draft choice in 1957, Peaks was the leading ground gainer for the NFL championship team in 1960. But since then he has repeatedly sidelined with a series of injuries.

Ted Dean, another part-time fullback for the Eagles was traded to the Minnesota Vikings for four players earlier this year.

Mack, a 5-foot-10, 185 pounder who played one season under Kuharich at Notre Dame, has been an effective deep receiver for the Steelers since 1960 despite surgery on both knees.

Glass, former Tennessee star, played the corner back position on defense and returned punts and kickoffs in his two NFL seasons with the Steelers.

Harrison saw "limited action" last season because of a neck injury.

Wiltwyck Invitational Attracts Record Field

The weekend of July 17-19 will see the playing of the seventh annual Wiltwyck Invitational Tournament of the Lucas Avenue Country Club. All indications are that the event will surpass all previous tournaments insofar as the calibre of the top flights are concerned.

Reporting for the Invitational Committee, Chairman John Provenzano indicated today that as of Wednesday evening, a total of 109 entries had already been filed. Since the field is limited to 128, it is apparent that late entries will in all probability have to be rejected. Provenzano urged that local members who planned to enter the event should file their entries before the weekend. "We would hate to turn down our own members for the tournament," he stated, "but we just can't handle more than 128 in the tournament, and it's strictly on a first-come, first-served basis."

Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., president of the Wiltwyck Club this year, reviewed the entry list and had these comments to make: "Our tournament is set up to attract players of all handicap levels, and we plan to continue it this way. However, we have never had an entry list so loaded with top-flight players. The competition in the championship flight and the first flight, both of which are played from scratch, is going to be tremendous."

Mr. Provenzano and Dr. Holcomb surveyed the entry list, and came up with the following rather startling facts:

At present, 25 entries have a handicap of 5 or under, and another 25 are playing to handicaps from 6 to 9. In other words, the field includes 50 players with club handicaps under 10. There are players entered thus far representing 30 different golf clubs.

The field includes the winners of all previous six Invitational Tournaments. This group numbers Harvey Bostic, Leon Randall, Bill Kaufman and Ronnie Marks, all of the host Wiltwyck Club. Obvious contenders must include George Hughes and Ricky Barthel of Twaalfskill, the latter recent Herdegen Champion; Ricky and Bobby Bates of Stamford; Wiltwyck's "Buzzy" Costello, recently crowned champion of the Hudson River Golf Association; Bob Botsford of Dutchess C.C.; Art Allen, a one-handicap golfer from Grandview C.C.; and John "Rick" Mulqueen, a two-handicapper from Orange County C.C.

Chairman Provenzano stated that there was no doubt that this would be the fastest field the Invitational has seen thus far. "We're looking forward to the finest tournament we have had thus far," he said, "and we hope the local golfers will come out to see the final matches which should be just tremendous."

Faulkner Takes Early Lead in British Open

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Writer

ST.—ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Max Faulkner, the last Briton to win the British Open Golf Championship, fashioned his second straight 73 in North Sea gales that rocked the Old Course today, and took the early lead after two rounds.

Faulkner, one of the last of the beknickered players, won this title in 1951.

Most of the Americans in the field were among the late starters in the field of 120.

The winds, which were the only thing to break 70 on opening day, returned with a vengeance and the par of 72 seemed safe again. Only two men broke it Wednesday, Christy O'Connor of Ireland and Jean Garaialde of France, who had 71s.

In all, only 50 of the 120 golfers in the field broke 80.

Champion Tony Lema led the eight-man American contingent with 73, and favorite Jack Nicklaus shot 76.

Deane Beaman, U.S. amateur champion, soared to 82.

Lema, having seen the Old Course only once and that was the day before, shifted his entire game en route. One of the greatest wedge players in the game, Lema decided the sea-side wind was too horrible to contemplate for a flying wedge shot aimed at the pin.

"I took a really big chance," he said. "I put the wedge back in the bag and said goodbye. Instead, I took a seven iron and ran the ball to the hole."

Lema, 7-1 shot in the betting, astonished the knowledgeable Scots by the way he conquered really difficult conditions to drop only one shot below par.

Top players were taking anything up to 80 or more blows in the face of a gale that showed how impolite "The Old Lady"—the oldest course in the world—can be when she chooses.

Nicklaus knew as little about the Old Course as Lema and so it was as well with some of the other Americans, eight all told, challenging for the 104-year-old title.

His winning $81,000 on the American circuit this year, Nicklaus was installed 7-2 favorite to pick up the British Open crown. The odds have not shifted in spite of Golden Jack's opening round. He has a lot of ground to make up, however.

Haynie May Prove Surprise Threat At Women's Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Fifty-four of the nation's leading gal golfers, led by defending champion Mary Mills, top challenger Mickey Wright and a young upset threat, Sandra Haynie, teed off today in the first round of the $10,000 United States Women's Open Golf Championship.

Play is at the San Diego Country Club. It has women's par of 36-37-73 and measures 6,470 yards.

Miss Mills, from Gulf Hills, Miss., won the U. S. Open last year at Cincinnati's Kenwood course in her second year as a professional.

Miss Wright, 29, now plays out of Dallas, but all of her younger years were spent in the San Diego area, and the San Diego Country Club was one of her most - often - played training grounds.

Mickey has won the U. S. Open three times—she did not compete last year—and is obviously favored to capture this 12th annual event staged by the USGA.

Sandra plays out of Phoenix, Ariz., but is a native of Ft. Worth, Tex. Last year the tiny Texan tied for second place.

Sugar Ray Wins Again

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Former middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson continued his victorious tour of the hinterlands Wednesday night with a technical knockout victory over Clarence Riley of Detroit.

Robinson, 161, had little difficulty with the inexperienced Riley, 168. He scored knockdowns in the fourth and fifth rounds before the fight was stopped at 2:40 of the sixth round.

Close to Perfect

ANDERSON, Mo. (AP)—Jim Wyatt, once a minor leaguer owned by the Kansas City A's, came as close to a perfect game as it's possible Wednesday night in a semi-pro game.

Wyatt retired the first 26 batters to face him, then struck out the 27th batter but the ball got through catcher Butch Todd and the man reached first. The right-hander retired the next man to preserve his no-hitter.

His Anderson team beat Grove, Okla., 3-0.

Perkins Becomes Global Commuter

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Have Eddie Perkins. Will travel.

Perkins is the world's junior welterweight champion. It seems they idolize junior welterweights everywhere but in the United States. He can't get a title fight here.

So he and his 75-year-old manager, Johnny Coulon, have become global commuters. And making matches for them is Johnny's tiny, sparkling wife, Marie. She is as Irish as her maiden name, Maloney.

Marie and Johnny, known as the Chicago Spider when he ruled the bantamweights from 1908-1914, have been married 43 years and have operated a tidy gym on the South Side 41 years.

In that time, Mrs. Coulon has earned respect from many former ring greats as being one of the most astute judges of boxing talent in the country.

She has made well over 25,000 matches—amateur and pro. It was Marie they had to deal with when Perkins went to Milan, Italy, in 1962 and defeated Duilio Loi for the 140-pound crown. In a rematch three months later, the title went back to Loi.

Loi retired and Perkins captured the vacant championship in June, 1963, by defeating Roberto Cruz in Manila.

He has defended it successfully twice this year. He and Johnny received $30,000 and expenses for a Jan. 4 defense in Tokyo against Yoshimori Takahashi, and $25,000 and expenses for an April 18 match in Kingston, Jamaica, against Bunny Grant.

"They loved Eddie wherever we went," Coulon said.

Outsiders Bring $80.90 Return in 6-7 Daily Double

MONTICELLO — Regal Rodne and the Statesman, a pair of 7-1 outsiders, captured the two opening races on Wednesday night's card at Monticello Raceway to clinch a $80.90 daily double payoff on the 6-7 number combination.

Howard Beissinger took the Statesman to the top approaching the quarter pole the first time around, built up a three-length lead at the three-quarter pole and coasted home in 2:07.4.

The two-year-old son of Bill Gallon paid mutuels of $16.90, $9.40 and $5.10 for winning his first race in four starts.

Good Time Henry, another longshot, nosed out Good Judgment for place, paying $15.00 and $6.50. The latter paid a $5.20 show price.

The opening dash was a conditioned trot for aged horses which saw Regal Rodne, driven by Frank Popfinger, outduel Marcel Mir and Sonny Frost in the stretch for a 2:07.3 triumph.

The win was worth $16.60, $7.40 and $5.90. Marcel Mir paid $3.80 and $7.20, while Sonny Frost was worth $6.80 to show.

Galimir Notches 2nd Oval Win

MONTICELLO — Galimir, a five-year-old trotter sent off at long odds for the second week in a row, repeated last Thursday's triumph with a 2:07.3 win in Wednesday night's feature $1,500 test at Monticello Raceway.

Driven by Gerald Bostie, Galimir got off at 8-1, and came on strong in the final quarter-mile to win by "a length and one-quarter. The prices were $18.10, $8.30 and $5.00 as the son of Galophone made it two in a row at the Mighty M.

Wildwood Chris, another outsider, got home second for $7.40 and $6.40. Mighty M. was the show horse for $3.90.

The Twin Double, composed of numbers 2-5-1-3 paid $1,668.90 to 16 ticket holders in the crowd of 5,004.

Glasco, Hunting Lodge Win In 1-0, 15-3 SSL Matches

Glasco Athletic Club shut out Southside, 1-0 and Hunting Lodge walked all over Friendly Inn, 15-3 in Saugerties Softball League matches last night.

Jim Gage and Ed Green got the only singles off winning Bill Fisceletti, who managed to single for Glasco, Ed and Dan Rizzo, both doubled for the winners, scoring the only outstanding hits of the game.

Install Osborne 3 to 1 Favorite In Pacing Test

MONTICELLO—Osborne, the three-year-old bay gelding owned by the Four Winds Farm and C&E Stable of New York City, will place his three-race winning streak on the line in tonight's $1,500 Sophomore Pacing Test at Monticello Raceway.

Installed the 3-1 morning line favorite from the rail, Osborne will be driven by Maurice Pusey. Since making his local debut on June 15, the Thorpe Hanover gelding has reeled off three wins in a row, the most recent two in 2:05.2 and 2:05.4.

A well-rounded field of three-year-olds is expected to challenge the favorite.

Fanny Ringland, which won here a week ago in 2:06.2, heads the opposition from post No. 2. No driver is listed for the bay daughter of Duane Hanover, owned by Byron D. Kuth of Chesterland, Ohio. She is rated a 5-1 shot.

Wil Diamond, the Canadian-owned gelding which won nearly $8,000 as a juvenile, makes his first start of the season, going from post three.

Del Miller's Meadow Frances, which has won three of six starts is pegged the 4-1 second choice. Frank Popfinger will rein the bay filly from the fourth slot. She owns a 2:06.2 season's mark.

Another strong contender will be Coeur de Lion, the Gene Abbe colt which drew post seven for driver Roger White. Oddsmakers listed Coeur de Lion at 9-2 off his record of four wins in nine outings.

Outsiders in the field are Irish Bomber and Jane's Adios, each listed at 8-1, and Hal's Glory, rated no better than a 12-1 shot from the eighth hole.

Faulkner Takes Early Lead in British Open

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Writer

ST.—ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Max Faulkner, the last Briton to win the British Open Golf Championship, fashioned his second straight 73 in North Sea gales that rocked the Old Course today, and took the early lead after two rounds.

Faulkner, one of the last of the bekknickered players, won this title in 1951.

Most of the Americans in the field were among the late starters in the field of 120.

The winds, which were the only thing to break 70 on opening day, returned with a vengeance and the par of 72 seemed safe again. Only two men broke it Wednesday, Christy O'Connor of Ireland and Jean Garaialde of France, who had 71s.

In all, only 50 of the 120 golfers in the field broke 80. Champagne Tony Lema led the eight-man American contingent with 73, and favorite Jack Nicklaus shot 76.

Deane Beaman, U.S. amateur champion, soared to 82. Lema, having seen the Old Course only once and that was the day before, shifted his entire game en route. One of the greatest wedge players in the game, Lema decided the sea-side wind was too horrible to contemplate for a flying wedge shot aimed at the pin.

"I took a really big chance," he said. "I put the wedge back in the bag and said goodbye. Instead, I took a seven iron and ran the ball to the hole."

Lema, 7-1 shot in the betting, astonished the knowledgeable Scots by the way he conquered really difficult conditions to drop only one shot below par.

Top players were taking anything up to 80 or more blows in the face of a gale that showed how impolite "The Old Lady"—the oldest course in the world—can be when she chooses.

Nicklaus knew as little about the Old Course as Lema and so it was as well with some of the other Americans, eight all told, challenging for the 104-year-old title.

—An estimated $81,000 on the American circuit this year, Nicklaus was installed 7-2 favorite to pick up the British Open crown. The odds have not shifted in spite of Golden Jack's opening round. He has a lot of ground to make up, however.

Haynie May Prove Surprise Threat At Women's Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Fifty-four of the nation's leading gal golfers, led by defending champion Mary Mills, top challenger Mickey Wright and a young upset threat, Sandra Haynie, teed off today in the first round of the $10,000 United States Women's Open Golf Championship.

Play is at the San Diego Country Club. It has women's par of 36-37-73 and measures 6,470 yards.

Miss Mills, from Gulf Hills, Miss., won the U. S. Open last year at Cincinnati's Kenwood course in her second year as a professional.

Miss Wright, 29, now plays out of Dallas, but all of her younger years were spent in the San Diego area, and the San Diego Country Club was one of her most - often - played training grounds.

Mickey has won the U. S. Open three times—she did not compete last year—and is obviously favored to capture this 12th annual event staged by the USGA.

Sandra plays out of Phoenix, Ariz., but is a native of Ft. Worth, Tex. Last year the tiny Texan tied for second place.

Sugar Ray Wins Again
PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Former middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson continued his victorious tour of the hinterlands Wednesday night with a technical knockout victory over Clarence Riley of Detroit.

Robinson, 161, had little difficulty with the inexperienced Riley, 168. He scored knockdowns in the fourth and fifth rounds before the fight was stopped at 2:40 of the sixth round.

Close to Perfect

ANDERSON, Mo. (AP)—Jim Wyatt, once a minor leaguer owned by the Kansas City A's, came as close to a perfect game as it's possible Wednesday night in a semi-pro game.

Wyatt retired the first 26 batters to face him, then struck out the 27th batter but the ball got through catcher Butch Todd and the man reached first. The right-hander retired the next man to preserve his no-hitter.

His Anderson team beat Grove, Okla., 3-0.

Perkins Becomes Global Commuter

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Have Eddie Perkins. Will travel.

Perkins is the world's junior welterweight champion. It seems they idolize junior welterweights everywhere but in the United States. He can't get a title fight here.

So he and his 75-year-old manager, Johnny Coulon, have become global commuters. And making matches for them is Johnny's tiny, sparkling wife, Marie. She is as Irish as her maiden name, Maloney.

Marie and Johnny, known as the Chicago Spider when he ruled the bantamweights from 1908-1914, have been married 43 years and have operated a tidy gym on the South Side 41 years.

In that time, Mrs. Coulon has earned respect from many former ring greats as being one of the most astute judges of boxing talent in the country.

She has made well over 25,000 matches — amateur and pro. It was Marie they had to deal with when Perkins went to Milan, Italy, in 1962 and defeated Duilio Loi for the 140-pound crown. In a rematch three months later, the title went back to Loi.

Loi retired and Perkins captured the vacated championship in June, 1963, by defeating Roberto Cruz in Manila.

He has defended it successfully twice this year. He and Johnny received $30,000 and expenses for a Jan. 4 defense in Tokyo against Yoshimori Takahashi, and $25,000 and expenses for an April 18 match in Kingston, Jamaica, against Bunny Grant.

"They loved Eddie wherever we went," Coulon said.

Outsiders Bring $80.90 Return in 6-7 Daily Double

MONTICELLO — Regal Rodne and the Statesman, a pair of 7-1 outsiders, captured the two opening races on Wednesday night's card at Monticello Raceway to clinch a $80.90 daily double payoff on the 6-7 number combination.

Howard Beissinger took the Statesman to the top approaching the quarter pole the first time around, built up a three-length lead at the three-quarter pole and coasted home in 2:07.4.

The two-year-old son of Bill Gallon paid dividends of $16.90, $9.40 and $5.10 for winning his first race in four starts.

Good Time Henry, another longshot, nosed out Good Judgment for place, paying $15.00 and $6.50. The latter paid a $5.20 show prize.

The opening dash was a conditioned trot for aged horses which saw Regal Rodney, driven by Frank Popfinger, outduel Marcel Mir and Sonny Frost in the stretch for a 2:07.3 triumph.

The win was worth $16.60, $7.40 and $5.90. Marcel Mir paid $9.80 and $7.20, while Sonny Frost was worth $6.80 to show.

Galomir Notches 2nd Oval Win

MONTICELLO — Galomir, a five-year-old trotter sent off at long odds for the second week in a row, repeated last Thursday's triumph with a 2:07.3 win in Wednesday night's feature $1,500 test at Monticello Raceway.

Driven by Gerald Bostic, Galomir got off at 8-1, and came on strong in the final quarter-mile to win by a length and one-quarter. The prices were $18.10, $8.30 and $5.00 as the son of Galophone made it two in a row at the Mighty M.

Wildwood Chris, another outsider, got home second for $7.40 and $6.40. Mighty M. was the show horse for $3.90.

Pageant Begins Tonight at KHS, Finals Saturday

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the first performance of the Miss New York State Pageant in the High School Auditorium at 8:30 tonight.

All of the 21 contestants arrived on time Wednesday and were welcomed by Mayor John J. Schwenk at the briefing session in the Governor Clinton Hotel. They spent the entire evening at a general rehearsal for the show tonight under the direction of Jack Burton.

Miss New York State 1964, Barbara Ann Gloede, also arrived last night. Miss Gloede won a special $1000 scholarship at the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City last fall, as one of the most talented non-finalists, will perform tonight and each night of the three-day Pageant.

The production committee has spent a great deal of time preparing the auditorium for the 1964 Miss New York State Pageant. There will be a much more elaborate stage setting this year and the Miss New York State chorus is an added feature. A complete show will be seen at high school auditorium tonight and tomorrow night. Preliminary winners will be chosen in the swim suit and talent competitions each night. Only the 10 finalists will perform and be judged in all categories Saturday night. The final decision of the judges will only be made after the finalists give extemporaneous answer to some general questions.

All seats in the high school auditorium are reserved, both on the main floor and balcony. All indications are that all tickets for the final night's performance will be sold before Saturday night. All tickets are being handled in the Pageant headquarters at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Morin charges that Durocher stole the love of his waitress wife, Anna, 51.

Durocher, the first witness in the trial in Addison County Superior Court, denied he stole the love of Mrs. Morin and said that he was in love with the Morins' actress daughter Carolyn.

Durocher said that he had asked Carolyn to marry him several times but she refused.

Weetman Paces British Open at Halfway Point

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Harry Weetman, longest hitter in British golf, mastered the North Sea gales that blew over the Old Course today for a one-under-par 71, and took the halfway lead in the British Open with a 36-hole total of 143.

Earlier, Bruce Devlin, the former plumber's assistant from Australia, matched par for the second straight day.

Goldwater . . .

his role of neutrality in the presidential contest appeared to have been established beyond alteration.

Scranton carried his case to the convention platform committee.

He said he would appeal for a strong civil rights plank and for a declaration against any type of "extremism."

His forum was a 105-member group that contains a majority of Goldwater supporters. And there was no indication that the committee will produce any statement that Goldwater could not accept or any that would open the way for any successful challenge on the convention floor.

No Fight, He says

Tower said he doesn't believe there will be any floor fight because he is confident Goldwater will accept any "reasonable" drafts under the guidance of Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., its chairman.

In the minds of most delegates about the only thing left to be settled by next week's convention is the choice of a vice presidential nominee.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York, chairman of the GOP National Committee, obviously had an okay from the Goldwater forces to try to sew up this job and he was working hard at it.

Lean Toward Miller

One veteran member of the national committee who is backing Goldwater said he and other strategists canvassed the field in recent meetings and had come to the conclusion that as a Roman Catholic, an Easterner and a resident of upstate New York, Miller is the most available candidate.

One highly placed convention official said that when Goldwater asks his advice about the matter—as the Arizona senator can be expected to do—he will urge that second place on the ticket be offered first to Scranton.

Picture on Scranton

Scranton has said he won't take it. But politicians have been known to change their minds under the stress of convention events. This official, who asked that he not be quoted by name, summed up the situation this way:

"There is the chance that Scranton might take it. His term as governor continues for two more years and he has no place to go politically then because he can't succeed himself. If he took the vice presidential nomination, he wouldn't be hurt politically even if Goldwater were defeated. In defeat the top of the ticket gets all of the blame. As the vice presidential nominee, Scranton would be in a strong position to bid for the presidential nomination in 1968."

Colorado Realigns

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Colorado completed reapportionment of its Legislature Wednesday night, allocating seats in both the House of Representatives and Senate on the basis of population.

The action came only 23 days after the Supreme Court of the United States threw out a reapportionment system adopted by the state's voters because Senate seats were distributed on a geographical system.

Republican Gov. John A. Love praised the accomplishment and said Colorado has become the first state in the nation to realign legislative posts in accordance with the Supreme Court decisions of June 15.

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower began his address at the New York World's Fair by saying, "An ex...an old politician must resist the temptation to expound on the virtues of the old Republican party."

And he did resist the temptation Wednesday, except to note that there "may be one or two Democrats here." Mayor Robert F. Wagner, a Democrat, was another of the speakers at International Business Machine Day at the fair.

Eisenhower spoke of the computer, but also confessed that he hadn't "the slightest idea how a computer works."

Collins Approved For Rights Post By Senate Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee approved 16-1 today the nomination of LeRoy Collins as director of the Community Relations Service under the new civil rights law.

But the committee did not obtain a quorum to vote until after an impromptu, friendly wrestling match in the hall outside the committee room between Sens. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex.

Thurmond Dissents

Thurmond, the only senator to oppose Collins, prevented the 17-member committee from obtaining a quorum Wednesday when only eight other members showed up and he refused to enter the meeting room.

Today, Senate leaders had rounded up nine members not counting Thurmond, but the South Carolinian remained in a hall of the Senate Office Building outside the committee room to see if a quorum did materialize.

Yarborough came through the hall on his way to the meeting at a time when only six other members were inside. He grabbed at Thurmond and said, "Come on, Strom, help us make a quorum."

Thurmond pushed him back and, after a short scuffle, the two senators, both 61, agreed to a wrestling match with the understanding Thurmond would enter the meeting room if he lost and that Yarborough would remain outside if he lost.

They removed their coats and engaged in a 10-minute, inconclusive match in the corridor although Thurmond appeared at one point to be pinning his adversary.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., committee chairman, finally came out and ended the affair with a peremptory, "Break it up, boys."

The two senators shook hands and Yarborough commented, "I had a weight advantage but he had the advantage of that guerrilla training."

Thurmond, a major general in the Army Reserves, always has prided himself on his physical fitness.

Alderman James F. Howard (D-10th Ward), council minority leader, also objected to passage of the "fence" resolution concerning the proposed dump. He said that he had also heard "rumors" about relocating the city dump north of Ulster Street Extension in the 4th Ward.

He said he deplored the lack of advance information as to what the mayor had planned, and that he was unable to answer inquiries about the dump situation.

Democratic aldermen opposed the resolution on the basis that council members should be informed specifically where the fence was to be used. Mayor Schwenk, in a letter, said the fence proposal had been approved by the Board of Public Works as of June 10.

Ulster May Hold Up Permits on Kingston Garbage

Unless the City of Kingston takes steps to guarantee proper maintenance of a garbage dump in the Town of Ulster used by a Kingston garbage contractor in the event the collector fails to do so, the Town of Ulster may not issue the necessary permit to use the area.

The garbage dump on the premises of the contractor collector is located in the area of the Sawkill Road and the Route 209 Arterial Route.

Approval Not Asked

At the monthly meeting held Wednesday night the Town of Ulster town board agreed to put the collector on notice that no application under the Town Dumping and Disposal ordinance had been made and a copy of this notice will also be sent to the City of Kingston. This notice also will inform the contractor and city that no permit will be issued to anyone to dump garbage from the City of Kingston in the town unless the City of Kingston is willing to agree to certain guarantees of maintenance by its contractor operator, or in the event he fails to comply that the City of Kingston will properly maintain the dump.

It was disclosed that in the past the contractor have asked approval of the town board for use of lands in the Town of Ulster for dumping garbage but that the present contractor has thus far failed to seek such approval.

Hall Hearing on 30th

The board set Thursday, July 30, for a public hearing on the matter of construction of a town hall building. The hearing will be held at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall at 8 p.m.

Architect Albert Milliken has been engaged to make a study of plans for construction of a new town hall on lands acquired from A. H. Chambers north-east of the Chambers School. The town hall would be one of three buildings in the complex which would include the Chambers School, the proposed town hall building and also the proposed Town of Ulster library. Parking areas would separate the buildings. The estimated cost of the new town hall building is in the neighborhood of $90,000.

Residents of Sunset Park area sent a petition to the board requesting that another access be provided by the builders to the proposed Sunset Gardens which are to be built on the former Ashton property. Since this proposed project is now under consideration by the Town of Ulster Planning Board, the petition was referred to the Planning Board.

Smoke Tied to Disaster

SAARBUECKEN, Germany (AP)—A match struck to light a cigarette most likely caused one of Germany's worst mine disasters, in February 1962, a court was told Wednesday.

A total of 299 miners died in the Luishenthal coal mine following an underground explosion. Thirteen mine officials are on trial on charges of negligent homicide.

Dr. Walter von Koenigsloew, a mining expert, testified that the evidence uncovered in investigations allowed only one conclusion — that methane and firedamp in the mine probably were ignited by a match struck to light a cigarette.

Arguing Before Wedding About Investment Plan

Q) "I have $1,500 which my fiancée suggests that I invest in strong growth stocks such as Litton Industries, Xerox Corp., Control Data. I have never bought stock and wonder if you recommend these stocks for investment." C. B.

A) I dislike very much going counter to your fiancée's suggestion, but I feel that if $1,500 represents your total savings, it belongs mostly where it is.

Xerox is an excellent stock, selling at a very high price. The same can be said of Control Data, one of two companies in the electronic data processing field to make money and raise earnings consistently. Each of these stocks I regard as a good holding if they can be retained over a long period and if price volatility can be ignored.

Litton is a fine stock, more reasonably priced than the others, and you might please your fiancée by putting $500 into this issue.

Q) "I own the following: Jersey Standard, Irving Trust; Public Service Electric and Gas; Sunray DX; Southeastern States

Telephone; Socony; Texas Eastern; General Foods and Procter & Gamble. I have $50,000 in these stocks and have been thinking of selling them and putting the money in tax-exempt bonds. Please suggest some and tell me if I have to report the income to the Internal Revenue Service." G. P.

A) If you will allow me, I'm going to suggest that you retain 20 per cent of your stocks as protection against inflation which tax-exempts will not afford you. The stocks I would hold are the strongest growth issues: Jersey Standard, General Foods, and Procter & Gamble.

You do not have to report income on tax-exempts to the Internal Revenue Service.

I suggest that you put $40,000 into the following issues: State of California 3 1/2's of 2000 selling to yield 3.60; Atlanta, Georgia, Housing Authority 3 1/2's of 1990 to yield 3.30; City of Philadelphia 3 1/2's of 1986 on a 3.35 basis; and Port of New York Authority 3 1/2's of 1995, offering a 3.55 return.

Pageant Begins Tonight at KHS, Finals Saturday

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the first performance of the Miss New York State Pageant in the High School Auditorium at 8:30 tonight.

All of the 21 contestants arrived on time Wednesday and were welcomed by Mayor John J. Schwenk at the briefing session in the Governor Clinton Hotel. They spent the entire evening at a general rehearsal for the show tonight under the direction of Jack Burton.

Miss New York State 1964, Barbara Ann Gloede, also arrived last night. Miss Gloede who won a special $1000 scholarship at the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City last fall, as one of the most talented non-finalists, will perform tonight and each night of the three-day Pageant.

The production committee has spent a great deal of time preparing the auditorium for the 1964 Miss New York State Pageant. There will be a much more elaborate stage setting this year and the Miss New York State chorus is an added feature. A complete show will be seen at high school auditorium tonight and tomorrow night. Preliminary winners will be chosen in the swim suit and talent competitions each night. Only the 10 finalists will perform and be judged in all categories Saturday night. The final decision of the judges will only be made after the finalists give extemporaneous answer to some general questions.

All seats in the high school auditorium are reserved, both on the main floor and balcony. All indications are that all tickets for the final night's performance will be sold before Saturday night. All tickets are being handled in the Pageant headquarters at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP)—Baseball coach Leo Durocher says he loves his 26-year-old former secretary — not her mother.

The 58-year-old Los Angeles Dodgers coach testified Wednesday in a $150,000 alienations of affection suit brought against him by Rene Morin, 51, a Middlebury bricklayer.

Morin charges that Durocher stole the love of his waitress wife, Anna, 51.

Durocher, the first witness in the trial in Addison County Superior Court, denied he stole the love of Mrs. Morin and said that he was in love with the Morins' actress daughter Carolyn.

Durocher said that he had asked Carolyn to marry him several times but she refused.

Alderman James F. Howard (D-10th Ward), council minority leader, also objected to passage of the "fence" resolution concerning the proposed dump. He said that he had also heard "rumors" about relocating the city dump now off Ulster Street Extension in the 4th Ward. He said he deplored the lack of advance information as to what the mayor had planned, and that he was unable to answer inquiries about the dump situation.

Democratic aldermen opposed the resolution on the basis that council members should be informed specifically where the fence was to be used. Mayor Schwenk, in a letter, said the fence proposal had been approved by the Board of Public Works as of June 10.

"The petition as it relates to petitioner's removal is granted and he is hereby reinstated as registrar of the Village of Saugerties."

is $29,000 a year, which permits operation, but does not allow for expansion.

Tax regulations have recently been changed, Sager noted, which would favor increased donation and bequests to libraries. It is hoped that the library will be able to derive increased funds from that source.

Nomination News

The first time in the history of the United States that news of a presidential nomination was sent to Washington, D. C., by telegraph was on May 29, 1844, when James K. Polk was the Democratic nominee.

Ulster May Hold Up Permits on Kingston Garbage

Unless the City of Kingston takes steps to guarantee proper maintenance of a garbage dump in the Town of Ulster used by a Kingston garbage contractor in the event the collector fails to do so, the Town of Ulster may not issue the necessary permit to use the area.

The garbage dump on the premises of the contractor collector is located in the area of the Sawkill Road and the Route 209 Arterial Route.

Approval Not Asked

At the monthly meeting held Wednesday night the Town of Ulster town board agreed to put the collector on notice that no application under the Town Dumping and Disposal ordinance had been made and a copy of this notice will also be sent to the City of Kingston. This notice also will inform the contractor and city that no permit will be issued to anyone to dump garbage from the City of Kingston in the town unless the City of Kingston is willing to agree to certain guarantees of maintenance by its contractor operator, or in the event he fails to comply that the City of Kingston will properly maintain the dump.

It was disclosed that in the past the contractor have asked approval of the town board for use of lands in the Town of Ulster for dumping garbage but that the present contractor has thus far failed to seek such approval.

Hall Hearing on 30th

The board set Thursday, July 30, for a public hearing on the matter of construction of a town hall building. The hearing will be held at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall at 8 p. m.

Architect Albert Milliken has been engaged to make a study of plans for construction of a new town hall on lands acquired from A. H. Chambers north-east of the Chambers School. The town hall would be one of the buildings in the complex which would include the Chambers School, the proposed town hall building and also the proposed Town of Ulster library. Parking areas would separate the buildings. The estimated cost of the new town hall building is in the neighborhood of $90,000.

Residents of Sunset Park area sent a petition to the board requesting that another access be provided by the builders to the proposed Sunset Gardens which are to be built on the former Ashton property. Since this proposed project is now under consideration by the Town of Ulster Planning Board, the petition was referred to the Planning Board.

Winchell Appointed

Abram Winchell, superintendent of the Ulster Water District, who has completed a six months probationary period for Civil Service status, was commended for the diligence of his work and he was appointed to the position under Civil Service status.

Smoke Tied to Disaster

SAARBRUECKEN, Germany (AP)—A match struck to light a cigarette most likely caused one of Germany's worst mine disasters, in February 1962, a court was told Wednesday.

A total of 299 miners died in the Luisenthal coal mine following an underground explosion. Thirteen mine officials are on trial on charges of negligent homicide.

Dr. Walter von Koenigsloew, a mining expert, testified that the evidence uncovered in investigations allowed only one conclusion — that methane and firedamp in the mine probably were ignited by a match struck to light a cigarette.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor and Analyst

Arguing Before Wedding About Investment Plan

Q) "I have $1,500 which my fiancé suggests that I invest in strong growth stocks such as Litton Industries, Xerox Corp. Control Data. I have never bought stock and wonder if you recommend these stocks for investment." C. B.

A) I dislike very much going counter to your fiancé's suggestion, but I feel that if $1,500 represents your total savings, it belongs mostly where it is.

Xerox is an excellent stock, selling at a very high price. The same can be said of Control Data, one of two companies in the electronic data processing field to make money and raise earnings consistently. Each of these stocks I regard as a good holding if they can be retained over a long period and if price volatility can be ignored.

Litton is a fine stock, more reasonably priced than the others, and you might please your fiancé by putting $500 into this issue.

Q) "I own the following: Jersey Standard; Irving Trust; Public Service Electric and Gas; Sunray DX; Southeastern States

Telephone; Socony; Texas Eastern; General Foods and Procter & Gamble. I have $50,000 in these stocks and have been thinking of selling them and putting the money in tax-exempt bonds. Please suggest some and tell me if I have to report the income to the Internal Revenue Service." G.

A) If you will allow me, I'm going to suggest that you retain 20 per cent of your stocks as protection against inflation which tax-exempts will not afford you. The stocks I would hold are the strongest growth issues: Jersey Standard, General Foods, and Procter & Gamble.

You do not have to report income on tax-exempts to the Internal Revenue Service.

I suggest that you put $40,000 into the following issues: State of California 3 1/2's of 2000 selling to yield 3.60; Atlanta, Georgia Housing Authority 3 1/2's of 1960 to yield 3.30; City of Philadelphia 3 1/2's of 1986 on a 3.35 basis; and Port of New York Authority 3 1/2's of 1995, offering a 3.55 return.

would be expected to do in a situation that verged on civil war, how long they would be needed, and how expensive the operation would be.

The contributors were told that they would have to pay the costs of maintaining their troops in Cyprus because no U.N. money was available. Financial help was solicited from the wealthier countries. Contributions for the first three months included about $2 million from the United States and a million dollars from Britain.

To overcome this, the Scandinavian countries and Canada, with an approving nod from the United States, are organizing standby forces earmarked to go at the bidding of the United Nations.

First Salesman—I made some very valuable contacts today.

Second Salesman—I didn't make any sales, either.

You get a lot of firsthand knowledge from a secondhand car.

Happiness—saving what you want, but wanting what you have.

Note received by a congressman from a man in his district: "Please don't improve my lot in life any further. I can't afford it."

A woman who swears that she's never been kissed can't be blamed for swearing.

Birds, when migrating, seem to use the sun or the stars as their compass.

Mrs. Skinner keeps a boardinghouse where it is whispered the guests are by no means too well fed. One of her neighbors attempted to point out to the lady the error of her ways.

Neighbor—I should think, you'd do well to feed your boarders a little better. You can't expect them to say a good word for you when they leave.

Mrs. Skinner—Oh, but they do. Almost everyone of them has a grudge against some friend or other, and he invariably recommends my house to him. I get lots of new boarders that way.

U.S. Bids Soviet Join in Formal Nuclear Freeze

GENEVA (AP) — The United States called on the Soviet Union today to join in a formal treaty to freeze the number of nuclear delivery vehicles and cut off production of nuclear materials for weapons prior to world disarmament.

U.S. Ambassador Clare H. Timberlake told the 17-nation United States believes such an agreement should be signed initially only by the two superpowers, the United States and the Soviet Union. Other countries might join in later.

He said a Soviet-American pact to curb the nuclear armaments race "offers a genuine opportunity to put a halt to the arms race, and the best possible foundation for further progress toward disarmament."

Dutchess Body Is Identified as Student

The body of a boy recovered from Wappingers Creek, Dutchess County, Wednesday, has been identified as that of Lamont Atkins, 16, a Poughkeepsie junior high school student.

The body had apparently been in the water several days. Robert Green, a bartender at the Arlington American Legion Home on Overlook Road, reported the body was found lying face down in shallow water of the creek near White Bridge.

Two police officers pulled the body from the creek and notified Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding.

Catskill Will Ballot On Higher School Fund

A budget of $1,127,440 will be considered Tuesday by voters of Catskill High School at the annual district meeting at Irving School. This represents an increase of $175,806 over this year's figure.

While Catskill will be considering an increased budget Durham Central School residents will be discussing a $200,070 budget, a decrease of $20,380 over the 1963-64 budget.

Injured in Fall

Cheryl Walker, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Walker of Sawkill Road was taken to Kingston Hospital Wednesday afternoon following a fall at the former Johnny Walker paint store on Route 28. She suffered a dislocated knee cap and was treated at the hospital and discharged. Miss Walker was taken to the hospital by Fatum's ambulance.

Greene Included On County List Of Disaster Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Federal help appeared likely today for farmers in nine more counties bled by continued dry weather.

The State Disaster Committee Wednesday asked Gov. Rockefeller to recommend federal aid for the following counties: Chemung, Chenango, Columbia, Fulton, Greene, Montgomery, Otsego, Schoharie and Tioga.

The prospect of government help was the only solace for farmers as the Weather Bureau predicted more generally dry weather for the next five days. Rainfall in the form of scattered showers — is expected to average about a half inch during the period. Saturday and Sunday will be much cooler, the Weather Bureau said.

Last week, Rockefeller declared Albany, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady and Washington counties as drought-disaster areas.

Federal approval would give the farmers permission to graze cattle and harvest from land now in the federal soil bank, obtain low-interest loans and buy surplus grain at reduced prices.

The State Disaster Committee Wednesday deferred action on requests from Clinton and Delaware counties until additional information on the drought situation in the two counties could be obtained, a spokesman said.

Among the main crops that have suffered so far are hay for dairy cattle, corn, oats and alfalfa. The drought also is threatening berries and tomatoes.

Upstate Paper Is Sold to Waterbury

WELLSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Sale of the Wellsville Daily Reporter to John J. Waterbury was announced Thursday by E. Willard Barnes, president and publisher of the 84-year-old evening newspaper.

The Reporter, which has a circulation of about 4,600, was founded in 1880 by Barnes' grandfather, Enos W. Barnes, and has been in the family ever since.

Waterbury has been general manager of The Reporter for the last year. He formerly was publisher of The Canandaigua Messenger and general manager of The Adirondack Daily Enterprise, Saranac Lake, and The Lake Placid (weekly) News.

Barnes will continue as a director of the Reporter corporation. The sale price was not disclosed.

Wallkill Youths Are Charged in Theft of Vehicle

Two youths were in custody today facing charges involving the alleged theft of an automobile from Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, on Tuesday.

State Police Senior BCI Investigator Edward Shannon of the Kingston sub-station, who conducted the investigation with BCI Investigators Roger Gardner and L. M. Luongo, said Ian Van Der Essen, 21, of Wallkill, was taken into custody last night on a charge of concealing stolen property—a 1958 automobile.

Investigator Shannon said Van Der Essen is accused of assisting another youth hide the stolen vehicle in woods back of a farm at Wallkill.

Later, Dominick Crudele, 23, of R.D., Wallkill, was arrested by the troopers on a charge of grand larceny involving the theft of the car.

Van Der Essen was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, Town of Kingston. The youth waived preliminary examination and was ordered held for grand jury action, Shannon said.

Rhodes Clears Way For Ohio Delegates To Make Own Choice

Mum on Preference
Rhodes declined, however, to comment when asked who his own preference would be for the nomination.

Shortly before his scheduled departure for San Francisco, Rhodes issued a statement expressing his views.

"During the caucus next Monday morning, those delegates who may wish to support their choice will be welcomed to express their beliefs and persuade their colleagues," he said.

"I am confident that every delegate will exercise individually that fine judgement which is characteristic of this splendid group of public officials and private citizens."

Rhodes expressed appreciation for the recent caucus stand of delegates to cast their first convention vote for him as favorite son.

"I take it as an evidence of their confidence and as an endorsement of my administration as governor of Ohio," he said.

Without elaborating, Rhodes' statement indicated to associates that he was willing to forego the honor of a complimentary vote for the presidential nomination.

Followers of Sen. Barry Goldwater have said all along that more than half the votes in Ohio's delegation would go for him on the second ballot. They have expressed the hope of release from the recent caucus decision to cast a complimentary first vote for Rhodes, but nevertheless agreed to stand by that decision at the convention.

Others in the Ohio delegation showed a leaning toward Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, Goldwater's only apparent rival for the nomination.

The most recent Associated Press poll of the Ohio delegation indicated 15 sure votes for Goldwater and 10 for Scranton with the rest uncommitted.

The Ohio votes added to others determined in The Associated Press nationwide poll boosted Goldwater to 725 votes—70 more than needed for the nomination if they all stay with him—and Scranton to 161.

U.S. Bids Soviet Join in Formal Nuclear Freeze

GENEVA (AP) — The United States called on the Soviet Union today to join in a formal treaty to freeze the number of nuclear delivery vehicles and cut off production of nuclear materials for weapons prior to world disarmament.

U.S. Ambassador Clare II. Timberlake told the 17-nation United States believes such an agreement should be signed initially only by the two superpowers, the United States and the Soviet Union. Other countries might join in later.

He said a Soviet-American pact to curb the nuclear arms race "offers a genuine opportunity to put a halt to the arms race, and the best possible foundation for further progress toward disarmament."

Dutchess Body Is Identified as Student

The body of a boy recovered from Wappingers Creek, Dutchess County, Wednesday, has been identified as that of Lamont Atkins, 16, a Poughkeepsie junior high school student.

The body had apparently been in the water several days. Robert Green, a bartender at the Arlington American Legion Home on Overlook Road, reported the body was found lying face down in shallow water of the creek near White Bridge.

Two police officers pulled the body from the creek and notified Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding.

Greene Included On County List Of Disaster Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Federal help appeared likely today for farmers in nine more counties bled by continued dry weather.

The State Disaster Committee Wednesday asked Gov. Rockefeller to recommend federal aid for the following counties: Chemung, Chenango, Columbia, Fulton, Greene, Montgomery, Otsego, Schoharie and Tioga.

The prospect of government help was the only solace for farmers as the Weather Bureau predicted more generally dry weather for the next five days. Rainfall in the form of scattered showers — is expected to average about a half inch during the period. Saturday and Sunday will be much cooler, the Weather Bureau said.

Last week, Rockefeller declared Albany, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady and Washington counties as drought-disaster areas.

Federal approval would give the farmers permission to graze cattle and harvest from land now in the federal soil bank, obtain low-interest loans and buy surplus grain at reduced prices.

The State Disaster Committee Wednesday deferred action on requests from Clinton and Delaware counties until additional information on the drought situation in the two counties could be obtained, a spokesman said.

Among the main crops that have suffered so far are hay for dairy cattle, corn, oats and alfalfa. The drought also is threatening berries and tomatoes.

Rhodes Clears Way For Ohio Delegates To Make Own Choice

Mum on Preference

Rhodes declined, however, to comment when asked who his own preference would be for the nomination.

Shortly before his scheduled departure for San Francisco, Rhodes issued a statement expressing his views.

"During the caucus next Monday morning, those delegates who may wish to support their choice will be welcomed to express their beliefs and persuade their colleagues," he said. "I am confident that every delegate will exercise individually that fine judgement which is characteristic of this splendid group of public officials and private citizens."

Rhodes expressed appreciation for the recent caucus stand of delegates to cast their first convention vote for him as favorite son.

"I take it as an evidence of their confidence and as an endorsement of my administration as governor of Ohio," he said.

Without elaborating, Rhodes' statement indicated to associates that he was willing to forego the honor of a complimentary vote for the presidential nomination.

Followers of Sen. Barry Goldwater have said all along that more than half the votes in Ohio's delegation would go for him on the second ballot. They have expressed the hope of release from the recent caucus decision to cast a complimentary first vote for Rhodes, but nevertheless agreed to stand by that decision at the convention.

Others in the Ohio delegation showed a leaning toward Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, Goldwater's only apparent rival for the nomination. The most recent Associated Press poll of the Ohio delegation indicated 15 sure votes for Goldwater and 10 for Scranton with the rest uncommitted.

The Ohio votes added to others determined in The Associated Press nationwide poll boosted Goldwater to 725 votes — 70 more than needed for the nomination if they all stay with him — and Scranton to 161.
